Natural Look Smart in 'Hairdos'

"NATURALNESS is the keynote today for smart coiffures." The authority for this statement is Mme. Yvonne of the Antoine hair styling salon in New York.

She will be in Wasson's beauty salon through next Wednesday where she will be available for consultations on new "hairdos."

"We are now getting away from the exotic and into simplicity in hair styles," Mme. Yvonne points out. "To accent this trend toward naturalness, coiffure and millinery should be in perfect harmony."

Having beautiful hair, Yvonne says, is more than a matter of regular visits to the beauty shop. She recommends that women take time to give their hair some home care, and stresses the importance of daily brushing as the quickest route to natural hair beauty.

BORN IN Rouen, France, the stylist has been in America 10 years. She spends three months of each year on the West coast where she sketches hair styles for 35 film stars.

Two more months find her at work in New York and during the remainder of the year she makes cross-country tours visiting beauty salons. Next Thursday she will be in St. Louis to assist in opening a new salon there.

MME. YVONNE can take some of the credit for the trig appearance of the WACs serving overseas. It was she who instructed the first contingent of 25,000 WACs, about to leave the country, on proper care for their hair while they were overseas.

Taking them by twos, she taught them to assist one another with hair grooming and gave them pointers on rolling and brushing hair and the importance of thorough cleansing (even though they might be hampered by inconveniences in foreign lands).

Gallery Talk To Be Given At Museum

Clifton Wheeler, Indiana artist, will give the gallery talk at 4 p. m. Sunday in the John Herron art museum. He will speak on "The Life and Work of Thomas Eakins."

His topic will be "Romantic Painting in America." Mr. Richardson's wife is the former Constance Coleman, daughter of Mrs. Christopher B. Coleman of Indianapolis and the late Dr. Coleman.

Donald M. Mattison, Herron Art school director, has announced the honor roll of students in the first three classes. The fourth and fifth-year students will receive no marks until the end of the term.

The list includes John Bernhardt, Joanne Caldwell, Lenore Leggett, Albert Miller, Don Peters, Elizabeth Ramsey, Martha Ratcliffe, Norma Jean Scott, John Utley and Orfeo Vian.
