

BOND BUYS SEAT TO 'HAREM' FILM

Ex-Local Girl in Abbott, Costello Movie Coming To Loew's.

Hoosiers will have a special reason to attend the war bond premiere of the new Abbott and Costello picture, "Lost in a Harem," in Loew's theater Dec. 13.

The attraction will be Miss Marilyn Maxwell, co-star in the comedy and a former Indianapolis resident.

Born Marvel Maxwell, she lived in Ft. Wayne with her mother and brother until she came to Indianapolis. She sang with Amos Otis and his orchestra at the Columbia club while attending Shortridge high school in 1939 and also sang at Lake Manitowish.

Miss Maxwell later sang with Buddy Rogers' orchestra and Mary Pickford obtained a screen test for her. She will appear in her first major screen role in "Lost in a Harem."

Admission by Bond

Admission to the premiere, which is being brought to Indianapolis for a one-night stand, will be the purchase of a war bond. Seats, scaled to assure a $415,000 minimum, will range from $25 to $500 seats in the balcony to the $100 and $500 seats on the first floor and the $1000 loges.

Bonds entitling persons to admission to the premiere went on sale today at war bond booths in Indianapolis theaters, downtown banks and in the Claypool hotel lobby.

In the first tabulation of Marion county war bond sales, Indianapolis residents have invested $19,438,131 during the first two weeks of the sixth war loan campaign. Sales must average more than $3,400,000 a day to assure reaching the $67,250,000 county quota, William H. Trimble, county chairman of the war finance committee, said.

VETERANS' CARE MAY BE REVISED

U. S. Congressman Seeks Option of Public or U. S. Hospitals.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (U. P.).—Proposals to revise the veterans' hospitalization program may be brought before congress soon as a result of charges that some government hospitals have a tendency to treat patients as "chattels."

The charges were made by Rep. Earl Wilson (R. Ind.) after reading a letter sent by a veterans' hospital to the wife of a "seriously ill" patient asking her what burial plans she wished to make.

Wilson told reporters he had taken up the matter with Chairman John E. Rankin (D. Miss.) of the house committee on world war veterans' legislation, and that as a result the hospitalization program may be amended to permit a veteran to enter either a government or public hospital.

Equal Allowance Seen

If the proposal is approved by congress, the government probably would allow the patient the same amount for treatment in his local hospital as it would have cost the government in one of the veterans' hospitals.

"There is too much of a tendency now to treat patients as chattels and to take a callous view of them," Wilson said.

He said the letter he referred to was written by an officer of the Veterans' hospital at Outwood, Ky., to Mrs. Fanny Vannoy, Columbus, Ind., about burial arrangements in event of her husband's death.

"Apparently their primary interest is not so much the veteran himself or his wife, but what to do with the body even before the patient is dead," Wilson said.

BOY FATALLY BURNED AT STAKE BY CHUMS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 4 (U. P.).—An old-fashioned game of "Cowboy and Indians" among a group of neighborhood kids ended in grim tragedy last night when nine-year-old Ernest Bell was burned to death "at the stake like in the old frontier days."

From meager details obtained from the youth in the three hours before he died, police reconstructed the fatal game like this:

Waytus Nixon, 10, Don Bass, 7, and the Bell boy were whooping it up in a game of "Cowboy and Indians" when one of the lads, no one remembers which one, decided that "Cowboy" Ernie should be captured by the "Indians" and tied to a tree to be "burned."

One of the kids struck a match, and somehow Ernie's clothing caught fire—flames flashing all about him. A passerby, Jack King, 16, hopped off his bike, cut Ernie loose and beat out the blaze with his hands.

ROOSEVELT WEDDING—

President's Son Marries Actress In Snow Storm

GRAND CANYON NATIONAL PARK, Ariz., Dec. 4 (U. P.).—Col. Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President, was honeymooning here today with his third bride, blond movie actress Faye Emerson.

They were married yesterday, climaxing a romance that started at a Hollywood party 13 months ago.

The couple repeated their marriage vows before the Rev. Roger W. Sawyer, Williams, Ariz., in the glass-enclosed porch of the observation building at snow-swept Yavapai point on the rim of the Grand Canyon.

COL. ROOSEVELT was all smiles as he went through the double-ring, Methodist ceremony, but was so hoarse from an attack of laryngitis that his husky "I do" was barely audible to the small group of guests.

Outside the observation platform, a blinding snowstorm blotted out the view of the canyon and kept newspapermen from attending the ceremonies.

"Well, at least we had a white wedding," the bridegroom commented.

THE BRIDE added that it was a good thing there was something white about it, because this was her second marriage and she wasn't permitted to wear it herself.

Miss Emerson, 27, previously was married to Wallace Crawford Jr. and has a 4-year-old son.

After a week's stay here, 34-year-old Col. Roosevelt hopes to take his bride to the White House to meet her famous in-laws before he returns to Europe to join his A. A. F. photographic unit.

ONLY A handful of close friends witnessed the ceremony. Only member of the family to attend the wedding was 10-year-old Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, the bridegroom's daughter, who was maid of honor.

Mrs. Zelda Livengood, Hollywood, friend of the bride and granddaughter of the late operatic star, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, was matron of honor. Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental & Western Airlines, served as best man.

YANK FINDS NAZIS SHARING HIS POST

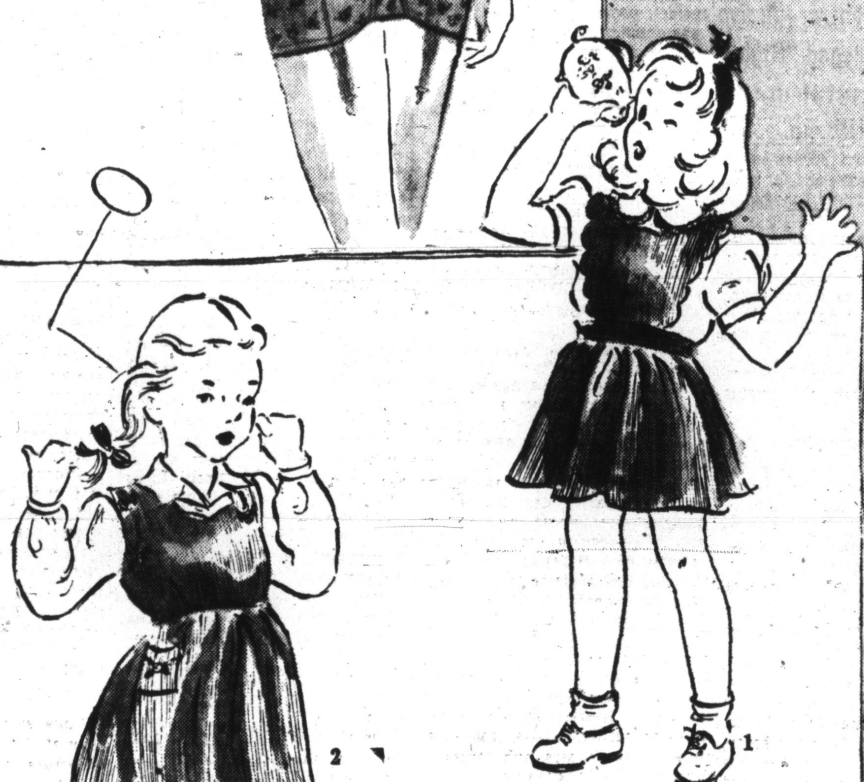

WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY, France, Dec. 4 (U. P.).—Sgt. Robert Weister, Pittsburgh, found a room with a northern view in an Alsatian farmhouse that was just what he wanted as a observation post for directing mortar fire.

The mission complete, he decided to explore the farmhouse. Across the corridor were two Germans, who had decided that a room with a southern view was just what they wanted for directing the fire of their 88's at Weister's mortars. The Germans were captured.
