SPEEDWAY FUND GROUP TO MEET

Financiers to Confer With Special Committee of Forty and Eight.

A meeting of executives from a Chicago financial concern with members of the Forty and Eight Speedway purchase committee will be held here in the next few days.

Norman H. Coulton, head of the committee of Indianapolis-Volture No. 145, said today that financial details of the proposed purchase will be completed at that time.

Efforts of the group to obtain permission of the securities exchange commission for the contemplated purchase have been fraught with delay.

Although the volture is incorporated under Indiana law as a non-profit organization and the internal revenue bureau recognizes the American Legion and its kindred organizations as non-profit charitable bodies, the SEC has demanded additional proof, Mr. Coulton declared.

Purchase Option Extended. It has been submitted to them, he added, and their decision has been awaited several weeks. Eventual approval is expected.

The extended purchase option from Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, which expired Dec. 15, has been renewed indefinitely, through efforts of Al Rickenbacker, brother of the famous flier and aviation company executive.

The bond issue, it was learned, will approximate $1,000,000. Valuation of the Speedway has been placed at slightly more than $1,500,000.

BUDGET ALTERS MINOR WORKERS

Discontent Voiced at Plan To Shift Employees To Hourly Rate.

With advent of the 1945 city budget, it appeared today that some city departments might be faced with wholesale discontent among minor workers.

Although Fred Telford, former city job surveyor, completed his work and left the city several weeks ago, his accepted recommendation that hourly workers be placed on a monthly salary basis remained as a source of dissatisfaction.

A number of park department employees, among others, were absent today as the cold apparently served to accentuate their attitude toward what they claim is not a "square deal."

Say Incomes Reduced

Spokesmen for several of the workers say the budget has reduced their annual income.

The budget, for example, provides that many 90 cent park board workmen will receive a monthly salary of $170.

However, Paul Brown, park department superintendent, emphasized that sick benefits and a two-week vacation are included in the new salary arrangement. Heretofore, he pointed out, workers were paid only for actual time worked.

Few Get Year's Employment

Furthermore, few workers were able to get 52 weeks of employment a year, due to sickness and bad working conditions, Mr. Brown said.

A work-week of 45 hours at 90 cents under the plan last year would bring an annual income of $2106, whereas the new budget provides for $2040 annually.

However, it was pointed out, the old plan did not guarantee 52 weeks employment and actually the average workman did not earn as much as it is claimed he will under the 1945 plan.

May Visit Mayor

Meanwhile, there were hints that a group of workers would compose a delegation to visit Mayor Tyndall with their complaint.

Any action to revise the budget would have to come from the city council.

Privately, several councilmen warned last fall when the budget was being prepared that Mr. Telford's recommendations would lead to worker discontent.

YOUR G. I. RIGHTS—

National Service Insurance Receipted by Certificates

By ANN STEVICK

NEA Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A letter from a serviceman on furlough poses this question:

Q. These National Service Life Insurance policies are as hard to pin down as the Atlantic Charter.

I presume I own one because money has been deducted from my check for it for the last six months, but I've never seen it. What am I supposed to have to show that I'm a policy owner?

A. A one-page buff-colored certificate was mailed to you or if you so ordered to your beneficiary within four months after your application went to Veterans' Administration.

This states out your claim on a GI insurance policy, and it's the only evidence you'll get for the duration. Ante-bellum unbridled insurance policies would have used much precious war-time paper, so Veterans' Administration cut them down to a one-page certificate.

This certificate is a vital record. It may have strayed in the mail, or you may have tossed it aside because you didn't recognize it as an important document.

Better write to Director of Insurance, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C. for a letter establishing your policy ownership.

In rare cases a few months delay might mean that your application had failed to get approved and was on its way back. The fact that insurance allotments have been taken out of your check doesn't make you a policy-holder. The deductions begin as soon as application goes in, then if the policy is not approved you will get a refund.

WATCH YOUR STEP. NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (U. P.)—Fireman Jeremiah McGillicuddy will be taking the stairs down the next time he hears the firehouse alarm. Early today he slid down the shiny brass pole and fractured his left leg. He's 56.
