YOUR G. I. RIGHTS—

Rules to Guide Veterans On Loans Are Set Forth

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Loans guaranteed by the government under the G. I. bill of rights continue to be the subject in which most veterans are interested. These are typical questions:

Q—To get a loan guaranteed by the government do I have to tell what I'm going to do with the money?

A—Yes. Funds secured from a loan guaranteed by the veterans' administration may be used only to purchase, build, repair, alter or improve a home to be occupied by the veteran, a farm or farm equipment to be operated by the veteran, or to purchase a business, property or equipment to be used by the veteran for the purpose of earning a livelihood.

Q—How much interest do I have to pay on guaranteed loans and how long do I get to pay?

A—The interest charged on these loans may not be at a rate higher than 4 per cent a year, and the money must be repaid in a maximum of 20 years. Most of the loans, however, particularly those for business purposes, will be for a much shorter time than the maximum. This is because a guaranty will not be given to extend the useful life of the security.

Q—How much can I borrow?

A—The government may guarantee any part of an approved loan up to 50 per cent of the amount borrowed, but the total guaranty may not be for more than $2000. This guaranty may be given on several loans made to the same veteran so long as the guarantee of all amounts guaranteed does not exceed the $2000 limit.

Don't Blame Poor Groundhog If His Weather Guess Is Sour

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—If your local groundhog fails to see his shadow on Feb. 2, and winter nevertheless lasts until about May Day, don't blame the poor groundhog. He never asked for that job, anyway; he was forced to go to bat for the hedgehog, the animal usually entrusted with folklore weather forecasts in Europe, when early colonists brought their traditions with them to this country but found no hedgehogs.

The groundhog doesn't look much like a hedgehog, and isn't at all closely related to him, but he was the best settlers could do, so willy-nilly he was stuck with the job.

The joke is on us humans rather than on the groundhog, if the Feb. 2 weather-guess turns out wrong, for whether the sun shines or not, the groundhog normally never sees his shadow that early in the year.

Over most of his range, except possibly in the extreme southern part of it, the groundhog continues his winter sleep unbroken until the very end of the period for which he is supposed to be prophesying. He comes out of his burrow St. Patrick's day in the middle part of the country, and even later than that farther north. In this he is quite unlike the European hedgehog, which is nowhere near as sound a sleeper, and is quite likely to come out of hibernation for short breathers any sunny day in winter.

Zoologically, the groundhog is the same animal as the woodchuck, or more elegantly, the marmot. The latter is the name adopted by scientists and latinized into his former title, Marmota monax.

Science asserts: faces may be more youthful again

What would you give for a younger, more attractive skin of face and throat? Well, science asserts that, for most women, this is possible with ENDOCREME. This is because scientific ENDOCREME acts to improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial "look".... improve it to a degree hitherto thought impossible. ENDOCREME, with its 7-year record of success, contains that great discovery, ACTIVOL™. This ACTIVOL™ is the laboratory counterpart to Mother Nature's own skin-vitalizing substance. This natural substance grows less with age and ENDOCREME, absorbed under the skin's surface to rebuild cells and tissue, compensates for this loss. Thus, coarse, dry, seamy, ageing skins tend to become fresher, firmer, smoother, lovelier, more youthful again. How better can you spend your cosmetic dollars? Try ENDOCREME. Many report big improvement in only 30 days.
