

WASHINGTON Calling

A Weekly Sizeup by the Washington Staff of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers

(Continued From Page One)

On the other hand, they question the theory that shutting off the industrial area of Silesia from the Germans, and prospective occupation of the Ruhr by our forces, will end the war.

Their answer: For years the Germans have had the armament factories of all central Europe and part of Italy making munitions, and it's probable they have two years' stock on hand.

The crucial question is whether they have enough oil to go with these stocks, and recent strategic bombing seems to have concentrated on oil targets.

Another "if" has to do with food. German territory now held by Russians normally produced about 30 per cent of such staples as rye, sugar beets, potatoes, for feeding rest of Germany.

CONGRESSMEN with navy sources think the Ryukyu Islands are for our present purposes, the most valuable in the Pacific.

They think with those strategic points in our possession we could strangle the Japs, and apply our air power continuously and effectively against the Nips' home islands, as well as against their installations on the China coast.

Role for War-Wearies Planes

AIR FORCES are using some war-wearies planes as flying bombs, it can now be revealed.

Some worn out planes, fit only for junk are loaded with 20,000 pounds of TNT. A pilot takes the plane off the airport, flies it to the desired altitude, then baits out.

The plane is then operated by an automatic pilot. It flies to the target—say Berlin—coasts in.

Of course such planes cannot be guided so accurately that they will hit a pinpoint target, but they will hit a specified city, or a specified section of that city.

AIRBORNE TROOPS: These operations are not to be thought as suicide missions. In Holland, where one of our largest airborne operations took place, the losses in men were less than 3 per cent.

The gliders take a beating. In the Holland thrust, we recovered in first-class shape only 500 out of 1,800. Gliders cost $13,000 apiece, which illustrates how costly war can be.

There's no designed that wings can be thrown off in landings, say by trees, without endangering the troops.

Gliders are considered expendable materiel, much more so than other aircraft. In fact they might be called "one-mission" aircraft; those which are recovered are so much "graveyard."

EFFICIENT FIGHTERS: We have cut our bomber losses more than 80 per cent by accompanying strike forces with large groups of long-range fighters.

Bomber commands now order "super-escorts." These include free fighters, who not only repel enemy fighters, but chase them.

Longest chase recorded: From border of Germany, across that country, across Poland, into territory occupied by Russians.

Chase ended when enemy crashed. American fighter had to land quickly, too-out of gas.

Airmen laughingly inquire, "Where was that Nazi going—Japan?"

OVER BOMBING: Developed because average good flying weather over Europe is only five days a month this time of year—is now 75 per cent as effective as visual bombing, where the ground can be seen.

Rayburn liked? COLLEAGUES THINK Speaker Sam Rayburn is plenty tired of having southern Democrats team up with Republicans to run his house of representatives—as they did the opening day of the session when they re-created the Dies committee as a permanent agency of the house.

They see in this irritation the reason for the speaker's recent successful efforts to assume the leadership inherent in his job.

He put over the work-or-else bill without amendment and he got the George bill out of banking and currency committee without amendment, but the big test will come when that bill reaches the floor next week.

Sam will be lucky if he can defeat Republican amendments to the measure and a motion to recommit.

Biggest question in next week's fight is whether anti-Wallace forces (who think his nomination will be rejected if George bill is beaten) can get 35 or 40 Democratic votes.

But Republican leader Martin happened. That is why we brought him with us as we came away with his comrades.

Upon reaching the open sea, we committed Bill's body to it.

"God is our refuge . . . even unto death," the young chaplain reads from Romans VIII, and then John XIV.

At a signal from him, the six pallbearers tilt the board and Bill's body slides overboard. We bow our heads as the chaplain prays.

Then the guard of honor fires thrice, the bugler sounds taps and the band slowly plays, "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

The guard snaps rifles to "present arms" and the faces of Bill's friends are set visibly now, fighting lest they betray emotion.

But the gray skies are not so subtle. They are openly shaken and weeping.

Yes, even the heavens seem to be miserable over Bill's rotten luck.

It is over now and the men are falling out. Back on the mainland is the widow—Phyllis Lundell Eadie, whom he met in Alaska and their two daughters, Susan, 3, and Diane, not yet a year old.

The band strikes up a brisk march, "Gloria." It is not funeral music any longer. It's the proper military recessional—gay, and inspiring, like the plane Bill flew, like Bill himself.

And it warms the spirit—as does the memory of him, which we cherish as we go onward into battle.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

PLAN TO RECALL EXPERT ON MEAT

Inspector Says Substandard Grade Was Furnished To Sunnyside.

Immediately after resumption this afternoon of the trial of a former Indianapolis meat market operator on charges he supplied the Marion County tuberculosis hospital with meat inferior to those called for in the contract with the county, the defense is expected to rest its case.

John Caylor, defense attorney, following a three-hour session last night indicated that he would not put the defendant, Louis J. Seyffert, on the stand.

Deputy Prosecutor Frank X. Haupt said he planned to recall George H. Wahl, marketing specialist for the United States department of agriculture, during rebuttal.

Mr. Wahl, the principal state witness, yesterday testified that he inspected the meat delivered to the hospital on five days in January, 1943, and found it to be inferior to the quality specified in the contract.

Seyffert, former operator of Kuhn's market, is charged in a grand jury indictment with filing false claims against the county in that the contract let him by the county commissioners on Dec. 28, 1942, for the month of January, 1943, allegedly called for the delivery to the hospital of U. S. good or grade 2 top or medium hind quarter fresh chilled steer, heifer and cow beef at 27 cents per pound.

If convicted, Seyffert faces a sentence of from 2 to 14 years in state prison and a fine of from $10 to $1000 on each of two counts in the indictment.

C and D Grades

The inspector said the meat called for by the contract was grade 2 or A grade while the meat he inspected at the hospital was grade 3 and 4 or C and D grades. He said the meat was marked thusly with the federal meat grading stamp. He said he made his inspection at the request of Addison J. Parry, president of the county council.

Efforts of the state to place the certified copies of the inspection in evidence were unsuccessful. Judge William D. Bain refused to admit the meat grade certificates on the grounds that the record was made in the absence of the defendant and that the name was unrecognizable inasmuch as the inspector was available in court for examination.

Third Court Action

The current trial is the third court action started after The Times exposed a food scandal at the sanatorium two years ago.

Guernsey Farms, Inc., was fined $500 and costs in each of two counts growing out of allegations the firm sold "rotten" milk to the hospital. Appeals from these convictions are now pending in state supreme court.

In another action, charges against Harold E. Vogel, of Vogel's Market, were dropped when a motion to quash was introduced in court. Vogel had been charged with selling eggs to the hospital that were below the grade A standard set by the state egg board in variance with the firm's contract with the county commissioners.

Legislature Acts

Since The Times exposed, the 1943 legislature passed an act putting the purchasing of supplies for the hospital in the hands of a purchasing agent.

During last night's session, which Judge Bain held in effort to clear the court's crowded calendar, the defense moved for a verdict of not guilty because the grand jury indictment alleged the contract had been signed on Dec. 16, 1942, whereas evidence introduced by the state during yesterday morning proved the contract had been signed Dec. 28, 1942.

Judge Bain denied the motion.

Witnesses for Defense

The defense witnesses yesterday included Charles Wetzel, 325 E. 82d st., a meat inspector of the city board of health; William Jaus, 1823 Maynard st., a beef inspector for Armour & Co.; Wayne McMahon, 3716 College ave., a beef salesman for Kingan & Co., and County Commissioner William Bosson Jr.

Mr. Jaus testified that the contract's specifications did not call for a definite type of grading, holding that "they actually are butcher terms of the old school."

He admitted, however, under cross-examination that the grades of meat are standard "whether graded for a country store or the city market."

Hospital Head on Stand

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Witnesses for the state included besides Mr. Wahl, Dr. Frank L. Jennings, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Audrey C. Bolen, hospital bookkeeper; County Auditor Ralph E. Moore; Roscoe Mason, hospital storekeeper; Merrice Horton, 517 N. Emerson ave., a former bookkeeper for the Kuhn market; Sallie Ratus, chief deputy prosecutor; and Charles Russell, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

FDR Will Skip Visit to Paris

(Continued From Page One)

after the three-power conference. In view of the fact that Gen. DeGaulle was not invited, however, Americans feel that the reception of the President's visit in official quarters would be less cordial than if it were postponed for a few months.

His reception by the public certainly would be enthusiastic at any time.

Informal soundings were taken last month to see if the French wished DeGaulle to be invited to the Big Three meeting after Churchill, Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin had concluded their main discussions. The idea was not favorably received.

Since the French thus felt that DeGaulle either should be invited as a full-fledged member of the conference or not at all, the invitation was not issued.

Such French views are regarded in some British and American quarters as short-sighted but they show that DeGaulle is in close touch with French public opinion.

His constant stress on the restoration of France as a great power undoubtedly will prove one of the most important factors in France's recovery.

It is a factor which has been absent in Belgium and "provides one of the main reasons why the Belgians have not recovered their national self-respect."

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

Copyright, 1945, by The Indianapolis Times and The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

BLAZE A' RATING LAID TO COLONEL

Air Transport Officer in Charge of Priorities Is Named in Inquiry.