

Police Seek Dapper 'Doctor' When Two Wives Complain

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (U. P.).—Police issued a warrant yesterday charging a 42-year-old dapper, self-styled physician with wooing and winning two wives without the benefit of divorce and then eloping with their hard earned savings.

The warrant was issued at the request of both wives, who said they first met when they were engaged to the stocky, balding alleged Lothario.

They charged that Henry Charles Wesley Thomas not only won their affections but their bank accounts too. He "borrowed" a total of $2400 of their hard-earned money and disappeared 10 days ago. They said.

Police said wife No. 1 was Mrs. Orinda Quigley, 38, twice-widowed mother of two children, of Osborn, O. They identified wife No. 2 as Miss Ethel Sakalos, 33, a Chicago hotel accountant.

Red-haired and personable, Mrs. Quigley said she married Thomas in Xenia, O., July 3. Their romance had blossomed through a Grayslake, Ill., lonely hearts correspondence club, she said. He usually addressed her as "Kitten."

Miss Sakalos said she married Thomas on July 24 at Waukegan, Ill. He called her "Mother" during their courtship, she said.

The brides without honeymoons said Thomas was suave, gay and well-dressed. He not only was a gentleman, they agreed, but appeared to be a respectable physician.

The women met on June 26 when Mrs. Quigley came to Chicago to visit her fiancé. Over a cocktail he introduced them, after whispering to each:

"You understand, dear. A doctor has many professional acquaintances he must entertain. It is nothing else."

Police said he married Mrs. Quigley under the name "C. Wesley

Today Brings Worst Ordeal For Hay Fever Sufferers

Today is "V-Hay" day.

It is the day when the ragweed pollen in the air reaches its peak in density and the hay fever sufferer reaches a low in breathing ability.

From now on until the first good frost, allergy victims will suffer in an ever-decreasing degree.

In Indianapolis the season for sniffers began around Aug. 15 and will continue this year for another month. But today is supposed to be the worst.

Dr. Donald J. White, associate professor of bacteriology at the Indiana university medical center, gave some pointers to help the pollen victims through the last of the season.

"Sleep with the doors and windows of your house closed," he said. "It may become a little warm, but it's better to be able to breathe than to be cool."

The allergy specialist said best relief is gained when the victim is given weekly shots of ragweed pollen extract. This should be started several weeks before the season starts, but shots started during the season will help in cases which are not too severe.

Masks and nasal plugs have proved too uncomfortable to be practical, he explained.

Air conditioning in downtown stores and theaters has been a boon to persons allergic to pollen. So when the building boom gets under way, the conditioning systems in homes may keep hay fever victims happy, he said.

But don't hold your breath.

THIS BRIDE TO STAND BY NO. 2

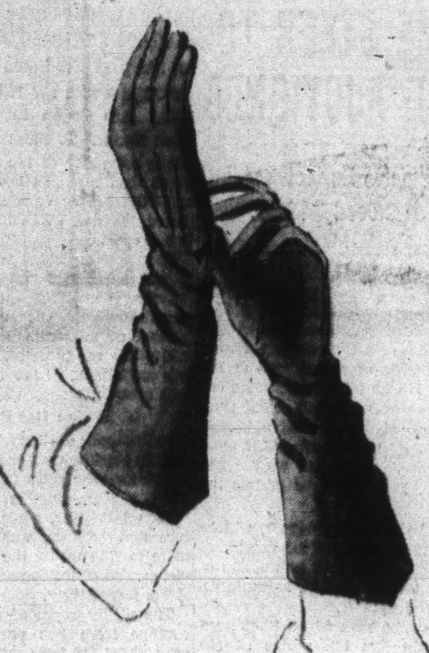

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 5 (U. P.).—Blonde Mrs. Hoyte H. Keiser, 29, Williamsport, who married an army private five weeks ago in the belief her first soldier-husband was killed over China, heard yesterday from neighbors that he is still alive—but swore her devotion to husband No. 2.

When informed that her first husband, Staff Sgt. Earl L. Smith, Montgomery, Pa., had spoken on a radio broadcast from China, the attractive woman was startled, but said simply:

"I intend to stand by my second husband unless it means the loss of my son."

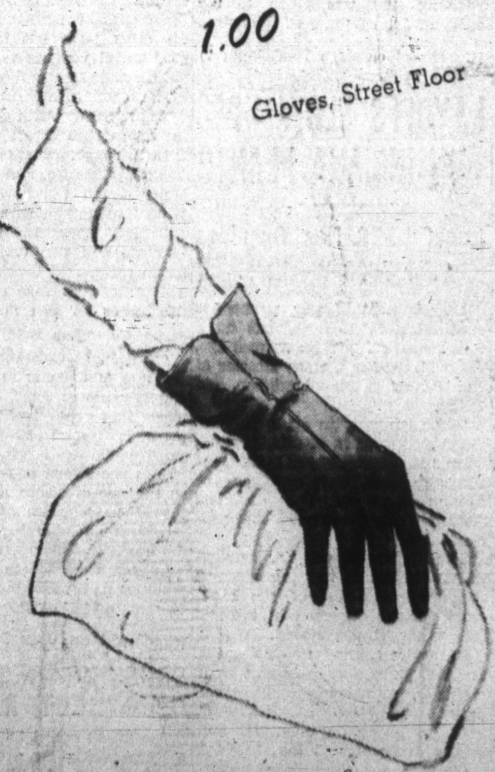

The 7-year-old boy, Dickie, was the only child of the Smiths. Mrs. Keiser said she and her first husband separated a year before he entered the army. Smith, a tail gunner on a B-25, was reported missing in action over China May 25, 1944. In May of this year his mother, Mrs. Estella Smith, was notified by the war department of the death of her son.
