

BUDENZ PLANS TO EXPOSE REDS

New Notre Dame Instructor Will Make Tour.

minut editor's bitter pamphlet attack upon the churchman.

So opposed to Communist belief is Budenz now, he said, that he will go on a nation-wide lecture tour to discuss their dangers. Describing his 10-year association with the political party as a period of mental conflict, Budenz said of the people's front:

"It was my sorry mistake that I thought this meant an amendment to the Communist viewpoint. I even went to the extent of hoping for a reconciliation of communism and Catholicism and this was much in my mind and colored many of my activities."

"I found through experience, however, that this reconciliation was utterly impossible."

"Just for Power"

Communism, Budenz added, was "irrevocably set up for the ending of religion" and it had fomented "just for power."

Budenz and his family were met by university officials when they arrived at South Bend.

The Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame, said Budenz' appointment to the university staff "will give him an opportunity to set forth correctly the fundamental principles of social justice, with emphasis on duties, as well as rights, as they relate to the inviolable principle of private property."

But of the action taken by Budenz, who had long been identified with the American labor movement and led strikes in St. Louis, Toledo, O., and Kenosha, Wis., the Communist party and the Daily Worker said:

"This frightened abandonment of the cause of the labor movement is an example neither of sincerity nor courage."

DEMOCRATIC EDITORS EVADE 'HOT POTATO'

sidelong faces at each other in Han-nagan's presence.

Well, that particular problem was solved at yesterday's convocation in the Spencer hotel—if few others were.

Editor Clay Metzger of Plymouth arose to ridicule concern over French Lick protocol at a time when the world is afire with ponderous events.

The editors ended up by agreeing to open the speakers' table not only to Bays and McHale, but to as many notables as it will accommodate.

Other things are on fire in addition to the world, in the opinion of the Democratic editors. For instance, they thought several Democratic intra-party issues were too hot to handle. So after debating all afternoon, the I. D. E. A. came forth with a blanket endorsement of the present state Democratic regime, including Bays and McHale.

Victory for Bays

It was something of a victory for Mr. Bays. He was supposed to be booed and asked to resign. Some of the editors did boo, but they did it in private session. The pledge to support the state committee (Mr. Bays) reportedly was not unanimous. So the editors went home with their tongues in their cheeks and a hot potato in their hip pockets.

Several of the conservative editors flayed Mr. Bays for confining his campaign wooing more or less to the P. A. C. and organized labor. Others asserted he has never won an election. A lot of them scorned the state committee, too, because it seems to be solidly behind Mr. Bays.

But the Bays-McHale issue was dodged rather than met squarely, as was the broader issue of liberalism vs. conservatism in the Democratic party.

Heard Labor Groups

The I. D. E. A. heard representatives of all labor groups demand a "progressive" program specifically, and the retention of Mr. Bays, indirectly.

The editors apparently heeded their ally behind Bays, but here's what they had to say about the policy question in a prepared statement:

"The I. D. E. A. assembled hereby expresses its appreciation for the support of labor but wishes to state the issue involved is not one of conservatism vs. liberalism. Nor is the present meeting intended to reflect on the loyal efforts of labor in behalf of the Democratic party. The purpose is to further the interests of the Democratic party."

Toney Flack Baffled

Thus, the question of how far the Democrats will walk leftward with labor remains dangling.

Most baffled man at the meeting by his own admission, was Toney Flack, publisher of the West Side Messenger. Mr. Flack proposed the names of Frank E. McKinney and Will H. Smith as likely successors to Mr. McHale and Mr. Bays, respectively. The Democratic editors looked down their noses at this bold thrust.

"They asked for suggestions," be-moaned Mr. Flack. "Then when I offered one, they were all surprised."

one large utility is feeling out regulatory bodies about letting it amortize entire investment in 10 years.

Length of Service in Discharges

LOOK for army to begin discharging men on length of service soon, instead of points.

It's been kept quiet, but no men are being sent out of the country with more than 18 months' service.

FRIENDS say Price Administrator Chester Bowles is willing to go down fighting for price controls on housing. He won't quit, despite weight of administration pressure against his policies for handling inflation. But he's willing to be fired, having made a record on a program in which he believes.

Reconversion Director John Snyder is looking for a method of controlling real estate inflation which won't go as far as the Bowles plan. He's expected to come up with something next week.

PRICES shoot up on home-coming hero stories. MacArthur has been offered $2,000,000 for serial rights to his; hasn't accepted so far.

Harry Hopkins is writing two books, one about his years in Washington, the other about Roosevelt. He's also agreed to expert a Hollywood movie about the late President.

Labor and Politics

P. A. C. WILL go into the 1946 campaign without being wedded to the Democratic party. This has become clear during pilgrimages to Washington of C. I. O. members in interest of their reconversion program.

SOME army captains and navy senior grade lieutenants who expect to leave service soon are turning down promotion to major and lieutenant commander ranks because by taking them they'd lose mustering-out pay, running up to $300. Lower ranks get the pay, higher ranks don't.

Captains and senior graders think $300 is a high price to pay for titles to carry back into civilian life.

ADD TRUMAN Itinerary: He'll probably go to Kansas City Nov. 18 when Arrast Temple of the Mystical Shrine stages a special ceremony for Imperial Potentate William H. Woodfield, of San Francisco. This is the president's own temple; he may participate in some of the rites.

Closed Session?

WILL NATIONAL labor-management conference here be held behind closed doors? This has been a sore spot. One management spokesman, Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is understood to be urging open sessions.

Apparent compromise is that "some" of the sessions will be open to press. "Some" is said to include opening session, when President Truman probably will speak, and closing sessions for announcement of conclusions.

ARMY GENERALS returning to the United States find 30-day leave trips luxuriously planned for them by war department.

They're asked if they want a home-town celebration and if they do it's arranged. They and their families are flown wherever they want to go, for free. If there's no other place they want for a rest, they're given quarters for themselves and family at White Sulphur Springs—still gratis. It's for generals only.

Incentive Prices

J. D. SMALL, successor to J. A. Krug as chief of war production board (renamed civilian production administration), may have trouble with statement he'll ask "incentive" price incentives for war production.

Cincinnati Meeting

FIRST NATIONAL labor meeting since V-J day will be that of A. F. of L. executive council opening Monday in Cincinnati. In addition to usual denunciation of C. I. O. friendship with Soviet labor, calls for labor unity, and demands for higher wages, the council is expected to draft its own formula for promotion of industrial peace. This will be presented to the national management-labor conference.

DISCLOSE DRUG COLLEGE PLANS

$400,000 Building to House New Butler Unit.

Details of the $400,000 College of Pharmacy and Related Sciences building to be erected on the Butler building campus were announced today.

Addition of the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy makes the fifth college, or school to be located on the Butler campus.

The new college will be known as the Butler University College of Pharmacy and will be moved from its present site at 800 E. Market st. to the Fairview campus as soon as practicable, school officials said.

Get More Courses

Under the new program students enrolled in the College of Pharmacy will train for bachelor of science degrees, devoting their four years to pharmacy, chemistry, biology, chemistry and business administration. This program will allow the students to take more elective courses than have in the past been available to them.

Edward H. Niles, dean of the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy since 1921, will continue as dean of the Butler University College of Pharmacy and faculty members will also become a part of the Butler faculty. Dr. M. O. Ross, Butler president, announced.

Accredited College

The new college is accredited by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education and is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. Present enrollment of the college is approximately 150 students.

Control of the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy was vested in a board of trustees which recently voted unanimously for the acquisition of the school by Butler. Members of the pharmacy board were Dr. F. E. Bibbins, president; L. G. Winn, vice president; Dr. F. B. Fisk, secretary; John P. Fritz, treasurer, and Dr. D. W. Foster, J. E. Hartman, Dr. W. P. Moenning and J. B. Wade.
