

Fight Seen in Congress on Health Insurance Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (U. P.).—President Truman's far-reaching insurance program today faced a hard fight in congress.

Even backers of the $3,000,000,000 a-year scheme conceded that strong opposition lies ahead. Similar proposals introduced a year ago died in committee.

Despite Mr. Truman's repeated statement that his program did not mean "socialized medicine," the Journal of the American Medical Association promptly asserted that this was "a peculiar interpretation of the term."

The Journal charged editorially that the proposal would lead to "politically controlled medicine."

Senator Robert A. Taft (R. O.) also disputed Mr. Truman's denial that the program involved socialized medicine. A. F. of L. President William Green, however, telegraphed Mr. Truman congratulations on his "forward-looking" proposal which Green said, "meets the most urgent human needs of our nation and merits universal support."

Cost $3 Billion

Under the five-point program, the government would guarantee proper medical care for every American. This would cost $3,000,000,000 annually, according to its sponsors.

They favor collecting these funds through increasing social security taxes and, later, by taking monies from general tax collections.

One suggestion is to increase the social security tax for the employer and the employee an additional 1 1/2 per cent each on annual salaries up to $3,000. The present social security tax is 1 per cent each for employer and employee on salaries up to $3,000.

In addition to providing for payment of medical bills, the measure would grant sickness compensation. A wage-earner during his illness would receive 80 per cent of his salary or $30 weekly, whichever is smaller.

Aid for Health Centers

Other parts of the plan, call for greater federal aid for construction of health centers and hospitals, and for professional education and research.

The present proposal at least is assured speedy public hearings. In the senate, the bill was referred to the education and labor committee which is headed by one of its sponsors, Senator James E. Murray (D. Mont.). He plans to start hearings within 10 days. They will last at least two months, according to Senator Robert E. Wagner, D. N. Y., another sponsor.

Murray and Wagner introduced their bill in the senate and Rep. John D. Dingell (D. Mich.) introduced an identical measure in the house soon after Mr. Truman outlined his proposals in a message to congress.

Like Insurance

The President likened the plan to any type of insurance, although this would be compulsory. The "premiums" would be taken from a citizen in taxes, and when that citizen stands to suffer a loss through sickness, the government would step in and pay the bill.

Eachers of the plan say this would give medical treatment to many persons who do not now go to their doctors because of the expense.

They say it also will encourage doctors to live in underprivileged communities which heretofore have been short of doctors because they did not pay well enough to attract medical men.

REDS DENY THEY AID IRAN REVOLT

Claim British Trying to Whitewash Palestine.

MOSCOW, Nov. 20 (U. P.).—The government newspaper, Izvestia, today editorially denied that the Red army is supplying arms and trucks to any faction in Persian Azerbaijan.

Izvestia charged that reports by British agencies of the disturbances in northern Iran were "making a mountain out of a molehill."

It said editorially that the accounts of the "separatist rebellion" were being fabricated and played up in order to divert attention from what is going on in Palestine, Egypt and Indonesia.

Actually, Izvestia said, the root of the trouble is that gendarmes and reactionary landlords in Azerbaijan are provoking incidents by attacking "democratic and liberal" elements.

Russians Turn Back Iran Move to North

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 20 (U. P.).—Iranian troops moving north to reinforce garrisons in the revolt-torn Azerbaijan district along the Russian-Iranian border were stopped by Russian occupation forces at Karvin and ordered to return to Tehran, it was announced officially today.

Earlier it had been announced that the garrison commander at Tabriz had obtained "tacit consent" of Russian occupation authorities to move the troops.

Officials announced that quiet had been restored at Zenjan, Astara and Ardabil where insurgents had attacked Iranian garrisons.

Telephone communications with Tabriz, capital of the district, still were cut. It was believed fighting was continuing there and at Minneh, 100 miles to the southeast.
