USE OF SCHOOLS OK'D FOR EX-GI'S

Disabled Men May Attend
Training Classes.

Disabled veterans will have access to the facilities of Indianapolis public schools for special training to fit them for gainful occupations.

The school board last night authorized a contract with the veterans administration for the practical training, under which the disabled veterans may enroll in day or night classes.

The veterans administration will pay the cost of materials in the program which will be tuition-free except in cases where additional instructors or other extra expenses are necessary.

Okay Library Help

At their meeting the commissioners approved the appointment of Mrs. Pauline Kerna Bennett as junior assistant librarian, and the temporary appointment of Helen Norris of Oak Park, Ill., on a special assignment in job analysis as an aid to the library staff. The resignation of Mrs. Maria Haas also was accepted as given in the report of Miss Marian McFadden, librarian.

A delegation from the P.T.A. of school 26 protested conditions in a 65-year-old building used to house the overflow of the school. Plans are under consideration to improve the condition.

Virgil Stinebaugh, superintendent of schools, announced the return from military service of former teachers Owen B. Keene, Clyde S. Arnel, Charles D. Walker, John E. Williams and William M. Smith. The commissioners also approved the appointment of Betty M. Crandell and the resignations of Mary E. Brewer, Anna Lee Burghard, Martha (Isham) Handy, Elizabeth Milner, Mary Margaret Patterson, George W. Wade and Harry B. Wight.

The trust fund of $2425 bequeathed by the will of Esther Fay Shover, was accepted. The principal and interest of the fund are to be used to promote interest of Technical high school and its students, under the direction of the principal, head of the English department and director of the Arsenal Cannon.

Five Sears Workers Get Gold Stars

YAMASHITA DENIES HE ORDERED KILLINGS

MANILA, Nov. 28 (U.P.)—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita testified in his defense today that he did not order the destruction of Manila. He also swore that he "absolutely" did not order the killing of civilian or prisoners of war.

As the 60-year-old "Tiger of Malaya" protested innocence before the military commission trying him, the Philippines supreme court denied his habeas corpus petition challenging Gen. MacArthur's authority to order war crimes trials.

The court held it lacked jurisdiction because the commission was appointed by Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, western Pacific commander, under "constitutionally valid" orders from MacArthur.
