

PREDICTS HIKE IN STEEL PRICE

Truman Refuses Comment On Strike Effect.

(U. P.)—Soldiers in a mass meeting of troops in protest against the steel industry today at the steel mill in their demands. The steel industry, which has been in a strike since Jan. 1, is expected to be returned to work by the end of the month. The steel industry has been in a strike since Jan. 1, is expected to be returned to work by the end of the month.

TWO: President Truman in Washington said it was "very possible" that OPA would recommend a steel price boost to help compensate the industry for any price increases. Manufacturers have maintained any wage increase must be met with higher prices.

THREE: Western Union employees in New York City left their jobs today, in a strike designed to cut off the nation's largest city from telegraphic communication with other parts of the country and shut down 40 per cent of trans-Atlantic communications traffic.

WALKOUT EARLY
The Western Union walkout, called four hours ahead of schedule, developed international repercussions when unionized employees of eight cable companies agreed not to handle messages to and from New York.

Hope that compromise settlements might be in the offing was given a boost in the emergence of some agreements between the C. I. O. and the oil industry calling for 18 per cent wage raises. The union originally asked 30 per cent. The C. I. O. has been in a strike since Jan. 1, is expected to be returned to work by the end of the month.

HOPES IT WILL BE 'MODEL'
R. J. Thomas, U. A. W. president, said he hoped the agreement would become "a model for the automobile industry and a basis for settling the industry's labor dispute."

The U. A. W.-General Motors dispute still was stalemated in the 49th day of a strike of 175,000 production workers. U. A. W. Vice President Walter P. Reuther, en route with other leaders to Washington, said President Truman's fact-finding board was expected to release its report Wednesday in the G. M. strike.

The Dodge division of the Chrysler Corp. meanwhile announced the closing of its truck plant in a dispute with A. F. of L. truck drivers. It said 3000 workers would be idled indefinitely.

MAY NAME FACT-FINDERS

While the National Federation of Telephone Workers (N. F. T. W.) continued its poll on the question of authorizing a nation-wide strike of 265,000 Bell employees in sympathy with 17,000 Western Electric employees in New York and New Jersey who are striking on 30 per cent wage increase demands, the labor department in Washington was considering creation of a fact-finding panel in that dispute.

The Association of Communication Equipment Workers, an affiliate, went ahead with plans to stage a walkout tomorrow which might disrupt telephone service across the country if phone operators observed picket lines at exchanges. However, both sides eased demands in eleven-hour negotiations.

A scheduled Jan. 16 strike of meat packing house workers received serious attention from high government officials who hoped to submit definite wage-price adjustment proposals at mediation conferences tomorrow in Chicago.

The board of directors of the National Retail Meat Dealers Association in Cleveland asked President Truman for government intervention in the pending strike of 335,000 A. F. of L. and C. I. O. meat workers, asserting the stoppage would cause a famine in the United States a week after it was called.

The United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers Union (C. I. O.), which has called a strike of 200,000 members against the big three of the electrical industry for Jan. 15, charged last night that one of the companies, Westinghouse Electric, again had rejected collective bargaining by refusing to make a specific offer in response to the union demand for a $2-a-day increase.

WARREN G. O. P. CLUB PLANS ANNUAL FETE

Warren Township Republican club will have its annual chicken dinner at 6:30 p. m. Saturday in Buckleys, Cumberland.

Speaking about his recent visit to Europe in interest of the U. N. and the accomplishments of the administration during Governor Gates' first year in office, will be Lt. Gov. Richard T. James.

After the dinner, officers for the current year will be installed. They are: William E. Beard, president; Fred Hendrickson, first vice president; Mrs. Mamie Hunt, second vice president; Mrs. Louise Robbins, secretary; and Sam Perry, treasurer.

Former Lt. Col. Asa J. Smith of the marines will act as master of ceremonies for the evening.

DIES OF BURNS

VINCENNES, Jan. 8 (U. P.)—Carl Young, 40, died last night in Good Samaritan hospital of burns suffered yesterday when a container of kerosene exploded as he tried to start a fire in his farm home.

$90,000 School Destroyed by Flames in Night

No classes today! . . . School No. 63 lay in ruins as a result of fire which last night destroyed the $90,000 building at Traub ave. and 11th st.

BLASTS HEARD IN SCHOOL FIRE

Neighbor Says 2 Occurred Five Minutes Apart.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the $90,000 school No. 63 at Traub ave. and 11th st. early today. Only the charred walls of the one-story brick veneer building stood at daylight. It was not immediately determined at the school board where the 320 pupils would attend classes.

Firemen narrowly escaped injury as masonry and debris fell. William Rhodes, of Company 24, was brushed by a heavy cornice but was not hurt. Firemen of Company 1 stepped back in time to avoid being crushed by the heavy stone trim over the front door which fell as they attempted to enter the blazing building.

A nearby resident, Mrs. Shed Elliott, said she heard two explosions five minutes apart.

The school was built in 1912 and originally had four rooms. In 1934 it was remodeled by the WPA and then had nine rooms and an auditorium. Fire also damaged the Children's Guardian home, 5751 University ave., last night. Loss was estimated at $10. Spontaneous combustion in the basement was the cause.

FEARS BRITISH TALK ENDANGERING LOAN

Hewlett Johnson, venerable dean of Canterbury. At a Communist rally in London—according to press dispatches—he told his audience that America is 100 years behind the rest of the world in everything except religion and in religion it is 150 years behind.

Few Admit It, Anyway

Maybe so. But the good dean was taking a lot of time, a lot of territory and a lot of people. And a lot of congressmen may take exception.

Few will admit they are as much as 150 years behind the times but most of them shamelessly boast of being old-fashioned—old-fashioned enough still to believe in God and the Ten Commandments but not in Santa Claus.

After hearing about the reverend dean some of these old-fashioned congressmen may conclude that, instead of lending billions to Britain, perhaps Uncle Sam might use the money to better advantage at home. He might use it lifting benighted Americans out of the appalling ignorance to which the dean has consigned them.

The soap ads say our best friends often "won't tell" why they shun us. Internationally speaking, they don't seem quite so bashful. Some, at least, don't hesitate to let us know quite frankly that as a nation, in their opinion, we suffer terribly from moral and cultural b. o.

Nor was the Dean of Canterbury—who recently visited the White House—the first to be so forthright on the subject. Harold Laski, British labor party spokesman, had told us that our economic system is the "direct road to serfdom," and that we are not to be trusted with such things as the secret of atomic energy.

Somewhere in between—Canterbury's dean and labor's Don, comes the London economist to remind us that Britain is a "moral creditor" in the war which means that we, in turn, are a moral debtor.

Says We Took Advantage

We took advantage of her extremity, it says, to drive a hard bargain and left for "Americans to say what pleasure they take in this—a victory."

Britain, we are told, fought the earliest, the longest and the hardest and for that she would have "to pay $140 million a year for the rest of the 20th century."

If the underlying situation weren't so tragic, what the good dean and the others say about us would be merely disabbling. But if the British and Americans, who are somewhat similar—humbly begging the dean's pardon—cannot understand each other any better than that, and can not refrain from brick-throwing, what chance is there for other and less similar nations to get along together? What chances has the U. N.?

We on this side of the Atlantic may be everything the dean, Dr. Laski and our other candid friends say we are. But we are hardly so the question of whether he should act as his own lobbyist. All are opposed to strikes.

Hoosiers Slow in Heeding Truman's Plea on Congress

Some take the union viewpoint and others that of management. They rather largely demand action from congress on whatever tactic they may take.

Most common viewpoint of those without any ax to grind is that laws should be drafted to protect both employer and employee in the strike situation.

"Little Change"—Capehart

The office of Senator Homer E. Capehart (R. Ind.) reported very little change in volume since the Truman talk. The few letters received were unfavorable to the President's program. But they do demand that congress do something about strikes.

Dean of the house Republicans, Rep. Charles A. Halleck, received letters and wires not only from his own second district but from the state at large.

His office reported that "most of the real letters were not in sympathy with the President's program. But the postcard barrage was 'almost 100 per cent for it.'"

But the letters held the Truman program "too radical." Wires from businessmen were all against the fact-finding proposal.

Support President

The South Bend district of Rep. Robert A. Grant (R. Ind.) came through with almost unanimous support of the President and condemnation of congress.

His office reported the mail "pouring in" and each letter demanding action now. Wires and postcards also demanded some legislation to stop the strikes.

The highly Republican and conservative Ft. Wayne district of Rep. George W. Gillie (R. Ind.) also sent numerous letters demanding congressional action based on the President's plea.

Rep. Forest A. Harness (R. Ind.), Kokomo, received upwards of 30 letters on Monday and they were divided 50-50 for and against the Truman program. All wanted the strikes stopped, however. Some were "rough on the President and some on congress" the office reported.

Reaction Varies

Few letters were received by either Reps. Noble J. Johnson or Earl Wilson, Republicans.

But Rep. Raymond S. Springer (R. Ind.) received more than 75 and reported the sentiment "divided almost 50-50." The only similarity in the text was that nearly all began: "I have just heard the President's speech."

Rep. Charles M. LaPollette (R. Ind.), received no great bulk of letters. Those that did arrive were scattered throughout the district and some from outside saying they were writing to him as a "friend of labor."

He is an announced Republican "radical" candidate for U. S. senate nomination against Senator Willis.

Rep. Gerald W. Landis (R. Ind.), member of the house labor committee, received 15 or 20 letters from the Seventh district. His office reported them "mostly in sympathy with the President and out of sorts with congress."

They expressed the view that the latter had let both the President and the country down. They came mostly from towns and cities, rather backward as not to realize how much depends on Anglo-American friendship and co-operation.

Pfc. Donald E. Baldwin, 770 N. Riley ave., is home on 30-day leave from duty in the Philippines. A graduate of Howe high school in 1944, Pfc. Baldwin attended the army specialized reserve training school at Morgantown, W. Va. He will report to Camp Atterbury for reassignment on Feb. 4.

And the chances are that congress will remember that, regardless when it comes to vote on the British loan.

COUNCIL SETS 'GRAB' HEARING

Taxicab Licensing Measure Is Under Fire.

Investigating need for the ordinance when he met with Miss Jacobs' alleged lack of co-operation.

This, the councilman added, led him to bring the matter to the attention of the entire council and to ask for a full-dress probe, with subpoena. Action on the measure was withheld, pending more information.

City Clerk Noll said he believed this will be the first time since the Duval administration in 1925 that the council has used its authority to subpoena. It is presumed Miss Jacobs and other city controller's office attaches will be called to provide the required information.

Hickman Silent

Miss Jacobs refused to comment on Councilman Daus' charges. Mr. Hickman, likewise, declined to comment on the matter, promising a statement later, "if it looks like one is necessary."

Mr. Beckwith declared he had already talked to witnesses who were asked to attend next Monday's meeting voluntarily. He denied that he had affidavits in his possession, saying only that he expected the witnesses to prove his charges.

A petition has been filed with the council by Will Johnson of the North Side Cab Co., asking for correction of an "injustice" done to his firm.

A war-time agreement that 20 licenses belonging to United and Red Cab companies be lent to the North Side firm only until such time as the city could provide additional licenses is not being kept, asserted Mr. Beckwith.

He said Mayor Tyndall was one of those who attended a meeting of taxicab company officials and agreed to see that licenses would be issued to the North Side Co. and the Apex Cab Co. when ODT regulations permitted.

Attorney Beckwith and others also have charged that Negro taxicab operators were not obtaining the 20 licenses specifically provided for them by ordinance.

Records in the city controller's office show the following issuance of the 420 licenses:

C. I. Kenney, Red cab, 180; Hoosier Cab (Red Cab), 48; F. R. Jones, Red Cab, 45; Red Cab, Inc., 3, totaling 276; Hardwick-United, 61; E. Pruet-United, 21; Cauldwell-United, 18, totaling 100; James Williams, 1; Will Johnson, 1; City Cab, 10; James F. Williams, 1; Stewart Rhodes, 2; Henry Fleming, 4; Mark VanBuren, 1; McGeehan Harris, 1; John Hobbs, 1; Clifford Douglas, 1; Yellow Cab, 1; Lawrence Hall-Yellow Cab, 20; and P. E. Barber, 1, grand total, 420. Of this number, 22 are issued to Negro operators.

Questions Park Purchase

Councilman A. Ross Manly lent a familiar ring to the session. The general fund's "watchdog" reminded his fellow-councilmen that indications were noticeable various city departments were preparing to "raid" the fund again.

"Where're we going to get the money?" the doughty, highly-respected council figure queried.

"This is a new year, now," Council President John A. Schumacher smiled.

"I never did think much of the Broad Ripple park idea," the councilman continued. "The money could have been spent better elsewhere."

Mr. Manly referred to a proposed ordinance creating several new positions for city employees including those for the maintenance of the newly-acquired park.

JUDGE DAVISSON DIES IN CLINTON

CLINTON, Ind., Jan. 8 (U. P.)—Judge Everett A. Davison of Vermillion circuit court died last night in the county hospital. He was 61 years old.

Judge Davison, a Republican, had occupied the bench at Newport since Jan. 1, 1943. He was elected after the death in office of Judge Edward Bingham in 1942.

A member of the Vermillion county bar for 30 years, Judge Davison served as federal referee in bankruptcy for the federal reserve district from 1923 to 1943.
