

Industry Hit By Ship Tieup; Union Assails Wage Board

PARLEY FAILS TO BRING HOPE IN N. Y. STRIKE

Pittsburgh Is Threatened With Blackout as Power Deadline Nears.

Industries dependent on seaborne cargoes began to feel the impact of the shipping strike today.

Meanwhile in New York, official efforts to settle a truck driver's strike which has created serious food shortages were rebuffed again today and Mayor William O'Dwyer put the entire blame for the strike on the A. F. of L. Teamsters union.

Mayor O'Dwyer held a closed hour-long conference with union and employer representatives at police headquarters today, but nothing was accomplished toward ending the strike.

Union Pessimistic

The mayor said that the coal and oil situation in New York was normal despite the accompanying strike of tugboatmen and seamen.

John E. Strong, president of local 807, said before the meeting that "the situation is very bad and I see no signs of settlement in less than one or two weeks."

In the maritime strike, Harry Lundberg, secretary of the striking Sailors' Union of the Pacific (A. F. of L.), announced his conference with Assistant Secretary of Labor Philip Hannah failed to effect a settlement.

Other labor developments:

ONE: The International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A. F. of L.) at a rank and file meeting refused to vote on a compromise proposal to end the week-old trucking strike among New York City and New Jersey truck drivers.

TWO: Pittsburgh, Pa., residents prepared for a total blackout after President George L. Mueller of the independent union of Duquesne Light Co. announced power workers would walk off their jobs at one minute past midnight tonight unless union demands are met.

THREE: Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., told delegates to a regional meeting of C. I. O. United Steelworkers that the C. I. O. planned to demand portal-to-portal pay for workers in all industries.

Blames Board Blundering

In announcing the maritime strike would continue, Mr. Lundberg said that the walkout was due solely to "the tragic blundering" of the wage stabilization board.

He said that the S. U. P. had no disagreement with ship owners who have granted pay increases of from $22.50 to $27.50 a month.

The contracts, which called for wage hikes of from $5 to $10 more than those granted members of the C. I. O. Maritime Workers union earlier this year, were disapproved by WSB because they were "inflationary."

The WSB is scheduled to open hearings tomorrow on possible reconsideration of the disputed decision.

More than 3000 ships have been tied up in East and West coast and Gulf ports.

Mayor Makes Radio Appeal

At Pittsburgh, Mayor David L. Lawrence made a radio appeal for pressure by the public on both the "tight company and the tight union" in order to forestall the power strike which would virtually stop all industrial activity in the city.

Mayor Lawrence said he would meet a 50-man general union committee at noon today for a "face to face" talk. The union has asked for a 20 per cent wage increase and 30 other contract changes, including a union shop.

Mr. Murray's announcement of the C. I. O. plan to demand portal-to-portal pay—which would mean paying the worker from the time he enters the factory until he leaves it—was made when he listed the programs in which the C. I. O. is at present "interested."

MISS AMERICA, A 'FETTERED' BEAUTY— Can Women Be Led Around? Nation's Most Beautiful Girl Was—By an Ear-to-Ear Chain

MISS AMERICA, Marilyn Buford of Hollywood.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.—This dispatch probably should appear in the hardware dealer's monthly; it is about a chain you snap to your wife's ears.

It loops handily under her chin. Grab the chain and lead her wherever you want. You could rivet an iron hoop in her nose and get the same effect, by attaching a rope, but slave ear-rings are better. With them you can guide her almost as well as if you had a bit in her mouth.

YOU THINK I am spoofing?
Touched by the heat? Drunk?

The most beautiful woman in this nation wears a chain from ear to ear. Name of Marilyn Buford, of Hollywood, Cal. Now Miss America. Most beautiful of all the beauties at the Atlantic City beauty pageant.

I grasped Miss America's chain and led her for a spell. It worked fine. Where I went, she went and all she said was, "ouch."

The tall and stately Miss Buford made a deal with a Hollywood genius (who probably would be embarrassed if I mentioned his wife-leader here) to keep her ears chained whenever she appeared in an evening gown.

THIS was her first commercial commitment while she still was only Miss California. Now she's making the boys with the contracts stand in line.

Tonight she advertises cigarettes, which she does not use because the smoke gets in her eyes, on the radio, for $1000.

Tomorrow she flies to California to advertise the baby-blue swimming suit that did its breathless part to help her win the $5000 first prize.

The 20th Century-Fox man, who wouldn't even let her in his office when she was living half a mile away, is trying to stop her to a term contract.

THE UNITED ARTISTS studio fellow, who also flew 3000 miles to meet the girl who used to pass his iron gates every day on the way to school, is begging her to accept $500

At City—James, Mary Ellen Clark; Gilbert, Alma Alberta Baugh, and Ernest, Betty Gainer.

At Coleman—Robert, Barbara Smith, and William, Donald Busch.

At Methodist—John, Virginia Gullasp; Catherine, Marie Pritchard; Simon, Loretta Philip; Glenn, Patricia Niles; Carl, Nan Pugh; Robert, Marjorie Hacker; Randolph, Evelyn McClure; Morris, Harold Conly; Gary, Miriam Hoeger; George, Olive Gady; Robert, Cecilia Biehl; Emmett, Ruth Wade, and George, Evelyn Boyer.

At St. Vincent's—Frank, Caroline Velland; Harold, Esther Garner; Bernard, Catherine Koche; Louise, Josephine Abell; Paul, Stella Harris; Franklin, Ann Ricordi; Herschel, Bernadine Gibbs; John, Jean Underwood; Robert, Eva Barry; Leroy, Mary Phillips; Bobbie, Betty Pruitt; Verlyn, Marjorie McCamack; Walter, Gerald Ruth; Albert, Margaret Buennagel; Kenneth, Louise Paccetti; and Bert, Elizabeth Mitchell.

At Home—Denton, Ruth Winters, 2020 Central.

GATES TO GET GAMING REPORT

Expect More Details in New Albany Mayor's Death.

A complete report on the findings of the state police investigation into gambling conditions in southern Indiana as the result of the death of New Albany's mayor, was expected at Governor Gates' office today or tomorrow.

The report is expected to include full circumstances surrounding the death last Thursday of Mayor Raymond Jaegers who was found shot to death in his office.

His death at first was reported to have been a suicide but Frank Tyler, Clark county coroner, reopened the case after relatives and friends of the mayor contended that he had been murdered.

Link Death to Probe

The probe of his death was linked to the gambling investigation after it was reported that the mayor had issued an order a few days earlier for a general crackdown on gamblers in the city.

The investigation also involved possible connection of the mayor's anti-gambling edict with a stabbing assault last week on W. Dudley Jewell, New Albany Chamber of Commerce secretary, who had been leading a crusade against gaming in the city.

James P. Stockdale, a candidate for constable, was arrested and charged with the stabbing of Mr. Jewell.

COTTON CROP IS SET AT 8 MILLION BALES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (U. P.).—The agriculture department today estimated 1946 cotton production at 9,171,000 bales.

This was a slight decrease from the department's Aug. 8 estimate that the crop would total 9,290,000 bales of 500 pounds each.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH ILL

LONDON, Sept. 9 (U. P.).—Princess Elizabeth was reported confined indoors at the summer palace at Balmoral today by a slight cold. Her illness was not believed serious but she was unable to attend church Sunday.

Other fellows with other offers, including a burlesque agent, she's not even seeing. This is known as tit for tat.

The school ma'ams on the board of judges decided that Miss Buford should spend her $5000 at the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York.

Then she'll go home to the stucco bungalow where she lives with her mother, photographer father, and 19-year-old brother, and let the movie moguls cool their heels on her front porch.

ALL THE time, of course, her ears will be chained together; any movie maker who leads her on a sound stage will pay cash for the privilege.

I hope this does not sound as though I am sneering at Miss America. She is a blue-eyed brown-haired beauty, bust 35 and one-half inches; all other measurements in proportion.

She's also smart. She had to prove it (while wearing her chain) to the judges. She studied a year and a half at the University of California at Los Angeles; then tried to crash the movie studios.

SHE GOT a bit part in a recent flicker at Warner Brothers; found herself ignored by the director of an epic in which she was seen for 45 seconds at R-K-O.

This non-discriminating director, incidentally, was Mervyn Leroy, who discovered Lana Turner eating a strawberry soda in a Sunset blvd. mailed milk joint.

Hiya, Merv? Now do you remember that pretty extra you had in there with the mob behind Claudette Colbert?

MERVYN'LL know her next time, I bet. She'll be wearing her chain. And that brings us back belatedly to the subject of this item.

The press agents looked at Miss America's chained ears and gasped. They predicted to a man that all the other ladies in the country soon will be chaining their ears together too. That will be a happy day.

If your wife is balky, yank the chain. She'll follow you all right. Or get her ears pulled off.

PLANE CRASH FATAL

BATAVIA, N. Y., Sept. 9 (U. P.).—The civil aeronautics administration today joined Genesee County Coroner Dr. Irwin Cole in investigating a plane crash which cost the life of William R. Brandon, 36, of Kent, O., who was killed yesterday when his ship crashed into a railroad embankment here.

NAME G.O.P. PUBLICITY AID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (U. P.).—The Republican national committee today named Edward Ford Stevenson of East Norwalk, Conn., director of its motion picture publicity.

TWENTY-FOUR-HOUR FORECAST SUMMARY: Rain will fall intermittently in the upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys throughout the affected area shown on the map. There will be showers or scattered thunder-showers in mountainous sections of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, also in the Upper Lakes Region, along the Gulf coast, in Florida and the Carolinas as well as westernmost Texas and the east slopes of the Rockies.

Moderate temperatures are promised New England and the Lakes Region, but the weather will be warm and sultry between the Mississippi and the Atlantic seaboard in those parts of the country lying south of the "standing" or stationary front for warm, moist tropical air has overspread the area. (See arrow indicating "warm air" flow.)

Local frost is predicted for the high ranges and mountain valleys of the Rocky Mountains in Idaho, Utah and Nevada. It will be partly cloudy on the east side of the Rockies where the scattered showers are expected, but westward to the Pacific it will be fair. Normal morning fog is forecast for the Pacific coast Tuesday A.M.

Night temperature will be near a low of 70 degrees from the Gulf of Mexico northward to southern Missouri and Kansas. Further north to the Canadian border the minimum will lower to about 60 degrees.

A low pressure center has further developed south of the high-pressure ridge which extends to the Rockies from New England. The deepening of this depression was expected for there is a strong broad flow of warm air moving northward from the Gulf.

Partly cloudy conditions are pictured for the West Gulf and Central Plains states.

North of the border a fresh wave of cold Canadian air is beginning to push southward and its leading edge or boundary is the "cold air front."

The "low" shown centered in the extreme southwest is a semi-permanent one caused by thermal conditions in the arid, desert region.

TWO CONFESS BANK HOLDUP

New Palestine Robbery Is Admitted by Brothers.

Two brothers, natives of Bangor, Mich., have confessed to the $11,500 holdup of the New Palestine bank last July 18, according to Harvey G. Foster, chief of the Indiana, FBI office.

Robert D. Atteberry, 22, confessed at St. Joseph, Mich., his part in the holdup Saturday and his brother, Charles E. Atteberry, 20, admitted he was an accomplice in the robbery after questioning at St. Louis yesterday.

The elder brother was captured on a farm near Paw Paw, Mich., Thursday and the younger brother was arrested at the home of his grandfather in Arbyrd, Mo., last Friday.

They were linked to the crime by a fingerprint found on a glass jar in a Cambridge City, Ind., garage where the bandit "get-away car" was stolen shortly before the holdup.

The pair will be brought to Indianapolis for trial on charges of armed bank robbery.

106 Wives Arrive At Korean Base

INCHON, Korea, Sept. 9 (U. P.).—After two months delay and two false starts, the U. S. army transport Frederick Funston steamed in Inchon harbor today bearing 106 wives and 81 children. They were the first dependents of American soldiers to arrive in Korea.

Marring an otherwise perfect trip was the sad reunion of Capt. Charles S. Hoge, Olathe, Kas., with his wife and 3-year-old daughter. The Hoge's 4-year-old son, Charles, died of polio in Seattle just before the sailing.

RETURN ARMEN TOMORROW

ROME, Sept. 9 (U. P.).—Five caskets containing remains of U. S. army airmen shot down over Yugoslavia Aug. 19 will be flown to the United States tomorrow, Col. Roger M. Crowe, commanding officer of Ciampino airport, announced today.
