

37 Nations Vote Month's Delay Of U.N. Assembly Session

Majority Already Certain; Lake Success Receives No Negative Votes Yet

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (U. P.)—Thirty-seven nations, more than the required number, agreed today to postpone United Nations general assembly for one month to Oct. 23.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie, who reluctantly proposed the delay at the request of Russia, China, France and Belgium, announced that up to noon today no United Nations member had opposed a postponement.

Fourteen of the 51 United Nations still were to be heard from, but a simple majority—26—were sufficient to approve the postponement which was sought chiefly by Russia. The Soviet Union complained that it and some other nations could not staff both the United Nations and Paris peace conferences at once.

Soviet Repetition Tiring Delegates

By NAT A. BARROWS

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 12.

—Every added hour of the repetitious droning of the Soviet tactics before the security council increases the possibility of a husky backfire in Russian faces.

The endless arguments of the Gromyko-Manulsky team on the Greek issue are keeping the council purposely dominated with Russian viewpoints and reducing the international body to the shallow depths of a propagandistic sounding board.

But the dreary round of reiteration, first by Andrei Gromyko, the Russian delegate, then by Dmitri Manulsky, the Ukrainian foreign minister, and then by Mr. Gromyko again, is paving the way directly into a showdown of protest and correction before the full, 51-nation general assembly.

Other Delegates Tiring

That is clear enough from talks with small nation members here and with other council delegates as well.

If Mr. Gromyko, on orders from Moscow, has been seeking to make the security council the overall dominating committee of the United Nations, he certainly is missing the boat right now.

Public reaction to the wearying spectacle of the Ukrainian complaints against monarchistic Greece has added nothing to the prestige of the council. Each additional session on the Greek question, centered on Soviet allegations that Greece and British troops in Greece menace peace, reduces council prestige.

Council colleagues cannot escape a sense of frustration and boredom

SAYS OVERSEAS UNITS ARE LAX

Senate Quiz of Occupation Costs Is Studied.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (U. P.)—The senate war investigating committee today considered probing the cost and conduct of the military occupation of Germany.

The committee, it was learned, has received reports that conduct of American troops in Germany, from generals down, is "worse than the German occupation of France."

None of the reports, involving complaints of lax discipline and waste of American military supplies, has been verified.

But one member said the committee has received secret testimony claiming the faults can be traced all the way up to the offices of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, U. S. commander in Germany, and Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, his deputy.

Welcome Inquiry

Gens. McNarney and Clay were not directly accused of any misconduct but were reported in the secret testimony to have cognizance of actions by lesser generals which made it difficult to maintain discipline all along the line.

At the same time, it was said Gens. McNarney and Clay welcome a committee investigation into the cost of zone-type of occupation of Germany, as compared with what it would be if all the reich were handled as a single unit.

When and if the committee could get into an investigation of military occupation was problematical, however. A thorough check would include a trip to Europe.

Officer Loses Pants in Tussle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (U. P.)—Richard R. Watkins, 40, was under suspended sentences today for disorderly conduct and destroying government property. The property was a pair of policeman's pants.

TOUR PERHAPS, NO 'STUMPING'

Truman Political Forays May Be Airborne.

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (A. P.)—A stump tour by some other name probably will be President Truman's contribution to the Democratic congressional campaign this fall.

The phrase "stump tour" is abhorrent around the White House these days. Presidential aides, when asked about Mr. Truman's campaign plans, stare at the ceiling and say that nothing definite can be announced—now.

This was the campaign-year pattern of the late President Roosevelt. He was always loath in an election year to admit in advance that he had any political plans.

Will Hold Political Fire

National campaigns usually don't get going until October, and Mr. Truman's idea seems to be to hold his political fire until the later rounds.

While no official schedule has been made, politicians around the President expect him to make at least three major campaign appearances, probably beginning in October with a farm speech in his home state of Missouri.

This appearance might be followed with another speech in the Middle West—perhaps before the American Federation of Labor convention at Chicago. There were definite prospects of another speech in the east, maybe in New York, before the voters go to the polls to select a new congress.

Brief Trips

According to his friends, Mr. Truman has no idea of making campaign tours in the full sense of the word. A regular campaign tour means movement from town to town by train with frequent appearances, impromptu speeches and sessions of hand-shaking from the rear platform of the President's car.

What the President probably will do will be to make brief, air-borne forays into the selected campaign territories. He is expected to shake a lot of hands at these stops, confer and meet with party leaders, say his piece for the ticket at a public gathering and wing back to the White House in a hurry.

The White House is particularly sensitive to the pressure which builds up as a result of far-in-advance announcement of any presidential travel plans. More than not, this pressure causes complications.

His political advisers prefer to announce only to short time in advance when he will reach a particular spot. This removes the burden of having to arrange way-station receptions which oftentimes offend people who are unavoidably excluded.

If the President sticks to his private plane, the "Sacred Cow," during the congressional campaigns, it will be a precedent. No President before has campaigned by air.

TWO PETTY CRIME CASES REPORTED

Petty crime was almost at a standstill in Indianapolis last night.

Teltype machines at police headquarters carried only two reports of any consequence.

Mrs. Frances Postewaita, 35, of 129 E. 50th st., was walking home along 50th st. at 10 o'clock last night when an old model car drew up behind her as she crossed Pennsylvania st.

A young man leaped out of the car—grabbed her purse containing $7—jumped back into the car and disappeared.

Pursuit of a man who a waitress at Wheeler's restaurant, Ohio and Pennsylvania sts., said threw steaming hot coffee in her face led to the arrest of John E. Nyikos, 26, South Bend.

Police caught Nyikos in the 100 block, E. Ohio st. He was being chased by Louis Wiseman, 33, 111 E. Walnut st., manager of the restaurant.

Charged with intoxication, disorderly conduct and vagrancy, Nyikos will appear in municipal court 3 this afternoon.

AMERICAN LEGION IN PHILIPPINES REVIVED

Times Foreign Service

MANILA, R. I., Sept. 12.—The American Legion of the Philippines has been revived by C. H. Janeway, who came to Manila from the Indianapolis national headquarters of the Legion with authority to organize the local chapter.

One of the proposals of Mr. Janeway, who is acting as co-ordinator, is to seek clarification of Filipino veterans' eligibility to membership in the Legion.

It is believed that by becoming members of the organization Filipino veterans who fought under the American flag during the war may be entitled to benefits enjoyed by Legion members under U. S. laws.

MANITOWOC, Wis., Sept. 12 (U. P.)—Paul Felix Wier, 39, was sent to the Oshkosh state hospital for observation yesterday after authorities refused to accept his confession that he killed his incurably ill father with an over-dose of morphine 11 years ago.

The son said his father had asked for a lethal dose of morphine to end his suffering and that he had killed him with four tablets of the drug.

Seymour Woman Who Took Own Life 'Too Tired to Go On'

SEYMORE, Ind., Sept. 12 (U. P.)—Mrs. Opal Seyforth, 30-year-old housewife who hanged herself in a jail cell yesterday, was "too tired to go on," a note she left revealed today.

Mrs. Seyforth did not mention the shooting of Mrs. Jewell Zimmerman last June 15, Mr. Burkholder said. She was charged with firing a gun at the pretty 22-year-old mother of two children at the

SECRET PACTS HIT BY BRICKER

Blames Agreements for Rumors of War.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12 (U. P.)—John W. Bricker, G. O. P. nominee for U. S. senator from Ohio and 1944 vice presidential choice, said wars or rumors of wars today were the reaped harvest of secret agreements and unsupported promises of the world's leaders.

The former Ohio governor last night told delegates to the one-day Republican state convention here that there were conflicts of ideologies and forces in the world which threatened the destruction of all which our forces fought for in this war.

This country is caught in ideological conflicts of religious, racial, nationalistic and political backgrounds, he said.

"We are confident that no nation could defeat America in a military way," Mr. Bricker said. But he warned that government could be destroyed through taxation of production forces and through increasing its power until it is burdensome and unbearable.

"The world today is divided between those that believe in the rights of which our people have fought for a thousand years and those who are greedy for power," Mr. Bricker declared.

Indian, 112, Says Mother Is Alive

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (U. P.)—Howard Hughes, noted flier and movie producer who only recently was 112 years old, said today his 160-year-old mother was still living in Nepal, India, but that his grandparents were dead.

Singh, who lives at Bendigo, said his grandfather died at 192 and his grandmother at 187.

The bearded veteran of the Indian mutiny said he had been married eight times and had lost count of his great grandchildren. Of his grandchildren he could remember 193.

Singh said his eldest son was 97 years old and was living in India, but that his youngest son—2 years old—was at home.

Mr. Hughes, who yesterday flew non-stop from Culver City, Cal., to Kansas City, came here to dispute the Motion Picture Producers association revocation of its approval of his controversial movie, "The Outlaw."

Mr. Hughes said the flight here did not tire him and he felt fine.

He had 26 hours of interrupted rest in Kansas City before he took off.
