CIO VS. TROOPS CASE IS READY

Union Fights Use of State Guard Against Pickets.

Attorneys for the state and for the C. I. O. will enter the first round tomorrow of a federal court fight in which the labor organization hopes to enjoin possible future use of troops against "peaceful" pickets.

The injunction suit was filed by the C. I. O. after the governor called out the state guard recently to uphold a court order against picketing at the Rex Manufacturing plant in Connersville. Troops and state police moved in on the Rex strike, outgrowth of a jurisdictional dispute between electrical workers of the C. I. O. and A. F. of L., and enabled the plant to re-open.

In the jurisdictional dispute, the C. I. O. sought to break the A. F. of L. workers' contract with the company on grounds a majority of the workers favored the C. I. O. and no bargaining election had been held.

Appeal to Governor

A circuit court order was issued enjoining further C. I. O. picketing and county and local law enforcement officials appealed to the governor for aid in backing up the court action.

In tomorrow's hearing, Federal Judge Robert Baltzell will hear arguments on motions to dismiss filed by the attorney general's office in behalf of the state officials. Although the suit specifically names Governor Gates, state police head Austin R. Killian and Adjutant General Ben Watt, state attorneys contend the action is essentially one against the state and therefore illegal unless the state consents to be sued.

Attorneys Cleon Foust and Robert Howell Jr., representing the state, also charge the C. I. O. is not a proper party to the case. They have asked Judge Baltzell to rule summarily for the state and deny the injunction on the basis of pleadings and affidavits already filed.

Should the court deny the summary judgment sought by the state, hearing on the merits of the injunction suit itself is scheduled for Oct. 2.
