

Yugoslav-Italian Boundary Decided

PEACE PARLEY APPROVES LINE FRENCH URGED

Belgrade Threats Not to Sign Bring Angry Connolly Reply.

By R. H. SHACKFORD
Paris Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Sept. 28.—The Italian political commission today approved the compromise "French" line border between Italy and Yugoslavia over violent Yugoslav protests. These protests included a threat to refuse to sign the peace treaty and to refuse to move Yugoslav troops out of northwest Istria. They were made by Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj.

The angry Yugoslav objections were overruled by the commission and stirred Senator Tom Connolly (D. Tex.) to a burst of senate oratory in which he shouted that Yugoslav threats didn't "frighten anyone."

Makes No One Quiver
"That sort of truculent attitude doesn't make anyone quiver in his boots," Senator Connolly snapped.

"But to refuse to sign the treaty just because she can't have her way isn't the democratic way."

The French line was approved by a vote of 12 to 5 after a final Yugoslav plea to send the issue back to the Big Four lost, 13 to 6. Russia voted for the French line, with all her satellite states voting against it.

Mr. Connolly's rip-roaring oratory, stirred up Andrei Vishinsky, Russia, to a similar display, Russian-style. Mr. Vishinsky, like Mr. Connolly, was opposed to the Yugoslav proposal to dump the frontier question back in the laps of the Big Four but he denounced Connolly for calling Yugoslavia undemocratic.

Vishinsky Calls U. S. Undemocratic
Mr. Vishinsky noted that the United States had threatened not to accept the French line until a statute for governing Trieste which is satisfactory to America has been agreed upon.

Thus, he charged, the United States' attitude is as undemocratic as that of Yugoslavia.

Britain and the United States have entered reservations about the French line.

Both great western powers insist the frontier and the Trieste governing statute are entwined inextricably. Their final approval of the boundary hinges upon adoption by the conference of a statute guaranteeing what they consider a truly independent, free Trieste.

U. S. Proposal Seeks Two-Thirds
The American proposal to force Yugoslavia to accept all or none of the provisions of the Italian treaty won an 11-to-8 vote of approval from the Italian political commission. Since this was short of a two-thirds majority needed to make a "recommendation," the issue is left to the full conference to decide.

Mr. Vishinsky cast Russia's vote against this U. S. proposal and said he would "continue to protest it at every opportunity."

Trieste Subcommittee Fails
A special subcommittee which for 12 days had sought common ground for the statute abandoned its efforts last night. It will report complete failure to the Italian political commission Monday.

It was considered logical the Big Four might try to iron out their differences on Trieste, then report results to the full conference. Until the Big Four agree, the conference cannot complete the Italian treaty.

Russia wants a governing statute which would permit heavy Yugoslav influence over the Trieste zone. The United States and Britain want an international government responsible to the United Nations security council.

FATE OF 21 NAZIS STILL A SECRET
NUERNBERG, Sept. 28 (U. P.).—The war crimes tribunal announced today that jurisdiction over the 21 Nazi leaders whose fate will be announced Monday and Tuesday will be handed over to a four-power committee of generals when judgment is handed down.

The four generals have arrived from Berlin as representatives of the allied control council for Germany. The council will conduct any executions ordered by the tribunal.

What will happen to Nazis receiving the death sentence was still secret.

The 21 defendants awaiting the verdict in the Nuernberg jail were to see their wives and children for the last time today. The visit was to be for a full hour instead of the customary 30 minutes. Martin Bormann, the missing 22nd defendant, will be judged in absentia.

ed to reach $23 billion. This is 10 per cent over 1945. The bureau of agricultural economics predicts a 10 to 15 per cent drop next year, but this would still leave farmers at approximately 1945 levels.

Another reason farmers can hold out: They're getting larger percentage of the food dollar than ever before. In 1933 farmers got only 33 per cent of food dollar, BAE says. In 1945 the percentage never fell below 53. Last winter it was 55 per cent and it's estimated at that now.

SENATE INVESTIGATION of our occupation forces in Germany may prove sensational. It will look into charges of widespread immorality and promiscuity among officers as well as enlisted men, and into black market operations. The army has been trying for months to clean things up, apparently has not succeeded.

Rumor is that Gen. Clay wants to quit, and the senate investigation may bring this to head. Gen. Clay is well thought of here, probably would be hard to replace.

U. S. Won't Quit China
U. S. MARINES will stay in China. Stalin's pronouncement that withdrawal is essential to world peace was opening gun in all-out propaganda campaign. Left-wing groups here will take it up. But top state, war, navy officials say privately we'll not withdraw from the Peiking, Tientsin, Tsingtao area. (There are only 24,000 marines in China, 3000 other U. S. armed forces.)

Reason: Withdrawal now would mean Communist seizure of communications, would enable Chinese to block coal shipments to coastal cities and force the Nationalists to come to terms or risk suffering and death in their areas this winter.

Also the presence of marines keeps supply lines open to executive headquarters at Peiping where some 2000 Americans are working under Gen. Marshall to end China's civil war.

Sources close to Gen. Marshall say despite setbacks he's still hopeful.

PAUL McNUTT will resign as ambassador to the Philippines within few weeks, will enter private law practice in New York.

Pauley to London?
EDWIN W. PAULEY is good bet for ambassador to London, the post just vacated by W. Averell Harriman. Mr. Truman has been using him in international field, still thinks well of his ability, still smarting from senatorial rejection of Mr. Pauley for navy undersecretary. Chances are senate would confirm him. Many opponents last winter said it was only the navy job they thought he shouldn't have.

"Later, after I was released from the hospital, I felt terrible. I had headaches, couldn't keep my mind on my work. I just felt generally depressed and couldn't figure out what was wrong."

"I went to another doctor—not the one who treated me for the accident injuries. He told me I had become addicted to morphine."

STATE BUSINESS INDEX ADVANCES

Boost Attributed in Part to Price Control Recess.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 28 (U. P.).—Indiana's index of business conditions advanced three points in August, due partly to the discontinuance of price controls, the Indiana university bureau of business research reported today.

The bureau's monthly publication, the Indiana Business Review, said that the index advanced "despite scarcities of many materials, sporadic labor difficulties and car shortages."

"The discontinuance of price control in July and August on most farm products and the adjustment of many ceiling prices under the revised price control law contributed in part to the forward move on a broad front of Indiana business during August," the review said.

Farm Income Up
It explained that the discontinuance of price control caused "a temporary bulge in farm income" and that the adjustment of many ceiling prices "was responsible for some of the increase in the dollar volume of many lines of business."

"There has been a substantial increase in the volume of retail trade as a whole in the state as many durable goods, absent for the duration, have returned, even though in limited quantities," the review said.

"Undoubtedly the dollar value of trade is rising more rapidly than the physical volume, a situation which will continue as long as many essential raw materials and semi-manufactures are in short supply."

"As long as consumer purchasing power is at high levels and materials are scarce, it may be anticipated that production will be confined largely to the more expensive units of both durable and non-durable goods."

Governor Is 'Kuhnel' Gates Now

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28.—A new Hoosier order, "Sagamore of the Wabash," was conceived here last night by Governor Ralph F. Gates as he received the title of Kentucky colonel from Governor Simeon S. Willis of Kentucky.

The occasion was a goodwill fun fest for officials of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio. After Governor Gates received his title in the bluegrass order he made Governor Willis the "First Sagamore of the Wabash." A few minutes later he made Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio the second Sagamore.

Governor Gates attended the dinner and ceremonies here accompanied by a number of Indiana officials and businessmen.

Kurt F. Pantzer, Indianapolis attorney, was toastmaster at the dinner. Lt. Gov. Richard T. James, James A. Emmert, attorney general; A. V. Burch, auditor; Frank Millis, treasurer; and Rue J. Alexander, secretary of state, attended with Governor Gates.

BEVERIDGE BACKS STREAMLINE BILL

The LaFollette-Monroe bill passed by the last congress to streamline federal legislative machinery is the best measure ever passed concerning procedure of congress.

This was the statement today of Albert J. Beveridge Jr., Republican candidate for congress, who pledged support of the provisions of the measure if elected next month. While the pension and higher pay provisions of the act apply to the next congress, each session writes its own rules and there has been some discussion as to whether the new session would accept reductions of committees and other measures which take away some of the personal power of congressmen.

"I have always been close to the LaFollette and have felt Bob LaFollette's work in congress has been outstanding," Mr. Beveridge said. "His contribution to American history will live forever, for no other reason than the passage of the bill that bears his name. I am wholeheartedly in favor of the measure and if I'm elected, I will support all of its provisions as passed at the last session."

REACTIVATE 83D AS RESERVE UNIT

2 Regiments to Be Located Here, Ft. Wayne.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—The 83d infantry division which trained at Camp Atterbury, Ind., for world war II will be reactivated as a reserve division composed of units from Indiana and Ohio, according to an announcement here today from headquarters of fifth service command.

Two regiments will be located in Indiana, the 329th with headquarters at Indianapolis, and the 330th with headquarters at Ft. Wayne.

Of the 329th regiment, headquarters 1st battalion will be at Terre Haute, 2d battalion at Anderson and 3d battalion at Evansville.

Col. Ramsey in Command
Battalion headquarters of the 330th regiment will be located as follows: 1st battalion at South Bend, 2d battalion at Kokomo.

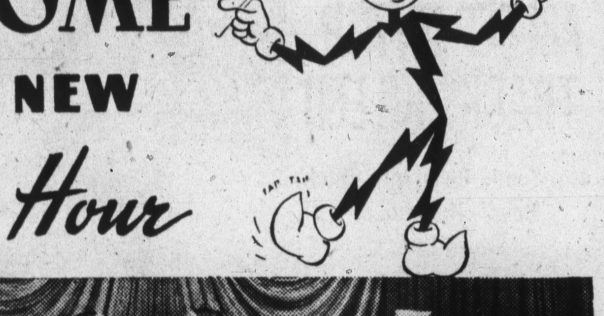

Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beighler, commanding general of the 5th service command has announced that Col. Russell A. Ramsey, an infantry officer from Sandusky, O., has been appointed acting division commander. During world war II he served as chief of staff of the famed Buckeye (37th) division on Luzon. He spent 43 months overseas.

Col. Robert W. Chamerlin, a field artillery officer from Cleveland, O., has been appointed division artillery commander. He served in both the Pacific and ETO.

The 83d "Thunderbolt" division was first organized in world war I in September, 1917, and went overseas in June, 1918. The division was reactivated at Camp Atterbury on Aug. 15, 1942, and sailed for the ETO in April, 1944.

It spearheaded a drive to the Roer river, and established a bridgehead over the Elbe river.
