

Goering 'Broken,' Sauckel Psycopathic In Death Row Cells

EXECUTION DUE IN SEVEN DAYS IF PLEAS FAIL

Former Nazi Slave Boss Wants Reich to Use Sailboats.

NUERNBERG, Oct. 9 (U. P.).—An army spokesman said today that Hermann Goering had become a shattered and broken man.

Pritz Sauckel, another of the 11 condemned Nazi war criminals, was said to have become a "mental case."

Maj. Frederick Teich, army security officer for the Nuernberg prison, reported the fallings of two of the Nazis awaiting probable execution a week from today.

Only yesterday Maj. Teich said that none of the condemned men had shown any sign of breakdown. It appeared probable that in describing Goering as a completely broken man he was speaking in a general manner without reference to any current change in his condition.

Wants to Drain North Sea. Maj. Teich held another of the press conferences instituted yesterday by the army for the avowed purpose of dispelling some of the secrecy shrouding the case.

He said Sauckel, Nazi slave labor boss, had been propounding scientific theories both unique and fantastic. He recommended, Teich said, harnessing the North sea winds in order to drain the sea and use the land for farming. He also recommended that Germany abandon steam and diesel engines in favor of sailing vessels because of the country's coal and metal shortage.

Maj. Teich said Goering, although a broken man, gets no sympathy from his fellow prisoners.

Sympathize With Jodi. Col. Gen. Alfred Jodi has the sympathy of the other Nazis. Maj. Teich said, and they think his request for a soldier's death by shooting instead of hanging should be granted.

The others are hostile toward Marshal Wilhelm Keitel on grounds that he forfeited the right of any consideration by overstepping the bounds of the Prussian military code.

The wife of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder has been missing since Sept. 26 when she left Berlin with a Russian escort to visit her husband here, Maj. Teich reported.

He said Raeder was worried and depressed by the disappearance of his wife.

Council Begins Study of Appeals

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (U. P.).—The allied control council today considered 10 appeals from convicted Nuernberg defendants.

It adjourned after a 3 1/2-hour session without a report on what action had been taken.

The council considered 10 of the 16 appeals today. The council will meet again tomorrow afternoon. It was indicated a communique may be issued after that session.

High American military government officials predicted that all the Nuernberg verdicts would be upheld.

If the council sustains the sentences, Hermann Goering and 10 of his colleagues will die on the gallows a week from today, and the other convicts will begin serving prison terms.

The control council can ease but not increase the sentences.

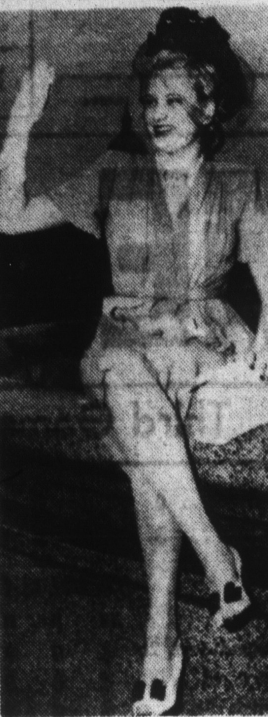

Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig of France is now the chairman under a system of rotation. Other councilors are Gen. Joseph T. McNarney of the United States, Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky of Russia and Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas of Great Britain.

7TH DISTRICT GOP GROUP BACKS NOLAND

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 9 (U. P.).—A group of seventh district Republicans today urged the defeat of Rep. Gerald Landis (R. Ind.), and said they would support Democratic Congressional Nominee James E. Noland.

Organized as the Republican Noland for Congress club, the group called upon Republicans in the district to "scratch" the ballot in favor of Mr. Noland in the fall election.

Goodwill Tourist

Miss Rhonda Kelly, "Miss Australia of 1946," is pictured shortly after her arrival at Union Station, Washington, D. C. She is in the U. S. on a 6-months "goodwill tour."

PROBE RUSSIAN ENVOY INCIDENT

U. S. Ready to Apologize if Rudeness Was Shown.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (U. P.).—The United States will apologize readily if investigation shows that Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Novikov was treated rudely on his return to this country from Paris, informed quarters indicated today.

In a strong note to the state department, the Soviet embassy protested that Mr. Novikov was handled discourteously by customs officials at New York Friday in what it called an "unheard of breach of diplomatic immunity." Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson promptly ordered an investigation.

Customs Commissioner William R. Johnson said Mr. Novikov was extended "all the usual diplomatic courtesies" and that his baggage was passed without examination within 15 minutes after it reached officers at La Guardia airport.

Incident Believed Magnified

Informed quarters here said the Russian ambassador was within his rights in insisting upon prompt and courteous clearance but a feeling persisted that perhaps the incident had been a bit magnified. Mr. Novikov was described as a stickler for diplomatic niceties.

The Soviet note said the ambassador was subjected to the same restrictions as other passengers without regard to his diplomatic immunity; was prevented from telephoning the Soviet consul in New York; held for more than an hour until he signed certain forms; and that his luggage was held even after he himself was released.

Customary Declaration

The Soviet embassy said it expected the state department to investigate the incident immediately, bring those responsible to account, and prevent similar incidents in the future.

Ambassadors customarily are free from most customs regulations but normally sign statements enumerating their luggage.

Customs Commissioner Johnson said the declaration Mr. Novikov was required to sign is the same one President Truman and Winston Churchill sign when they enter the United States.

Although Mr. Johnson said Mr. Novikov's luggage was cleared within 15 minutes, customs collector Harry M. Durning said the ambassador was delayed while a deputy collector telephoned to him to determine whether the Russian ambassador was required to sign.

Mr. Durning said Mr. Novikov was told he did not have to sign but that he did so anyway, and left after a delay of slightly more than an hour.

Another version came from health officials here who said their agents in New York did not pass Mr. Novikov through immediately because they had not been told he would be on the plane.

when he says that the Nuernberg-Nazi trials are a perversion of Anglo-American traditions of law and justice," Senator Willis commented.

"We never have believed in export-facto law, except in some of our frontier cases in the wild west days."

"Senator Taft certainly has one of the finest legalistic minds of our time and his statement was courageous if impolitic."

"For myself I feel that the conscience of mankind demanded trial and punishment for these Nazi criminals. Were we to follow through and try all aggressors, it is difficult to see how Mr. Stalin could escape, except for the fact that he was an ally."

"Everywhere I went I found fear of further aggression from the Russian dictatorship, augmented by Communists boring from within."

HOFFMANN PLEDGES 'STAFF ON MERIT'

Selection of a staff based upon merit regardless of political affiliations was pledged by Joseph O. Hoffmann, Democratic candidate for juvenile court judge, in a luncheon meeting speech at the Central Y. W. C. A. today.

"The judge of juvenile court must surround himself with a qualified staff, chosen for his knowledge of community resources, respect for family relationships and the problems of children," he said.

Outlining his policy on probation, Mr. Hoffmann said:

"The juvenile court judge must constantly keep in mind the fact that probation is a valuable instrument for returning delinquent children to a place in society but only when it is used with firmness and consistency."

The Bi-Partisan Juvenile court committee, declaring that the pres-

POLICE ARREST MAN ON GAMING CHARGE

Police last night arrested Nick Kmezik, room 2, Hooster hotel, 440 Massachusetts ave., on charges of keeping a gaming house after they broke up an alleged poker game in his room.

Three other men were arrested on charges of gaming. The officers confiscated a deck of cards and $13.

Four boys were taken to the juvenile aid department when police found them playing pin ball machines in a drugstore at Belmont ave. and Miller st., owned by Joe Hurley, 1502 S. Belmont ave.

Hurley was arrested on charges of keeping a gaming house, another man was charged with gaming and one was arrested for disorderly conduct. Two pin ball machines were confiscated.

ent court presided over by Judge Mark W. Rhoads is deficient in many respects, has endorsed Mr. Hoffmann as a candidate for the judgeship.

PREPARE GARSSON CASE FOR U. S. JURY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (U. P.).—Justice department lawyers worked over evidence in the Garsson munitions case today. They prepared to go before a federal grand jury here tomorrow.

Secrecy surrounded the sensational new development in the case of the $78,000,000 Midwest munitions empire.

The empire was founded with a borrowed letterhead by Dr. Henry Garsson and his brother, Murray W. Garsson. Subsequently, it was investigated by the senate war investigating committee for alleged war profiteering.

Rep. Andrew J. May (D. Ky.), chairman of the house military affairs committee, was "guardian angel" for the Garssons, according to testimony put before the senators. Attorney Gen. Tom C. Clark an-

HUNTINGTON OPENS 'KEEP MEAT' DRIVE

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 9 (U. P.).—In an effort to keep home-grown meat in home territory, Huntington county farmers were asked today to sell livestock exclusively to two local packing companies.

A resolution signed by Huntington's three-man board of works urged farmers to sell their cattle, hogs and sheep to either the Huntington or Shutt Produce Cos. The meat then would be retailed only in the county.

The resolution was approved by the city council, was signed by Mayor Roy Howell, City Attorney Ray Ade and City Engineer J. B. Vernon.

ounced that William A. Paisley of the criminal division, armed with evidence uncovered by the FBI, will handle the justice department's case before the grand jury.

EXHIBITION OF LENA DRAWINGS NEAR END

The public will have its last opportunity tomorrow to see the Lena the Hyena contest drawings in the Wm. H. Block Co.'s Market st. display window.

Thousands have jammed around the window for a week now to see the some 5000 entries submitted in the recent Times contest.

Meanwhile, L.L. Abner fans are anxiously waiting for Oct. 21 when the winning conception of Lena the Hyena in the national contest will appear in the comic strip in The Times.

Judges in New York city are going over the winners from cities coast to coast, including the winning drawing in The Times contest. The Indianapolis award went to Francis E. Fitzgerald, 111 E. 16th st.

Knightstown Will Entertain K. of P.

Times State Service
KNIGHTSTOWN, Ind., Oct. 9.—The local Knights of Pythias will be host to a district convention of the grand lodge here Oct. 14. An afternoon conference with the grand lodge officers will start the meeting. The rank of page will be conferred on a large class of candidates during the evening meeting by the grand lodge officers. Representatives are expected from Richmond, Cambridge City, New Castle, Hagerstown, Straughn, Abington, Williamsburg and Green's Fork.

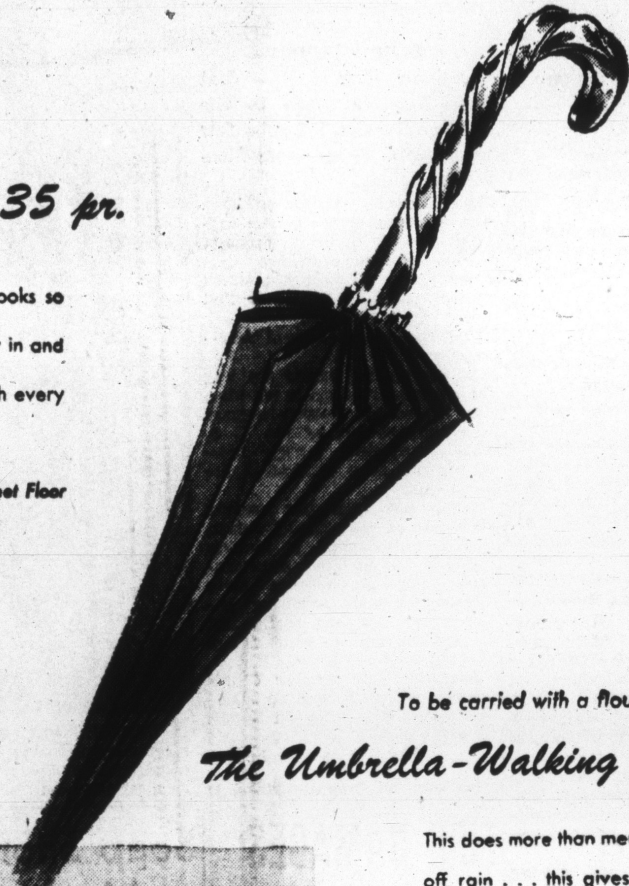

Murray Thomas, district deputy grand chancellor, of Dunreith, Ind., will have charge of the meeting. State officials expected to attend include Otto R. Shuman, Waterloo, grand chancellor, and Harvey T. Ott, Wolf Lake, grand vice chancellor.

All Silk Stockings
by Majud 3.35 pr.

In the wonderful non-run lockstitch that looks so pretty on your leg . . . wears so well, day in and day out. In a new fall color that goes with every costume.

Hosiery, Street Floor

To be carried with a flourish . . .

The Umbrella-Walking Stick!

This does more than merely keep off rain . . . this gives a whole new look to your costume! Very new and an important accessory . . . with lucite or wooden handles, 8.50

Umbrella Shop, Street Floor

Mesh Trimmed Felts
10.95 and 12.50

Gleaming bands of "golden" mesh accent the deep, rich beauty of these fur felts. Black or brown.

Millinery, Third Floor

Finger Free Gloves

by Merry Hull

3.00

Good idea in glove construction . . . this special panel design that gives your fingers new freedom, a new extra-smooth fit. In black or brown broad-cloth.

Gloves, Street Floor

2.00

L. S. Ayres & Co.