

British Policy On World Trouble Areas Revealed By Bevin

FEELS DIVISION OF EUROPE CAN BE PREVENTED

Charges Some States With Furthering Own Interests.

LONDON, Oct. 22 (U. P.).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told Commons today in a review of British foreign policy that there can be no recovery in Europe unless a lasting division between the east and the west can be prevented.

Reviewing the work of the Paris peace conference, Mr. Bevin charged that "some states" had taken chances to further their selfish interests "without regard to the general good," adding:

"We have seen states swayed not by the merits of the case, but by ideological sympathies."

Waves Olive Branch In effect waving an olive branch to the Soviet bloc against which the western powers were aligned at Paris, Mr. Bevin said:

"Despite a suggestion that a division between the east and the west is becoming evident, I felt that that division could be prevented. But if it is not, there can be no recovery for Europe."

Observing that "Yugoslavia had announced it would not sign a treaty as drafted tentatively for Italy," Mr. Bevin continued:

"I hope the Yugoslav government will withdraw from this extreme position."

Mr. Bevin enunciated British policy on world trouble areas in these words:

GREECE—"We will not desert Greece. . . . We shall take the British troops out of Greece as early as we can."

IRAN—"We have given definite orders that there is to be no interference with the government itself."

INDONESIA—"British troops will be out of Indonesia by Nov. 30."

JAPAN—"The task ahead is to insure that the Japanese have neither resources nor desire to tread the path of aggression again."

MIDDLE EAST—"The government will respect, sustain and develop the independence" of the peoples of the Middle East—"Not only the Arab countries."

EGYPT—"Negotiations are under way for a new treaty 'founded on the identity of interests and principles of partnership and mutual responsibility.'"

DARDANELLES—"Britain will insist on the sovereignty of Turkey and the 'interests of other powers concerned outside the Black Sea area.'"

ITALY—"We are looking forward to renewing relations on a most cordial basis with a new democratic Italy."

Mr. Bevin derided as "sheer nonsense" what he called allegations that the British want to oppress and exploit the peoples of the middle east.

CRISPUS ATTACKS SINGERS PROGRAM SET

Crispus Attacks high school singers will present a special auditorium program at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at Broad Ripple high school. Norman Merrifield, head of the Crispus Attacks music department, and Mrs. Marion Burch, girls' club director, will be in charge of the entertainment.

The program will include "The Lord's Prayer" and "At Dawning," by the girls' club; "Good Lord Done Done" and "Hard Trials," the boys' quartet; "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel" and "Old MacDonald's Farm," boys' glee club; "Spirit Flower" and "There is a Balm," girls' concert club, and "Fantasia Impromptu," a piano solo by Trillie Stewart.

SAYS A-BOMB NOT A POLICE WEAPON

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (U. P.).—Prof. Harold C. Urey, atomic bomb scientist and former Nobel prize winner, said last night that the bomb would be useless as a police weapon or as a weapon for "preventive war."

"It will be used only by those who believe that the proper way of settling international difficulties is by the resort to war," he said at a dinner commemorating the birthday of Alfred Nobel.

MILDRED A. SCIFRES IS GIVEN AIR MEDAL

Miss Mildred A. Scifres, 1315 E. Southern ave., a former flight nurse in the Alaskan wing of the air transport command, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement.

Miss Scifres, a former 1st Lt. was cited for superior performance of her duties in caring for seriously ill patients. A native of Seymour, she is a graduate of the Indiana university nursing school.

OFFICIAL WEATHER

United States Weather Bureau—All Data in Central Standard Time—Oct. 21, 1946.

Reported 6:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. Precipitation 24 hrs. ending 7:30 a. m. Oct. 21. Total precipitation since Jan. 1, 1946.

The following table shows the temperature in other cities:

Atlanta 65, Boston 65, Chicago 65, Cincinnati 65, Denver 65, Evansville 65, Ft. Worth 65, Indianapolis 65, Kansas City 65, Los Angeles 65, Miami 65, New Orleans 65, New York 65, Philadelphia 65, St. Louis 65, St. Paul 65, San Francisco 65, Washington, D. C. 65.

Capt. G. P. Kraker to Receive Naval Award From Nimitz

Capt. George P. Kraker, commanding officer of the Indianapolis naval ordnance plant, will receive the navy's fourth highest award—the Legion of Merit—from Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz here on Saturday.

The Gold Star, emblematic of the third citation, will be presented to Capt. Kraker during a dinner given by the Indianapolis Navy League Navy day committee in the Naval armory.

The dinner is one of the highlights of the Navy day celebration. The public will have an opportunity to see Adm. Nimitz at 11:30 a. m. when he presents the battle flag of the Battleship Indiana to Governor Gates on the porch above the marquee at the Hotel English. The circle will be blocked off for the public to witness the ceremony.

First Award

Capt. Kraker first received the Legion of Merit from the secretary of the navy for outstanding service as commanding officer of the U. S. S. Marblehead and commander of a major support unit prior to and during the amphibious invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

From March to October, 1945, he served as chief of staff to Vice Admiral George D. Murray, then commander forward area central Pacific and commander of the Marianas, and was awarded a gold star in lieu of a second Legion of Merit for distinguished service in that capacity.

The newest citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

Capt. George P. Kraker

gaged in escort of trans-Atlantic convoys."

Capt. Kraker also will sit at the speakers' table at the luncheon the Navy league will give in honor of Adm. Nimitz at the Indianapolis Athletic club at 1 p. m. The public is invited to the luncheon and reservations still are available. Reservations may be made by calling the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

First Award

Capt. Kraker first received the Legion of Merit from the secretary of the navy for outstanding service as commanding officer of the U. S. S. Marblehead and commander of a major support unit prior to and during the amphibious invasion of southern France in August, 1944.

From March to October, 1945, he served as chief of staff to Vice Admiral George D. Murray, then commander forward area central Pacific and commander of the Marianas, and was awarded a gold star in lieu of a second Legion of Merit for distinguished service in that capacity.

The newest citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

The citation, signed by Adm. James H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, is for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services while acting as an Atlantic fleet escort commander en route to Europe."

EXPLOSION PLOT REWARD POSTED

Offer $2500 for Information On Stuttgart Blast.

STUTTGART, Oct. 22 (U. P.).—An estimated 75,000 Stuttgart workers staged a 15-minute "strike" today as a mass protest against reactionary circles and former Nazis whom they blamed for the bombing of three government buildings.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American military governor, announced in Berlin today that a reward of $2500 had been posted by Stuttgart authorities for the apprehension of persons responsible for the attacks.

No one was injured in the Saturday bombings, but German denazification headquarters in Stuttgart and Backnang, and the American provost marshal's office in Stuttgart were damaged.

Demonstration Is Quiet

Officials said today's protest demonstration was carried out quietly and that no incidents were reported. All street cars stopped at 11 a. m. People stood quietly in the streets.

Workers merely dropped their tools and listened to speeches which emphasized the significance of the bombings. The speeches were delivered by members of the workers' own labor councils.

Denies Cabinet Resigns

ATHENS, Oct. 22 (U. P.).—Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris today denied published reports that the entire Greek cabinet had resigned.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

THE WEATHER FORECAST VIA ACME TELEPHOTO
Preview of U. S. Weather Bureau Forecast for Period Ending 7:30 AM EST 10-23-46

Cloudy Areas

LEGEND
SCATTERED SHOWERS
DRIZZLE
SNOW SHOWERS AND FLURRIES
AFFECTED AREA
SNOW
RAIN

NATIONAL 24-HOUR FORECAST SUMMARY: Only the Northwest will have cloudy skies and rain or snowfall during this forecast period. The rest of the U. S. will be under the influence of mostly dry air and enjoying fair or only partly cloudy weather.

Clear skies are promised the Atlantic states, Upper Lakes Region, Upper Mississippi Valley, East Gulf states; also, parts of the Tennessee and Ohio Valley states. Mild air will be flowing over most of the areas mentioned and moderate temperatures will prevail Tuesday night.

Warm air is shown circulating inland over the west Gulf states, while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday morning will be in Wyoming where thermometer readings will be around 20 degrees in mountainous areas and 25 to 35 degrees at other points in the state.

High winds on the Northwest Pacific Coast will decrease to fresh west-northwest air flow by Tuesday night. Wind velocities over the Great Lakes will be around 20 to 25 miles per hour.

The fair weather over the east coast links with a ridge of high pressure dominant through the Middle Atlantic and East Gulf states. Another cell of high pressure controls the Upper Mississippi Valley where cool air from the North Pacific is circulating.

while moist, tropical air is flowing inland over the southern portion of the Florida peninsula causing warm, sultry conditions there, south of the stationary front. The warm front in eastern Texas will be weak indicating an absence of precipitation and only scattered high clouds.

Snow and snow flurries are noted for some sections of the Northwest in addition to the rainfall, especially in the mountains of western Wyoming and Montana. An active frontal system advancing east and southward is responsible for the overcast skies and stormy conditions in that sector. Lowest temperatures Tuesday