

Anti-American Bloc In Labor Party Seeks Bevin's Scalp

Sunnyside Hospital Building Plans Indefinitely Delayed

The year-old plans for a $2,700,000 building program for the Marion County Tuberculosis hospital at Sunnyside will be delayed indefinitely, members of the hospital board of managers indicated last night.

Blue prints for a new seven-story unit to increase the hospital bed capacity from 243 to 600 were submitted to the board by Vonnegut & Wright, architects, who are being paid $83,000.

Of this fund, $53,000 was a grant from the federal government and $30,000 was loaned by the state from a fund created by the last legislature for use in getting post-war projects started.

Hospital board members explained that the plans were only preliminary and were prepared in order to be ready for expansion when conditions are right for it.

Before proceeding with any construction contracts, board members said they will await a report of a special committee of the Indianapolis Medical society on the future needs of the hospital.

Many members of the society have voiced opposition to the expansion at the present time.

Opposition to the project also has been voiced by Ray Mendenhall, one of three county commissioners, who refused to sign the contract with architects a year ago.

"There has been no evidence submitted to the commissioners to show that a project of this kind is needed now," he said.

The contract with the architects was signed by Commissioners William T. Ayres and William Bosson, a year ago, with Mr. Mendenhall dissenting.

18,000 MORE JAPS RETURN TO HOMES

TOKYO, Nov. 14 (U. P.)—An additional 18,066 Japanese nationals, including 12,372 from Manchuria, were repatriated between Nov. 4 and 10, allied headquarters reported today.

A total of 4,967,413 Japanese have been repatriated since the war's end and 1,008,558 remain to be returned to their homeland, headquarters said.

Named 'Monarchs' of Decatur Hop

Joy Ann Nelson

Raymond Horner

Joy Ann Nelson and Raymond Horner, Decatur Central high school students, have been elected to reign as queen and king at the Pigskin Hop, the school's dance in honor of the football team, tomorrow night in the school gym. They were selected by the Sunshine society and the Hi-Y club.

Their attendants will be Mary Ann Moore, Jean Ross, Charlotte Cain, John Seerley, Donald Burkhardt and Howard Mills. Arrangements for the dance are under supervision of the Sunshine society and the Hi-Y club.

BRITISH-SOVIET TIE IS DESIRED BY DISSENTERS

Attlee Calls Cabinet After Caucus Fails to End Revolt.

By SEXON E. HUMPHREYS

Times Telegraph Editor

The Labor government of Great Britain was embarrassed today by a rank-and-file revolt among its members of parliament against Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's foreign policy.

The revolt was serious enough to result in convocation of a special cabinet meeting today.

American correspondents in London were in some disagreement as to the seriousness of the revolt.

Ludwell Denny, Scripps-Howard staff writer, said flatly that the minority discontent could not yet force a change in Britain's policy.

Charles T. Hallinan, United Press staff correspondent, cabled, "Responsible Laborites quarters acknowledged that Mr. Bevin was in some danger of being overthrown."

Bloc Is Anti-American

Mr. Bevin's opponents are anti-American, pro-Soviet in their attitudes. They wished to see Hugh Dalton step into Mr. Bevin's shoes. They said Mr. Dalton's first move would be to fly to Moscow to seek an understanding with the Kremlin on eastern Europe and the Middle East. Mr. Bevin has taken a firm stand against Soviet policies.

The Evening Star today referred to Mr. Dalton as a "British Henry Wallace."

The anti-Bevin bloc's argument, in its crudest form, is that imperialistic capitalist America has duped Prime Minister Clement Attlee and Mr. Bevin into doing its dirty work for dollar diplomacy. The argument goes on to say that America now is trying to conscript the British working class to fight America's war against Socialist Russia — while America furnishes the money and the atom bombs.

U. S. Policy Imperiled

Should this point of view prevail, it would of course put in grave jeopardy the policy of American Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Mr. Denny asserts that even if the revolt is unsuccessful it may have an effect upon Moscow which would endanger Mr. Byrnes' success. There have been some indications recently that Russia is turning to a policy of blandishments rather than bludgeoning.

"Any sign that Anglo-American unit was collapsing from within would be an invitation to Moscow not only to continue but to intensify its wrecking technique," Mr. Denny points out.

Although the Conservative party probably enjoys the possibility of a split in its opponent's ranks, it was pledged to full support of the Attlee-Bevin foreign policy by Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary and heir apparent to Winston Churchill for the Tory leadership.

Ask Change in King's Speech

The revolt came in a manner peculiar to British parliamentary practice, in the proposal of "amendments to the speech from the throne."

The speech delivered Tuesday by King George VI at the opening of the new British parliamentary session was written by the cabinet, in accordance with British tradition. Its foreign affairs section was undoubtedly prepared for Mr. Attlee largely by Mr. Bevin.

Yesterday, 59 members of the Labor party proposed two changes in the speech already made.

One demanded that the government "recast its conduct of international affairs to afford the utmost encouragement to and collaboration with all nations and groups striving to secure full Socialist planning and control of the world's resources." A second amendment opposed the proposal for peacetime conscription.

Caucus Votes Censure

A long argument by Mr. Attlee won over only three of the revoltors. Then a party caucus was called and Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, proposed a censure of the rebels. This resolution won 126 votes to 33 against. But 120 abstained from voting and 11 were absent.

This left only 32 per cent of the 390 Labor members in the house of commons actively supporting Mr. Attlee and Mr. Bevin.

Mr. Bevin himself was absent from today's meeting. He is in New York giving his support to Mr. Byrnes against the Russian V. M. Molotov in the Big Four council.

Chief McMurtry Frees Treppe Of Blame in Squad Car Wreck

Police Chief McMurtry said today roof-mounted loudspeaker on how that no charges will be filed against to walk and drive carefully.

Sgt. Treppe said that while checking cycle squads he had gone into the Sahara Grotto home, 4107 E. Washington st. to attend a ceremonial.

According to Chief McMurtry, the sergeant had received permission from Capt. Harry Bailey to check cycle squads in the car because it was pouring rain.

Sgt. Treppe, in plainclothes, is alleged to have sideswiped a car driven by George W. Myers, 8600 E. Washington st., when his wheels caught in the car tracks in the 4200 block on E. Washington st.

William H. Remy, safety board president, requested an investigation when he saw the wrecked car in Municipal garage. The car had been used to cruise on downtown streets instructing persons from a Police Chief McMurtry said that Mr. Myers believed the accident would not have happened had the street been dry.

Await Legislative Meeting

Executive officers of the Indiana chapter will appoint committees to make personal contact with local representatives throughout Indiana.

The executive officers also will appoint a representative to assist in formulating legislation concerning the movement.

When the bill is brought up for hearing in the legislature, the chapter plans to be "forcefully represented by the presence of a large representative group of Methodists."

E. J. Fricke, lay leader of North Methodist church, is president of the state chapter.

Methodist Federation for Social Service.

LOCAL OPTION PLAN BACKED

Methodist Group to Contact State Representatives.

The state chapter of the Methodist Federation for Social Service today announced resolutions endorsing a local option program titled "Let the People Vote."

The program calls for a local option law which will permit a majority in each community to decide what regulations shall be passed in the community concerning sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Indiana chapter met yesterday in the North Methodist church and was addressed by the Rev. Jack R. McMichael of New York.

Every Methodist in the state is to be asked by the chapter to make contact with his representatives and advise them that he is definitely in favor of legislation to foster the program.

In a four

Just as in

Just as in