

11 Army Airmen Killed as B-29 Burns in N. M.

Week-end Plane Death Toll Reaches 90

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 28 (U. P.)—Eleven army airmen perished when their B-29 Superfortress crashed and burned yesterday under conditions which were strikingly similar to those in recent crashes at London and Copenhagen.

The crash, the seventh major air disaster within the last five days, occurred when the air giant dropped to the earth in a ravine just one mile beyond a runway at Kirtland army air base.

Memorial services were scheduled for today for the 10 airmen who were killed in the crash and an eleventh who died in an Albuquerque hospital shortly after he was pulled from the burning wreckage.

No hoosiers were among the victims as announced by the army.

Has 50-50 Chance
One airman—T. Sgt. Francis L. Podelsky—survived. He was taken to the Albuquerque veterans' hospital and today was given a 50-50 chance to live.

The crash raised to 90 the number of persons killed or missing in a week-end wave of plane crashes that also struck at Shanghai, Hong Kong, London, Copenhagen, Bogota, Colombia and Rensselaer, Ind.

Circumstances of the crash were amazingly similar to those in the crashes at London, involving a transport plane, and at Copenhagen, in which opera star Grace

Dr. Sessions, Former Head Of Clermont School, Dies

Services and Burial Tomorrow at Anna, Ill.

Dr. Kenosha Sessions, for 30 years superintendent of the Indiana Girls' school at Clermont, died yesterday in her native town of Anna, Ill. She was 84.

It was during Dr. Sessions' administration, beginning in 1911, that many of the institution's present facilities were developed. She resigned in 1941.

Former associates of the physician recalled her oft-repeated pledge to girls who were committed to the penal institution during the quarter-century:

"I shall try to give you the best of everything—food, housing, even literature."

Forceful, yet serene, the unmarried superintendent was known by inmates and fellow-workers alike for her good humor and inspiring leadership.

In 1893, she received a medical degree from the woman's medical school of Northwestern university. Post-graduate study at the Chicago medical college earned her an M. A. degree.

In 1897 she was appointed assistant physician-in-charge at the Evansville State Hospital for the Insane. She also was a member of county, state and national medical groups, Child Welfare League of America, and other social welfare agencies.

An unidentified cousin living in California is believed to be the only survivor. Services and burial will be held tomorrow at Anna.

Church Told To Train Men For Politics

Judd Tells Pastors Step Is Important

By EMMA RIVERS MILNER
Times Church Editor

The church must train men in Christian principles and send them into politics to work for good government.

Dr. Walter Judd, Republican representative to congress from Minnesota, thus charged Protestants last night at the meeting of the Indiana Pastors' conference in the Third Christian church.

"The Church's Task in Today's World," as he sees it, was made clear by the representative and one-time medical missionary to China. He looked back to history and recalled that the church failed in her influence and her duty to a chaotic world in various periods.

He expressed hope that she would fulfill her task now. But he indicated it would take "some doing." He spoke of the crying need for Christian men in politics as well as every other field of endeavor.

Important Step
For the church to release her trained members to politics is one of the most important steps toward world peace, he said.

"Without good government," he explained, "we cannot have peace."

"I consider myself just as much a Christian missionary, serving in the congress as I did when I was a medical missionary to China."

In an elaborate analysis of the necessary elements of peace, he named friendly relations between the countries of the world, order, justice and the proper use of force. He mentioned that widely different states, such as Vermont and Virginia, became integrated in the United States after the Civil war.

In the same manner, he hopes to see the nations of the world strive together for peace in the United Nations. And he spoke of the heartening fact that all the nations are "in" the organization.

Hopeful of Future
Dr. Judd closed his address by saying he was hopeful of the future because an increasing number of men and women "recognize that God rules."

The theme of the annual Indiana State Pastors' conference is "One World, the Challenge of the Church." Every speaker at the meeting has been giving his diagnosis of the world's ills and suggesting remedies for the church to apply. The meeting will close tomorrow afternoon.

"Don't fight Russia, forget her," Dr. D. Elton Trueblood advised the conference. "Don't always be bringing up that bogeyman. Invigorate our present community life to such a degree that it will win in the modern world."

'Can't Influence Communism'
"Those who have faith in Russia consider their idealism something new, pioneering, belonging to the future. Western democracy seems old, weak, divided, unsure and uncertain by comparison. We can't influence communism but we can affect the mentality of our people and the character of our faith."

"We also say too much about the spectacular gains of Catholicism. As I see it, the spectacular gains have come about because of the weakness of Protestantism rather than superior strength of Catholicism."

Tonight, Pastor Martin Niemöller of Germany will speak at 8 p. m. in Cade tabernacle. His topic is, "The Faith That Sustains Me." Pastor Niemöller comes as an "ambassador" from the churches of Germany to those of America. His meeting is the only one of the pastors' conference not held in the Third Christian church.

Dr. Atwater Heads Indiana Pastors

The Indiana State Pastors' conference today elected Dr. Carleton W. Atwater president of the organization. He is pastor of the First Baptist church here.

Dr. R. L. Holland, general secretary of the state council of churches, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The Rev. John W. Myers, Ft. Wayne, was named vice president.

The election was held during the annual session in the Third Christian church, 17th st. and Broadway.

Truman Commended

In other business, the conference petitioned the state legislature not to legalize gambling in any form for the state. President Truman was commended for establishing his board of amnesty. The board was petitioned to grant general amnesty of all conscientious objectors to war. They asked that civil rights be restored to these men.

The conference went on record supporting current proposals in the legislature for abandoning racial segregation in the public schools and for encouraging the elimination of all racial distinction within the churches of the state.

The proposals of Rep. Gerald Landis (R. Ind.) for the world-wide abolition of conscription were lauded. The President and congress were requested to oppose the passage of military peace-time legislation in this country.

Marines Cut Forces

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (U. P.)—The marine corps moved today to reduce its enlisted personnel to authorized post-war strength—90,000 men. It announced that some 8,000 enlisted men are now eligible for discharge even though their enlistments are not yet up.
