

U.S. Hints Action Outside U.N. To Save Greece From Reds

Charges Russ Veto Supports 3-Nation Plot

'Peace in Grave Peril,' Says American

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 12 (U. P.)—The United States today charged Communists with trying to seize Greece and threatened to act outside the United Nations to stop them, if Russia again vetoes action.

In perhaps the most crucial move yet made in the United Nations security council, Herschel V. Johnson of the United States served notice that the Balkan stalemate would be put before the 55 United Nations at the forthcoming meeting of the general assembly if another Soviet veto prevents peace-keeping action by the council. There is no veto in the assembly.

If the assembly fails, Johnson warned, it cannot stop the western countries from taking individual or collective action to put down what he called an international Communist plot to foist a "minority totalitarian government" on the Greek people.

Mr. Johnson said Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia and the Communist party of Greece were "partners in the plot."

He said Russia was supporting the campaign by using the great power veto to block security council action.

The campaign "has placed peace in grave peril," he said.

"The United States cannot sit idly by," he said, "while the territorial integrity of a United Nations member is threatened."

The council's seven-nation subcommittee reported it had "failed entirely" over the week-end to find a compromise formula "acceptable both to Russia and the United States."

U. S. Troops Reported Alerted for Greece

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 12. — A credible allied source said today that four United States army combat teams have been alerted for transfer from Germany to Greece.

A combat team consists of upward of 500 men, with necessary vehicles and weapons.

There was no official confirmation.

"They certainly would be welcome," commented a Greek army staff spokesman.

The few remaining British troops here are to be withdrawn in the near future.

Blind Sam and Mail Bride Spend Quiet Honeymoon

'Get Married in Red, Wish You Were Dead,' So She Wears 'Blue So They Stay True'

MCCOOK, Neb., Aug. 12 (U. P.)—Blind Sam O'Connor was happy on his honeymoon today—even though his mail-order bride wore blue at the wedding instead of red.

The couple didn't go anywhere for their honeymoon. Mr. O'Connor had to get back to the street corner where he has played his fiddle for many years.

But his bride visited him for a while and they held hands while people gave them their best wishes.

Favored Red Dress

Mr. O'Connor, 67, had wanted his bride to wear the same red velvet and chiffon dress she wore when they took out their license at the Red Willow county court house last Saturday.

But the bride, 30-year-old Dorothy Alice Jean Jerusha of Ada, O., knew better.

"Get married in red, wish you were dead; get married in blue, always be true," she quoted.

Mr. O'Connor let it go at that. It didn't make much difference anyway, because he couldn't see the woman he met through a romance-by-correspondence club.

Zoning board action on a proposed 64-apartment project at 3443-47 Central ave., and 850 Fairfield st. has been postponed until Aug. 25.

50-Second Sirloins Made Possible by Electronics

CHICAGO (U. P.)—A sirloin steak may be cooked in 50 seconds by electronics, a meat authority says.

Redman B. Davis, information department director for the National Live Stock and Meat board, told the board's annual meeting that a husband may never have to wait for a meat dish again if cooking by electronics becomes universal.

In laboratory tests, he said, grilled ham steak was cooked in 50 seconds, hamburgers in 35 seconds, and complete frozen meals thawed out and served hot in two minutes.

Russians Asked to Probe Death of Kaiser's Widow

U. S. Investigators Drop Case, No Americans Involved—Release Girl Friend of Prince

BERLIN, Aug. 12 (U. P.)—O. R. Carlucci, director of the American army criminal investigation division, said today the Soviet military government has indicated it will order an autopsy to determine whether the death of the late Kaiserin Hermine was the result of foul play.

Mr. Carlucci requested the Soviet autopsy after a U. S. investigation of the alleged theft of some $2 million in Hohenzollern crown jewels had raised the possibility Hermine might have been poisoned.

He sent his request to Russian military headquarters in Karlsruhe, Berlin, and said "the Russians have taken the matter under advisement; they indicated they would comply with our request."

No Americans Involved.

Princess Carmo, daughter of Hermine, was in Frankfurt-on-Oder, making arrangements to bring the body to Berlin and Potsdam for burial. It was assumed this would be delayed pending Soviet action on an autopsy.

American investigators dumped the case into the lap of the German police in Berlin after investigation disclosed no Americans were involved in what appeared to be a double-double-cross of the late empress by her two children.

The widow of Kaiser Wilhelm II, in an effort to smuggle her $5 million jewel collection out of the Soviet zone of Germany, fell victim to her son and daughter, Prince Ferdinand and Princess Carmo, each trying to grab the lion's share of the gems without the other knowing, authorities said.

The Double Double-Cross

The American inquiry disclosed that Ferdinand was aided by his shapely and unfaithful mistress, Vera Herbst.

She admitted that she made two trips to Hermine's home in Frankfurt to smuggle back 95 pieces of jewelry for Ferdinand.

When Princess Carmo learned this, she, too, went to Frankfurt for a load of valuables, without telling Ferdinand.

Vera also smuggled out gems which Hermine intended for Carmo. Vera kept six of these pieces until surrendering them to American investigators.

The Americans recovered 25 other pieces from Carmo, who had picked up more jewels even after Hermine died unexpectedly in Frankfurt Thursday.

Tall Brunette Released

Americans arrested Vera, booking her on suspicion of poisoning Hermine. This so frightened Vera that in 13 hours of questioning she told of her role in the multi-million dollar double-cross. The tall brunette was released last night.

"I would almost rather stay here," she said. "When I get home, I am all alone."

Vera said she had been living with Ferdinand for the last year. She freely admitted, however, that

Religious Freedom In Yugoslavia Reported

BELGRADE, Aug. 12 (U. P.)—Eight visiting American clergymen said today that "complete freedom of worship and respect for religious beliefs and institutions" exist in Yugoslavia.

"We are convinced by the many documents we have seen and the people with whom we have talked that the churchmen who have been tried and convicted were punished not as religious believers but as individuals guilty of crimes against people for which they are morally responsible," the clergymen said in a press statement.

They added that the statement covered the case of Catholic Archbishop Stepinac whom the Yugoslav government charged with opposing the Yugoslav government. Clergymen approving the statement included the Rev. George Walker Buckner Jr., Indianapolis.
