Hawley Boomed For Bradley Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—Top medical men in the Veterans Administration are boosting Dr. Paul R. Hawley, medical director, to succeed Gen. Omar N. Bradley as VA chief.

Gen. Bradley is expected to leave VA in the next few months to become army chief of staff.

Mr. Hawley also has been reported planning to leave for a more lucrative job in private practice. Dr. Hawley was in Indianapolis yesterday.

More prominently mentioned for the administrator's job has been Omar W. Clark, a career employee who went to work for VA in 1923. Mr. Clark, as executive assistant administrator, now is No. 2 man in the agency.

Others reportedly in the running are Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, wartime draft director, and Marine Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, who headed the demobilization and re-employment administration.

State Merit Test Set for Oct. 15

The state personnel division today set Oct. 15 as the deadline for applications to take merit examinations for job openings in the employment security division.

Examinations will be given applicants for jobs as switchboard operator, clerk, clerk-stenographer, information writer and information director. Salaries range from a low of $100 a month to a top of $400 a month in the information director category.

Prospective applicants may obtain details of qualifications for the job and procedure for arranging to take examinations by inquiring at any employment security office or any welfare office in the state. Employment Security Director Noble Shaw today.

New Municipal Listings Soar To 40,000

210,000 New Eligible To Cast Vote Nov. 4

By NOBLE REED

The close of an unusually heavy registration of voters for the Nov. 4 municipal election today touched off a flurry of speculation on the possible trends in balloting here.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders saw signs of victory in their interpretation of voter listings that totaled about 40,000 during the 1947 registration period beginning last May.

The 40,000 listings up to the deadline of last midnight will bring the total number of persons eligible to vote in the city election to an estimated 210,000 according to incomplete tabulations of the registration board.

New Registrations Heavy

Total city registrations last May were estimated at 180,000. Of the 40,000 new listings, which include transfers, the registration board estimated that about 30,000 would be new registrations.

Democratic leaders campaigning to elect Al G. Feeney in the mayoralty contest jubilantly estimated that a majority of the new 30,000 registrations were Democratic voters.

"On the basis of figures compiled from our mass of registration workers, we have estimated that at least 65 per cent of the new voter listings will vote Democratic," declared Walter C. Boetcher, county Democratic chairman.

GOP Equally Jubilant

Republican campaign leaders in the headquarters of William H. Wenner, GOP mayoralty candidate, were equally jubilant over the heavy registration.

They challenged Democratic estimates that the new listings represented an increase in Democratic sentiment among the voters.

Wenner backers were predicting on the basis of total registrations that their candidate would win by a majority of 10,000 to 20,000.

Exceed 1946 Listings

Registrations for the municipal election since last May exceeded the total listings in the pre-campaign registration period for the 1946 election.

The total vote cast in the last municipal election in 1942 was 131,781 in the race between the late Robert Tyndall and Dewey Myers. Gen. Tyndall won that election by a majority of more than 6,000 votes.

Election officials are estimating that the total vote Nov. 4 may run close to 140,000 or 150,000.

course we'll co-operate. We may find that if we can substitute fowl for meat one day and meat for fowl another we're not going to save much."

H. E. Duke, Guarantee Cafeteria, Indianapolis: "When Pearl Harbor came along folks who hated the thought of war became zealous fighters overnight. If the need is sufficiently great, the American public can be induced to join this fight to save food."

T. D. Adams, Seville Cafe, Indianapolis: "Any person with an adult outlook knows if we have a job to be done, it has to be done. I think the public will react favorably."

A quick check of eating places indicated that the larger ones, many of them, were caught unprepared for meatless Tuesday. Proprietors of these places expressed belief the cause of food conservation could not be served by letting good meat spoil, so they had to go ahead and serve it.

Every restaurant or dining room checked indicated Thursday's no-fowl, no-eggs rule would be observed and so will meatless Tuesdays from now on. How long the observation will last generally, spokesmen agreed, depends on the customers.

Two Arabs Killed As House Is Blown Up

JERUSALEM, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—The Jewish underground army Haganah blew up a house in an orange grove near Lydda airport today as a "punitive" measure.

Two Arabs were killed and two others wounded.

A Haganah communique said the underground army had evidence proving that the two Arabs who were killed were the ones who shot and killed two Jews—Walter Edin and Hans Lowenberg—last Friday. The wounded Arabs were a woman and a boy.

SANDHURST, England, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—Six cadets at the Sandhurst military training college today were ordered confined to their barracks 28 days for taking Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's famous beret while he was eating and hanging it on the statue of a lion.

Red 'Information Bureau' Has Its Disadvantages

PARIS, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—The Communists were believed today only to have made it tougher for themselves in France and Italy.

They did this by setting up their nine-nation "Information Bureau" to torpedo the Marshall and Truman plans and stop western democracy in Europe, observers said.

The Communist parties of France and Italy were the only ones outside the Iron Curtain to be let in on the scheme.

This was taken to mean that the governments of France and Italy would be the first targets of the "Information Bureau."

At the same time, it became clear that the Communists had ruined their chances of getting back into the French and Italian governments as members of a coalition. Getting control of key cabinet posts has been a favorite Communist method of capturing governments "legally."

The Communists are major parties in France and Italy.
