Game time: 1:30 p. m.

Butler University's Bulldogs will play their last home game of the current football season tomorrow in the bowl as they attempt to defend their Indiana Intercollegiate Conference championship against Valparaiso at 1:30 p. m.

Fathers of members of the team will be the guests of the athletic department for the contest. Each father will wear his son's number onto the field before the game. Following the game, the dads will be the guests at a reception, dinner and showing of football movies in the university cafeteria, according to Paul D. Hinkle, athletic director. So far this season, the Bulldogs have won three and tied one in IIC play. In winning from DePauw, Wabash and St. Joseph's and tying Ball State, Butler has outscored them 79 to 13.

Alters Lineup

Coach Hinkle has worked all week switching players into the vacant positions left open by the ineligibility of his seven migrant players and the injury of regular backs Bill Sylvester and Orville Williams. Starting in the backfield for the Bulldogs probably will be Lester Esary at right half, David Peterson at quarterback, and either Jim Rosenthal or Dick Bennett at left half.

Limited Action

Bennett has seen only limited action for the past two weeks because of a lingering cold but both Esary and Peterson have played regularly as substitutes with Rosenthal. Butler's seven "iron" men of the line will be starting their eighth consecutive game together as a unit this fall.

Valpo's main offensive threat are passers Harvey Freeland at left half and quarterback John Manak. The Crusaders work out of a "T" formation with a great deal of deception, according to scouting reports.

Jackson's Gym To Train Glovers

Gene Jackson, manager of Jackson's boxing gym, 211 1/2 Kentucky Ave., is ready to start training Golden Glovers for the annual Times-Legion tourney in January and February.

The Jackson gym is well equipped and amateurs are invited to join classes there from 4 to 6 p. m. week days. Competent trainers will be on hand and free instructions are given. Both novice and open class boys are welcome.

Warning Issued To Baseball Scouts

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14 (UP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler reminded scouts and other representatives of professional teams today that high school boys signed before they are eligible for contracts will be made ineligible for one year.

So far no one has been suspended under the rule, although Chandler has voided the contracts of nearly 20 high school youths who were signed by professional teams before their class graduated.

Too Tough for His Class, LaMotta Faces Fox Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (UP)—Jake LaMotta, stepping out of the middleweight division again because none of the 160-pounders want any part of him, meets Billy Fox of Philadelphia tonight in what may be the beginning of a campaign for a shot at the light heavyweight championship.

Rated no better than an even money bet against the Philadelphia battler, LaMotta is expected to go after a title bout with Champion Gus Lesnevich should he knock out Fox or whip him decisively.

He has given up hope of ever getting a shot at the middleweight division because the boxers in that division figure LaMotta is too good for them.

PLUNGER—Vince Gatto, Butler University freshman who did his high school plunging for Cathedral, will see action in the Bulldogs' backfield tomorrow as a halfback against Valparaiso University in an Indiana Intercollegiate Conference football game. It will be Butler's final home game of the season and will be observed as Dad's Day.

Coach-of-Year Spotlight Focused on Frank Leahy

By LAWRENCE ROBINSON, Scripps-Herald Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—The masterful coaching job he did prepping Notre Dame for the Army, as well as season-long skill in guiding his warriors, focuses attention on Frank (The Master) Leahy this week as he is a prime candidate for 1947 Coach of the Year honors.

Few coaches ever enjoy the delight of a "perfect" game from their standpoint, meaning smart play, execution and a minimum of errors.

Notre Dame came as close as possible to it against the Cadets. There are those who claim Leahy tempered the Irish play with mercy by cutting down on Lujack's passing.

However, he stated afterward, and Jack Lavelle, the scout who worked with Leahy all last week confirms it, that Notre Dame's strategy was to run wide on Army. When Lujack declared it wasn't a good day to throw passes, that made it all the more certain the Irish would run.

Special Attack

They ran, too—mostly wide off a shovel pass, sometimes off tackle. It was a well-conceived special attack planned by a great strategist to hit the Army's weakness, its ends. It worked perfectly, and Leahy should take a low bow.

If he were selected by his fellow coaches as 1947 Coach of the Year, Leahy would be the first ever to repeat in this unique post-season award. Frank was singled for the honor in 1942, his first season at Notre Dame.

Last Saturday's biggest upset projected another man into the 1947 Coach of the Year picture—Rip Engle, the quiet little Brown mentor who toppled Yale so unexpectedly.

His material this year was not impressive, yet Engle crossed up Holy Cross and Yale, tied Colgate and barely yielded to Dartmouth—in other words, a fine job of coaching in any league.

Little in Spotlight

Lou Little continues to hold the spotlight for a great job of pulling his team back together. After two straight defeats the Lions ended the Army string in a sensational reversal and downed Cornell and Dartmouth.

Matty Bell, still riding high with his Southern Methodist Mustangs; Fritz Crisler, who swamped Indiana to keep Michigan on the high road to the Rose Bowl; Navy's Tom Hamilton, who took on one of the toughest schedules in football history and nearly pulled a might upset with Georgia Tech.

Don Faurot, who brought Missouri along to the point where it swamped Duke in Durham, and Jeff Cravath, who is doing things with his Southern California club are others to keep in mind when the voting of the coaches starts.

Drop Swim Schedule

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14 (UP)—Princeton University will drop from intercollegiate swimming competition for one year due to difficulties in completing the pool in its new $2 million gymnasium.

Kenneth Fairman, director of athletics, announced today.

AA to Meet Nov. 30

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14 (UP)—American Association directors, representing each of the league's eight clubs, will hold their annual meeting in Miami, Fla., Nov. 30, President Frank C. Lane announced today.

Caps Tied for 2d Spot After 6-2 Triumph

Swamp New Haven In Final Period

Times Special

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14—The Indianapolis Capitals climbed back up into the thick of the American League's Western Division hockey race today after outskating the New Haven Ramblers, 6 to 2, here last night before 3000 fans.

The defeat knocked New Haven from second place in the Eastern Division to make room for Providence that took over with a 2-2 tie last night at home against the St. Louis Flyers.

New Haven took the play away from the Capitals in the first period on goals by Bing Jukes and Scotty Chapman, but the Capitals came back strong in the second 20 minutes when they countered twice within 15 seconds to even the score. Barry Sullivan and Don Morrison were the goal-getters for the Caps.

Indianapolis hogged the third period scoring. Fernand Gauthier caged the winning marker at 7:39 with Lloyd Doran and Marty Pavelich assisting. The Caps turned the game into a rout then as Nelson Podolsky, Cliff Simpson and Don Morris scored.

5 Forwards Give Providence a 2-2 Tie

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 14 (UP)—Rapping home a pair of goals within 22 seconds, the Rhode Island Reds came from behind to gain a 2-2 tie with the St. Louis Flyers in an American Hockey League game before 4214 fans in Rhode Island Auditorium last night.

St. Louis was protecting a two-goal lead it had picked up in the second period of the slow contest until Flyers' defenseman Billy McComb drew a two-minute hooking penalty shortly after the midway mark had been reached.

Providence Coach Terry Reardon sent five forwards on the attack, and Left Winger Pete Kapusta netted the puck after a pileup in front of Goaltie Hec Higgins at 11:41.

Only 22 seconds later Eddie Prokop came out of a scramble to the right of the Flyers' cage and beat Highton on a sizzling angle shot at 12:03.

The Flyers took their lead when Left Winger Paul Gladu beat Goaltie Harvey Bennett at 4:11 of the second period, Center Don Grosso and Ron Wilson assisting. St. Louis scored again at 13:56 when Center Ernie Trigg converted Hec Pozzo's pass into a goal.
