

Ask Mrs. Manners— Wear Lipstick for Hubby—With a Smile

Dear Mrs. Manners:

TO "IMPRESSED BUT NOT PERILED," who gave his versions of why men leave home.

I am not impressed. I'll bet 10 to 1 he isn't married or hasn't any children. Did he ever have to sit up nights with sick children? Who feels glamorous at 5 a. m. after being up all night? Yes, I get up and put lipstick on and a house dress and get a good breakfast for my husband—but many mornings I'd rather stay in bed.

I have three children and get three hot meals a day and wash twice a week and clean and wash dishes. I try to look nice when "hubby" comes home. But who feels glamorous when you cook a meal for 6 p. m. and he comes in two hours later? How can anyone get pretty and not get disgusted while dinner gets colder and colder? When he is home he either is on the davenport asleep or with his nose in the paper all evening.

About this afternoon nap the poor office girl doesn't get. Who does he think takes care of the children while mother sleeps? You can't knock them all in the head at once. They don't all sleep at once. These poor working girls have their pay checks to look glamorous with while the mother has to do without while Junior has new shoes or pays doctor bills and food, rent, etc. There isn't enough to go around but "hubby" makes fairly good wages. I haven't had a good dress in eight months.

My version of why women leave home—These poor men are so mistreated because they don't have Betty Grable and a home manager, house maid, nurse maid, cook, laundress, etc., all in one. Try and hire one maid to do all these things.

ONLY ONE WOMAN.

Too bad that "hubby" doesn't tell you the nice things he's probably thinking. Isn't it?

That lipstick may be doing more good than you think—provided you wear it with a smile.

Help Father But Don't Cancel Plans

I AM A BOY 21 years old. I have been a Christian ever since I was 12 years old. God has called me to preach the gospel. My problem is that my father is too disabled to work and I have to support him.

I feel condemned not to go to school and take training to be a minister and would also feel condemned to let my father down.

H. H. W. City.

Of course you should help your father, but don't cancel your plans. Work during the day and enroll in evening classes.

You could work toward an A. B. degree at Butler University, Indiana University Extension Division and Indiana Central College.

Follow your graduation with theological training.

Some churches permit student ministers to fill pulpits.

She Might Get Bored With You, Too

SOMETIME AGO at a dance I met a woman who is all I have ever wanted or dreamed of in a woman. Though she is married to another man we find that we are very much in love. She tells me that she never has really loved him and I feel that she is sincere.

This being a small town we cannot show our love, of which we are not ashamed. Do you think it would be wise for us to go away? I can get a job in another state and then she can apply for a divorce. Or should we wait for one here? He has said that he will give her a divorce provided she takes the child.

CICERO GENTLEMAN.

Stay away from this woman who meets men at dances. Don't influence her about a divorce. You'd hear about it in your first argument. Of course you're ashamed of making love to another man's wife or you'd be willing to face the scandal.

She may just have been bored and liked the excitement and your dancing. She might get bored with you, too. You can't be sure of your love with such an improper and unnatural courtship.

Why Not Help Troubled Couples?

HOW CAN I get in touch with an attorney in New York—Seaman Miller? I have written to New York Supreme Court but they don't have a record of him.

I have been buying your paper since 1918 and see where you do good things in your answers.

I'm a married woman and work when my husband is so I can. I am happy with my husband.

M. C. M. City.

The New York City telephone directory and legal directories don't list Mr. Miller. He was listed in the 1934 New York City directory as residing at 17 E. 97th St., Apt. 3-C, with office at 20 Vesey St., Room 804. You also might write that address and ask that the letter be forwarded.

To what do you attribute your happy marriage? You could help troubled couples with your advice.

Don't You Want to Help Your Community?

DURING THE RECENT Community Fund drive a collector came to our office.

My question is, can an employee be forced to pay and would he lose his job if, for personal reasons, he did not desire to make a donation?

A DAILY READER, City.

Legally, you don't have to contribute. Few employers would be arbitrary about such a matter. But don't you want to help your community by giving a small donation—even a very, very small one?

Brothers Confess Series of Thefts

A teen-age holiday crime spread a problem for Juvenile Court authorities today.

Two brothers, who admitted 23 burglaries and three auto thefts, and a 13-year-old suspect, were detained by JAD until proper disposition could be made.

The brothers, who gave an E. St. Clair St. address, said they committed all their burglaries and thefts since the oldest of the two escaped from the Indiana State Farm Nov. 3.

Have Long Records

The two brothers have been committed to several correctional institutions in the past and have yet to be rehabilitated. Both have long Juvenile Court records.

They were captured, Thursday night after a stolen car they were driving overturned on White River Pkwy. near Raymond St.

Deputy Sheriff Virgil Quinn said the 13-year-old admitted to him that he and a 14-year-old companion were attempting to burglarize the H. A. Waterman Co. at Five Points when they were shot Thursday evening.

Jack Richey was fatally wounded when the pair was fired on by Don W. White, an employee of the company. He died a few hours later in an iron lung at General Hospital. Although no official verdict is available from the coroner's inquest held yesterday, no charges have been placed.

Mrs. Edna Curtis, the dead boy's grandmother, said the family was certain the boy had not been implicated in any crime or planned crime.

She said, "Jack has always been a sweet boy, keeping out of trouble. He was well liked in the neighborhood, and by his teachers. He was preparing to graduate from school this year. I don't know what to think."

The 13-year-old was wounded in the right shoulder, by one of the two shots fired by Mr. White. He was turned over to his parents.

Hoosier Paper Puts Out Photo-Engraved Edition

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (UP)—Residents of the Chicago area were becoming accustomed to "typewritten" newspapers today as a strike of 1500 typesetters against seven dailies went into its fifth day with neither side moving to break the deadlock.

The Hammond (Ind.) Times became the seventh paper to put out photo-engraved editions. The typesetters struck against the Times on Wednesday. The paper did not publish Thanksgiving Day but began putting out the improvised editions yesterday. It will only publish one edition a day, however, instead of the usual two.

Our totals for Japan, Korea and Pacific Islands are seven divisions, 18 air groups.

England has army of 700,000, air force of 250,000. French forces are negligible except for small garrisons in Germany and Austria.

China has approximately 4.5 million men, but worth little, to us in military sense.

Foreign Affairs Committee has decided to include tabulation with its report on interim aid bill as another argument for strengthening economies of Europe's free nations.

One sure thing: Republicans will insist on flow of strategic materials into this country for stockpiling, if any aid is given.

Not Much Interested

SAMPLING of opinion in Wisconsin and Minnesota discloses that people in these areas are not much interested in Marshall Plan, often know little of what it's about.

One informed reporter says: People out there are concerned less and less with what goes on in Washington, more with day-to-day problems of their own lives, care little about strategy of world politics as planned by State Department.

ARMY'S LATEST estimate of strength and disposition of military forces in Europe now is in hands of House Foreign Affairs Committee, will be made public next week.

Most important item: Russia has 82 divisions, 6000 planes, in southern area, generally pointed toward Middle East, Iran, Turkey.

In Germany, Poland and Russia (European frontier) Russia has 93 divisions, 7200 planes. In Korea, 13 divisions—700 such planes. In Siberia, 20 divisions, several hundred planes.

Total for Russia, four million men under arms, 13,000 combat planes. Army estimates Russia can expand to 10.5 million men in 30 days.

In contrast, we have 950,000 men under arms in Army and Air Force.

In Germany we have 161,000 men (one division, two regimental combat teams, 10 constabulary regiments, 11 air groups).

Our totals for Japan, Korea and Pacific Islands are seven divisions, 18 air groups.
