Sen. Taylor Shies At Wallace Offer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (UP)—Sen. Glen Taylor, the singing cowboy from Idaho, says it may be political suicide if he accepts the vice presidential spot on Henry A. Wallace's third party ticket.

The Idaho Democrat, who fought and sang his way up from a vaudeville trouper and a radio cowboy to the U. S. Senate, said he still hadn't decided whether a third party was a healthy thing for the "liberal" cause.

"There are a lot of considerations," he said in an interview. "First, I have to make up my mind whether I want to commit suicide—political suicide.

"The chances are I'd be in very bad shape for re-election to the Senate in 1950 if I accept a third party offer."

Wallace supporters argue that a third party will bring out the liberal vote and help the election of liberal congressmen. Mr. Taylor said he wasn't completely convinced that a third party wouldn't harm the Democratic Party without helping the liberal cause.
