

Anderson Abandons Manufacture of Tile

Times State Service
ANDERSON, Feb. 5—Mayor G. Lester McDonald has announced that the city will abandon operation of a plant on municipally-owned ground at the west edge of Anderson where concrete tile has been produced for the city. The project will be dropped because of the expense of its operation, the mayor said. He stated the city probably will grant permission for the plant to be operated under private contract.

Living Costs Rise As Mercury Dips

Cold Weather Nips
Truck Crops in South

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Dropping mercury in the country's thermometers is due to signal another hike in the cost of living, this time in vegetables raised in the south for markets in the north.

It got as low as six degrees below zero Fahrenheit in El Paso, Tex., which is the coldest on record for that station, the U. S. weather bureau reports.

That means that truck crops now in the field have suffered severe damage. The losses from cold extends clear out into Southern California. But there'll be no gloats from the Florida State Chamber of Commerce; Florida has been shivering, too. A storm area that started to work its way up the Atlantic coast brought heavy snow, sleet and freezing rain into the Carolinas and southern Virginia. It was Dixie's own snowstorm, however; it veered off the coast before it reached the Mason-Dixon line, and left the weatherman in Washington holding the bag for a predicted snowstorm that never arrived.

The big North Atlantic storm that held up steamer arrivals as much as five days has already passed over Iceland, and will probably be heard from next off northern Norway and maybe Spitsbergen. It was a terror while it lasted, with hurricane force reported from one Iceland observatory, and near-hurricane force observed aboard several ships south of that storm-beaten land.

School Cafeteria To Mark Anniversary

Mrs. Angel Stone will prepare spaghetti using her own recipe from her native Naples for the supper marking the first anniversary of the Cathedral High School cafeteria Saturday from 5 to 9 p. m. in the cafeteria.

Over the year mothers of the school pupils have served 41,000 hot lunches for children in the cafeteria. Proceeds from the supper will be used to complete the furnishings of the cafeteria.

Mrs. Stone will be assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Scheper, Mrs. Sam O'Rourke and Mrs. Urban Zeph.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. R. Noll is cathedral pastor and the Rev. Fr. John Reidy, sponsor of the cafeteria project.

Forum to Present
Dr. Julius Schreiber

The Indianapolis Open Forum will present Dr. Julius Schreiber, executive director of the National Institute of Social Relations, Washington, D. C., in an address Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Kirschbaum Center.

Dr. Schreiber will speak on "A Sane Answer to a Bewildered World."
