Snowstorm Moves To Eastern States

Midwest Gets Respite From Winter Weather

The storm which buried the Midwest beneath a thick snow blanket blew itself out over the northeastern states today.

The remains of the vast storm front centered over eastern Pennsylvania, but most of its fury had been spent.

The storm lost its intensity as it moved up the Ohio Valley, but it caused snowdrifts today in Pennsylvania, New York and New England states.

Meanwhile, the Midwest got a respite from the weather. Only light scattered snowfall was reported in some sections. Road crews, however, still worked to clear highways covered by more than a foot of wet snow in some sections.

Four Die

In southern Wisconsin, four persons died as a result of the storm. Three died of over-exertion after shoveling snow. Another died after pushing an automobile stuck in the snow.

Schools were closed today in central Michigan after the blizzard left up to 10 inches of snow. The Bay City, Mich., area was hardest hit. Some factories were closed yesterday, and others excused workers who live in rural areas so they could get home before they became stranded.

In northern Michigan, the storm left 16 inches of snow at Pellston, and 15 inches at Sault Ste. Marie.

River Floods Farmland

In Nebraska and northern Illinois, residents of some areas were plagued by a queer combination of heavy snow and floods. An ice jam in the Elkhorn river near Omaha, Neb., poured flood waters over hundreds of acres of rich farmland.

The ice formed a natural dam near the stream's junction with the Platte river. Lowlands were flooded as far as 18 miles upstream, and a few families were forced to move to high ground.

The heavy snow yesterday fell in a belt from the central Rockies eastward across Nebraska, Iowa, northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin and lower Michigan.

BUS BANDITS GET $568

MEMPHIS, Mar. 3 (UP)—Two youthful bandits boarded a bus 20 miles east of here last night and took $568 at gunpoint, overlooking a $1600 bankroll one passenger stuffed into seat upholstery.

Senator Accuses New Reserve Head

McCabe Record Cited
In War Surplus Sales

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (UP)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R., N. H.) today charged that Thomas B. McCabe made "very poor bargains" as Foreign Liquidation Commissioner that deserve "grave consideration" before the Senate confirms his nomination to be chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Mr. Tobey is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee which took up Mr. McCabe's nomination today.

Mr. McCabe, a Philadelphia banker, was nominated by President Truman to head the Federal Reserve when Marriner S. Eccles was "busted" to vice chairman.

Sen. Tobey in a 28-page statement quoted from records of the Senate War Investigating Committee in which Sen. McCabe was criticized for "poor bargains" in bulk surplus property sales in Great Britain, India and China.

He said under Mr. McCabe's policies the government lost $16 billions on "sales" of surplus property to Britain. Mr. Tobey also said that Mr. McCabe's "salesmen" sold in Iran goods which cost $186 million for only $31 million.

The investigating committee report cited by Mr. Tobey further accused Mr. McCabe of "undercutting" Walter B. Schleiter, then Foreign Liquidation Field Commissioner for the India-Burma theater, a policy, Mr. Tobey charged, that cost the United States $300 millions.

And in China, Mr. Tobey charged, Mr. McCabe disposed of $824 millions worth of surpluses for "an estimated total consideration of $170,000,000."

Mr. Tobey promised Mr. McCabe, who was present, a full opportunity to reply.

Kin of Judge in Scottsboro Case Admits Killing Father

NEW YORK, Mar. 3 (UP)—William Callahan, 16, grandson of the presiding judge of the famed Scottsboro rape trial, told police today he killed his unemployed father in Montgomery, Ala., last month because he refused to repay $525 lent from his newsboy savings.

The high school pupil, who had been sought on a murder warrant since the slaying Feb. 3, walked into a police station last night and said:

"I killed my father. I want to give myself up."

The youth, who said he used to play football with Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom in his backyard, told detectives that the remaining $125 of his savings was eaten up rapidly.

Shot Father With Rifle
Young Callahan explained he shot his father, Travis, 47, with a 22-caliber rifle, reloaded the weapon and shot him again. His mother and grandmother were in an adjoining room, he added.

He spent time in Birmingham, Washington, D. C., and Seabrook, Md., before coming to New York last Thursday, he said.

The youth told police he became angry when his father, an engineer who had been out of a job since Christmas, refused to go back to work and repay the $525 he had borrowed from his savings of $650.

"When he told me to mind my own business, I got angry and shot him," the youth said. He cut telephone wires, packed his bags, put on his father's brown felt hat, and left, locking the family in the apartment with his father's body, he added.

Young Callahan said he waited overnight in Montgomery to draw his remaining $125 from a bank, then went to Birmingham.

Appeared on Radio
After coming back to New York he appeared on a radio quiz show where he won a razor and shaving soap. He sold them for 30 cents to buy food.

He sold a pint of blood for $5, which he also spent for food, he said. He surrendered because the slaying had been preying on his mind, he added.
