Chile Urges United Fight On Red Peril

Seeks Latin American Backing for U. S.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Apr. 2 (UP)—The 21 American nations were asked today to approve a resolution which would create in the Western Hemisphere a strong anti-Communist bloc to support the United States in the "cold war" with Russia.

The text of a resolution, drafted by Chile to be presented to the Inter-American Conference, calls on each nation to adopt internal measures "to suppress subversive activities which national or foreign individuals might attempt to favor the political interests of extra-continental states."

Chile was the nation which charged Russia before the United Nations Security Council with engineering the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia.

The draft text of the resolution also called for a united front of the American nations against communism, with exchange of information among them on measures adopted to suppress it.

Chile, assisted by the United States, was trying to obtain unanimous approval of the resolution before taking it to the conference, but was meeting some opposition to passage of any resolution.

Argentina, Guatemala, Ecuador and Peru have been expected to oppose any strong anti-Communist resolution. Some other nations would like to go to the other extreme and adopt a resolution calling for breaking relations with Russia. The United States simply wants a strong resolution.

The preamble of Chile's long resolution states flatly that agents of communism are agents of a foreign power, but does not mention Russia.

Spaatz Sheds 4 Stars July 1 To Play Poker, Go Fishin'

By LYLE WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Apr. 2—Tooey of the Air Force is shucking his beloved B-17s into retirement. Now he wants to go fishin' and play plenty of poker.

Tooey is Gen. Carl Andrew Spaatz. He is the great American master of the use of strategic bombers. What Miller Huggins and John McGraw were to the golden age of baseball, Gen. Spaatz was to the art and science of strategic bombing.

The general and a lot of other air officers invented strategic bombing. And they dreamed up the B-17 to fit their plan.

Gen. Spaatz and the B-17 were a deadly pair in Africa, Europe and the Pacific. It was his favorite airplane. Although his last combat command in the Pacific was a big B-29 Gen. Spaatz was true to the old Flying Fortress. He used one as his air headquarters. His B-17 was named "The Boops," after his youngest daughter, and he is mighty fond of both.

57 and Still Trim
Gen. Spaatz is 57 years old and after 38 years of military service his waistline isn't much larger than when he was graduated from West Point 34 years ago.

The job he is quitting is Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force. He will be succeeded effective July 1 by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, a nephew of the Michigan Senator and an air officer of distinction in his own right.

For anyone but Gen. Spaatz, a career would be climaxed by the dropping of the atomic bomb. Tooey doesn't see it that way.

He is convinced we should not have used it. He says it wasn't necessary because the Japanese already were hoked.

His Big Moment
The big moment he will look back upon, however, is the one when the United States Army Air Force became a separate organization equal. He raised a glass that evening to the memory of the late Billy Mitchell.

As a captain, Tooey was one of the few witnesses who dared defend Gen. Mitchell in the court-martial which grew out of the late general's public and bitter persistent insistence that the airplane was here to stay as a weapon of war. Gen. Mitchell stepped on a lot of toes and Gen.

STEPS OUT—Gen. Carl Andrew Spaatz, world's master of strategic bombing, retires July 1 as AAF Chief of Staff.

STEPS IN—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, who succeeds Gen. Spaatz, is a nephew of the Michigan Senator. But he also has piled up a distinguished air record, quite on his own by his records on all fronts in World War II.

Spaatz always walked with him. Gen. Spaatz considered the Navy an invention of the devil and of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The President knew Gen. Spaatz didn't care for him, but he knew also that the general was the man to command our strategic air power. Hence, the four stars.

Injunction Seen In Coal Dispute

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2 (UP)—Government labor experts said today President Truman probably will order the Justice Department to seek a court injunction early next week to end the soft coal strike.

These sources said Mr. Truman "has about concluded" that a Taft-Hartley law injunction is the only way the walkout can be stopped. Such an order would be effective for about 80 days.

Mr. Truman is expected to make public tomorrow the report of a presidential fact-finding board which studied the 19-day-old soft coal strike. The board was reported advising him that the strike "endangers the national health and safety."

Calcutta Clerks Drop Pens As India Strikes at Reds

Other Workers Lie Down in Office Corridors; Nation-wide Raids Jail Hundreds

BOMBAY, Apr. 2 (UP)—The Indian government struck sharp today against the Communist Party.

The Communists retorted by calling out on strike some 6000 workers in the central government office in Calcutta. In one large block of Calcutta offices hundreds of workers went on a "pens down" strike. They entered the offices, sat at the desks, but refused to work.

Several score of workers went on announced "hunger strikes," lying down in the main corridors of the government buildings.

Reports from cities throughout India indicate that police had arrested hundreds of persons in an effort to smash the party. The raids followed a warning by Premier Jawaharlal Nehru to the Indian Assembly in New
