4 Youths Drown, 5 Are Rescued

Bodies of Victims Recovered From River

Times Staff Service
MT. VERNON, Apr. 5—The bodies of four boys were recovered from the flooded Wabash River south of here yesterday in one of the worst drowning tragedies in years.

The boys were drowned when a boat powered with an outboard motor capsized during a joyride. Five others who clung to the overturned craft an hour were rescued.

The dead were Edward Weatherford, 8; Paul Denning, 18; Robert Uhde, 20, and Raymond Goldman, 20, all living near here.

List of Rescued
Those rescued were Irma Jean Yearwood, 16; Mary Ann Moore, 18; Roy Schmitzer, 19; William Floyd, 11, and John Weatherford, 14, brother of the drowned boy, all Posey County residents.

The Schmitzer youth said they had been cruising through the flood waters for about an hour when two of the younger boys who had been standing up in the bow sat down suddenly.

He said this sent the bow of the boat under water and the craft overturned.

Screen for Help

The five who clung to the overturned boat screamed for help. Eli Lawrence and Morton Byrd, who live nearby, heard them and ran half a mile along the bank until they found another boat.

They rowed down to the site and rescued all five.

The bodies of all the drowned boys were recovered within an hour. Pulmotors were used on the victims without success.

A plane piloted by Mrs. Ruth Swift, 30, wife of the local airport manager, collided at 1200 feet with one flown by Bob Newman, 40, and Jack Moate, 21, partners in a local automobile agency. All three were veteran fliers.

Mrs. Swift's plane crashed in the front yard of a private home, missing the dwelling by only 20 feet. The other plane crashed and burst on a railroad right-of-way.

Today's Weather Fotocast

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW—Milder weather with minimum temperatures in the 50's and partly cloudy skies is forecast tonight and early tomorrow from Atlanta, Ga., to Boston. The long mild air flow arrow pointing up toward Pennsylvania shows the southerly winds streaming up from the Gulf of Mexico will cause this milder temperature trend. All along the Gulf coast and in Arkansas and Tennessee the mercury will be in the 60's near daybreak. Some snow flurries are scheduled for Montana. Cool northerly winds from central Canada will stream down across the Great Lakes causing cooler temperatures from Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota to Arkansas.
