

Churches Here Plan Special Services For Mother's Day, Stress Family Life

Unity Methodist Plans 'Joash Chest Service'
By EMMMA TAYLOR HILNEE
Times Church Editor

The "Joash Chest Service" tomorrow in the Unity Methodist Church will stress something more than the usual sentiment of Mother's Day.

Do you know your old Bible stories? Remember how Joash punched a hole in a box, set it at the gate of the temple and urged people to drop in money for repairs on the House of God? The narrative is given in detail in II Chronicles 24.

Tomorrow, the Rev. Ritchie D. Ocheltree, pastor of the Unity Church, will go a step farther than the historic Joash. The Rev. Mr. Ocheltree will place a "Joash Chest" inside the communion rail for the Mother's Day service at 10:45 a. m. Members of the congregation will be invited to come forward at a certain point in the program and drop in offerings.

Memorials "To Mother"

The gifts will be memorials "To Mother." All offerings of $5 or more will be recorded in the church's memorial roll with the name of the donor and the mother. The entire contents of the chest will be used to "repair the House of God and for other causes."

The Unity Church was started on this original celebration by an anonymous gift of $300 sent as a tribute to "somebody's Mother."

The Rev. Mr. Ocheltree will read the scriptural account of Joash's chest and preach on "Memorials for Mother." Mrs. Charles Hart will play soft, appropriate music on the piano while members drop money in the Joash chest.

Climax to Family Week

At the Irvington Presbyterian Church, the Westminster Fellowship which includes the young people of the church will bring their parents to a supper tomorrow night in the social rooms. The supper will mark Mother's Day and climax Family Week.

The fellowship will give a musical program and Dr. Roy Ewing Vale, pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, will talk on "Parents and High School Youth."

Dr. O. A. Trinkle has chosen "At the Heart of Motherhood" for his Mother's Day address tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in the Englewood Christian Church. He will present a bouquet of roses to the most elderly mother present at the service and also recognize the youngest mother, the mother of the youngest baby and the mother of the most children present.

Mothers will attend as guests and give talks at the youth meeting tomorrow night in the Meridian Heights Presbyterian Church. The theme of the meeting is "Home Beautiful." Joan MOTHER IS "SHOWN"—Little Susan Diener displays colored Bible pictures and other religious objects to her mother, Mrs. George S. Diener, in the Meridian Heights Presbyterian Sunday School. Parents will visit the school on Mother's Day.

Bechtold will play the flute and Lannie Christoffel, the marimba. Bill Frazer will preside and Charles Moore will lead the singing.

Banquet Friday

The mother-daughter banquet will be held in the church Friday night when a program of varied entertainment is planned. Parents also will visit the Sunday school in the morning.

Families will attend the morning services and sit together in the same pews tomorrow in the Central Avenue Methodist Church. The First Baptist Church tomorrow will arrange displays of literature dealing with "Family Life" in all departments of the Sunday School.

The First United Presbyterian Church will present Dr. Edwin W. Stricker and Henry M. Graham of the 101 Men's Bible Class. The class will meet at 9:30 a. m. in the Broadway Baptist church. Mrs. David Fowler will direct and Mrs. C. W. Sharp will accompany the singing. The Rev. R. M. Dordill will give the talk. The program will be broadcast over Radio Station WISH.

Provide Transportation

Members will use their cars to provide transportation for mothers and other guests to the services in the chapel tomorrow in the Olive Branch Christian Church.

Mrs. Nell Rhodes Ham, "Indiana Mother of 1948," who has seven children and lives at Paoli, will attend as guest of honor at tomorrow's session of the Evergreen Bible Class in the East Tenth Street Methodist Church. The Golden Rule Foundation of Indiana gave this year's title of "Indiana Mother" to Mrs. Ham.

Ray D. Emerson, class teacher, will give the lesson, which will be broadcast over WIBC. Mrs. Hazel Fields will sing "For My Mother."

Courses Offered Lutheran Pastors

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Augustana Lutheran Hospital here has offered pastors of all synods an opportunity to do practice work in counseling and ministering to the sick for five weeks this summer.

The course, beginning June 14, will close July 16. Through the classes the situation behind the scenes in a large city hospital will be open to the enrollees. They will work intimately with members of the medical staff.

Augustana is unique in that it has both pastoral and medical internships on its staff. The pastoral interns are clergymen who live in the hospital with the medical interns and are on call for all emergencies along with the doctors. Augustana Hospital has for years pioneered in building closer relationships between clergymen and physicians.

Seminars such as the coming one of five weeks increase the opportunities for building closer relationships and an exchange of ideas between doctors and ministers.

Indiana Lutheran Synod Opens Centennial Meeting Tomorrow

Organized 113 Years, Officials Discover

The Indiana United Lutheran Synod did not mean to pose as younger than it is when it announced its Centennial Convention to meet here Sunday through Wednesday.

But after the synod invited the denomination's president, Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, and the distinguished Bishop Hanns Lilje, an anti-Nazi of Germany, to speak at the mass meeting tomorrow at 4 p. m. in the Murat Theater, a discovery was made.

The Rev. C. R. Defender of Gary, who did the research for the synod's history, found that it is really 113 years old instead of just a complete century. And so members will present the necessary documents to denomination headquarters and request that the date of the establishment of the synod be recorded as 1835 instead of 1848.

Composers Anthem

An outstanding feature of the rally tomorrow in the theater will be the singing by a 400-voice choir of the anthem, "Prayer of Remembrance" with both words and music by T. Cole Watkins. Mr. Watkins, the organist and choir director of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, composed the anthem especially for the centennial.

The business sessions of the convention will be held in the First Church, Pennsylvania and Walnut Sts. These will open with Holy Communion and sermon by

Young to Direct Zion Concert

Dale Young will direct the Senior Choir of the Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church in a concert presenting "The Church Year in Music" tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. in the church.

The program, which will begin with an Advent selection and trace the year through the major Christian feasts, follows: The Organ Prelude—Cantata, The Christmas Anthem—Praise to the Lord (Christmas Anthem)—Saint-Saens The Lutheran Anthem—We Gleaned Men of Old (Congregation)—The Lenten Anthem—Praise to the Lord (Lenten Anthem)—The Easter Anthem—Praise to the Lord (Easter Anthem)—The Pentecost Anthem—Send Out the King (Pentecost Anthem)—The Trinity Anthem—Gloria to the King (Trinity Anthem)—The Ascension Anthem—Gloria to the King (Ascension Anthem)—The Pentecost Anthem—Send Out the King (Pentecost Anthem)—The Trinity Anthem—Gloria to the King (Trinity Anthem)—The Ascension Anthem—Gloria to the King (Ascension Anthem).

The synod has ten congregations in Indianapolis and Marion County.
