

Tito Expected To Reply To Russ Charge Of Double-Cross

Soviet Blast Not Published In Yugoslavia

U. S. Calls Envoy Home for Parley

PRAGUE, June 29 (UP)—Marshall Tito was expected to reply today to a blistering denunciation by the Communist information bureau of his leadership of Yugoslav communism.

Milovan Djilas, Yugoslav minister without portfolio and one of the four men named by the Communist Party also announced that an official statement would be issued in Belgrade some time today. The subject was not specified, but a reply to the Communist blast was indicated.

In Belgrade, the Central Committee of the Communist Party also announced that an official statement would be issued today.

The whereabouts and precise status of Tito were unknown. Early reports from Belgrade said that he was at his summer home in Bled, in northern Yugoslavia. A little later it was changed to a belief that he was on an island off the Adriatic Coast.

Up to last midnight, no word of the Communist broadcast of Tito and his cohorts had been made public in Belgrade. The city was reported going about its normal business, with no sign of anything unusual.

Blast at Tito Steals Spotlight in Cold War

LONDON, June 29 (UP)—Western Europe watched anxiously today for some word from Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia which might show his preparedness to fight an attempted Soviet purge of his regime.

The sensational Communist announcement that Premier Josef Stalin has sacked his former closest partner, Tito, overshadowed all other cold war developments—even threats of a hot war in Berlin.

United Press dispatches from Belgrade said there was no question there "as to who is running the country," and that Tito had no internal rivals.

U. S. Summons Envoy Home for Conference

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29—Cavendish, Canadian Ambassador to Yugoslavia, has been called to Washington for consultation, it was learned here today.

Officials here decline to commit themselves to any very definite views until they have talked with Mr. Cawendish. However, they are inclined to doubt that the Kremlin is likely to lose control of the situation.

Services Tomorrow For John Rollins

Services for John Rollins, who died Sunday in his home at 712 N. Senate Ave., will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Good Samaritan Baptist Church. Burial will be in Floral Park.

Mr. Rollins was born in Madisonville, Ky., and had lived in Indianapolis 40 years.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Molly Springfield, Madisonville, Ky.; a daughter, Mrs. Alberta Dillard, Indianapolis, and 10 grandchildren.

Local Aetna Agents To Attend Meeting

Three Aetna Life agents of the Paul M. Williams Agency in Indianapolis will attend a three-day regional meeting of Aetna Life's Corps of Regionnaires in Greenbrier Hotel at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., July 7-10. Five others in the region under the Williams agency also will attend.

The organization is one of the leading representatives of Aetna in sales and policy owners service, Mr. Williams said.

Use Camera in Search For New Alloys

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A camera containing a tiny furnace has been developed by Westinghouse research engineers to take close-up pictures of hot metals.

It will aid in the search for new alloys that will withstand rust and corrosion.

Deputy Coroner Injured Critically in Crash Here

Car Collides With Taxi on S. Meridian

Dr. Harry M. Brown, deputy coroner who once was given up as dead while a prisoner of the Japanese in Bataan, was in critical condition in General Hospital today with traffic crash injuries.

He was pinned in the wreckage of his car after it collided with a taxi cab at South and Meridian Sts. at 2 a. m. today, while he was on an emergency run to investigate a death.

After colliding with the taxi cab, Dr. Brown's car careened through a filling station driveway and crashed into the Indiana Oil & Equipment building, 409 Madison Ave.

Body Caved In
The body of his car caved in on top of him and police emergency crews worked nearly half an hour before they could pry the wreckage away enough to extricate him.

At General Hospital, where Dr. Brown served as interne before the war, physicians said the victim received severe fractures of both legs, a possible skull fracture and probable internal injuries.

The taxi driver, Oscar Manuel, 22, of 1521 Carrollton Ave., was not injured and was arrested on a charge of failure to have an operator's license and vagrancy.

A passenger in the taxi, Robert Wycoff, 22, of 1042 E. Market St., was slightly injured.

Red Light on Car
Dr. Brown, who is 33 and lives at 4535 Marcy Lane with his wife and two children, was driving with a red emergency light on his car to 1416 Union St. to make a report on the death of Bernard Wilson, 32, police said.

Another deputy coroner, Dr. W. M. Kelly later reported Mr. Wilson died of a heart attack.

A graduation from Indiana University Medical School in 1939 and serving internship in General Hospital, Dr. Brown entered the Army as a captain and was assigned to the Philip-

Protestants Study World Church Council

Institute to Open At Central Christian

By EMMA RIVERS MILNER
Protestants of Indianapolis will meet this afternoon and tonight to study the coming World Council of Churches.

"The World Council of Churches will speak an emphatic Word of God in so far as the delegates are led by the spirit of God," Dr. Paul G. Macy, special guest of today's meeting, or institute, pointed out.

The institute will open at 4 p. m. in the Central Christian Church. The three delegates who will go to Amsterdam, The Netherlands, to attend the organizational sessions of the World Council, Aug. 22 through Sept. 4, will speak and be special guests at the dinner at 6 p. m.

Dr. Macy, director of the Midwest Region of the World Council, also gave emphasis to the point that the work of the World Council has been carried on, to date, by great leaders of today but will become significant when it becomes a matter of knowledge and concern of the rank and file of churchmen.

"Indianapolis persons who gather to inform themselves concerning the forthcoming Amsterdam assembly are participating in a movement which is really one of the crucial ones of recent history."

Dr. John B. Ferguson, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian Church, will lead the devotion for the institute.

Name Delegates
The three local men who will go as delegates are Dr. George W. Buckner, editor of World Call; Dr. Gaines M. Cook, executive secretary of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, and Dr. H. B. McCormick, president of the United Christian Missionary Society.

A committee for a provisional World Council of Churches has been at work for some years with temporary headquarters abroad and in New York. At Amsterdam, the World Council will become an official organization.

The World Council will be an association of many denominations, not an organic union. It is cited as the most important step taken by the churches since the Reformation. Through its sessions and program, it is expected that persons of all races, nationalities and churches will become better acquainted; that the general spiritual level of the nations will be lifted, and that an important step toward world peace will be taken.

Two others hurt
Floyd Branham, 34, of 319 W. 21st St., was badly hurt when his motorcycle went out of control on Northwestern Ave. and rolled over on top of him.

Eight-year-old Hugh Carter, of 2131 N. New Jersey St., was injured last night when he was struck by a car driven by Virgil Edwards, 38, of 1145 S. State Ave., at 22d and New Jersey Sts.

Many of the public officeholders through the years "owed" their success to the "Armitage influence."

"Slot Machine King"
As founder and proprietor of the Hoosier Mint Co., 308 N. Capitol Ave. and formerly at 18 S. Senate Ave., Mr. Armitage became known as the "slot machine king," one of the major distributors of the coin-operated gambling devices in this area.

He was identified with this business along with lottery tickets most of his adult life.

During recent years, however, Bill always told his friends that he was "out of the business" and was living in retirement.

Known by hundreds as the most "generous man in Indianapolis," Mr. Armitage made scores of life-long friends by coming to their aid when they needed him.

During the depression, Mr. Armitage owned several houses, most of them occupied by tenants who were unemployed. For years he sent them rental receipts "without collecting a dime," his friends said.

Friends recalled that he sent out hundreds of baskets of food to the needy, refusing to permit his identity to be known.

Mr. Armitage was the central figure in a spectacular holdup plot at his Hoosier Mint Co. two years ago, that ended in the fatal shooting of his chief aid, Rex Moonshower, by a bandit.

Bandit Kills Partner
Weeks before the holdup in which Mr. Moonshower was killed, Mr. Armitage and his aid were forced at gun point by the bandit to accompany him to a bank to cash a check.

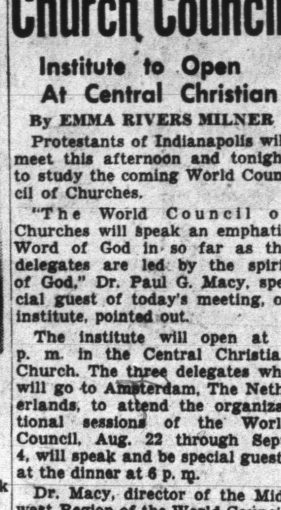

They didn't report the incident to police at the time and decided, instead, to take the law into their own hands and lay a trap for the gunman whom they expected to return.

He did. The bandit shot Mr. Moonshower, who in turn killed the bandit in a gun duel in the office of the Mint company.

Mr. Armitage came to Indianapolis with his parents from Louisville, Ky., when 6 years old and had lived here ever since.

Army's Note to Draftees—'No Coddling, Nor Kicks'

WASHINGTON, June 29 (UP)—Prospective draftees had the Army's word for it today that they will be neither "coddled" nor "kicked around" once they get in uniform.

Here, according to Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall, is what new called up under the new 19-through-25 draft law can look forward to:

"A normal, wholesome, busy and active life, though more carefully planned and supervised than ever imagined."

"Ample, well-cooked, nourishing meals of a simple, wholesome character."

"Reasonably comfortable quarters (but no luxuries)."

"Adequate medical care."

Mr. Royall said the 225,000 to 250,000 men expected to be drafted within the next year will be able to choose their branch of service and their assignments "only to a limited degree."

Most of the draftees are expected to be sent to the Army, he said, because the Navy and Air Force are confident they can get along with volunteers.

In addition to draftees, the Army hopes to get about 110,000 18-year-old volunteers. These youths can sign up for one year's active training and thus avoid the 21-month draft later on. They will not be sent overseas.

Regular draftees, however, may be sent abroad after eight weeks of basic training in this country.

Bees Mess Things Up
CINCINNATI (UP)—Earl Armstrong, motorman, tried to evict a swarm of bees from his trolley. He smashed into an automobile and caused a three-way crash.

Curriculum Too Crowded
Mr. Reynolds said the standard excuse he received from most schools at which he has spoken is that the curriculum is too crowded to include safety courses.

"Teachers are tough nuts to crack," he said. "They are reluctant to go into the safety field."

He also criticized citizens as being responsible for much of the trouble.

"They're hard to wake up and get into action," he said. "Only by arousing them from their apathy can accidents and deaths be reduced."

Traffic Toll Laid to Schools

Matter of Education, Seminar Speaker Says

Blame for the mounting traffic toll was charged to the public schools today.

"The problem of eliminating the cause of the greatest loss of life and property in the country is basically educational," Daniel E. Reynolds, assistant director of field service of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, told public officials and law enforcement officers here.

He spoke in the World War Memorial auditorium before a seminar sponsored by the Indiana State Police in co-operation with the Indiana Association of Chiefs of Police and the Indiana Sheriff's Association.

The meeting is one of three being held in the state to stimulate interest in Indiana's traffic problems. The next seminar will be held at Paoli tomorrow. An earlier seminar was held at Culver Military Academy.

Decrees Ignorance
Mr. Reynolds asserted there is too much "ignorance" about traffic problems. He said every public official "thinks he is an expert when in reality they know next to nothing about the situation."

"Police cannot beat down the traffic problem by methods used to halt crime," he said. "The public will not be treated like criminals. People do not intend to become involved in accidents when they go out on the highways."

"Schools cause a lot of the trouble in our traffic set-up. Some have done outstanding jobs of teaching safety, but lack of interest of many is an overall indictment. They haven't taught youngsters to live with the automobile, nor have they exposed them to many aspects of the traffic problem."

Curriculum Too Crowded
Mr. Reynolds said the standard excuse he received from most schools at which he has spoken is that the curriculum is too crowded to include safety courses.

"Teachers are tough nuts to crack," he said. "They are reluctant to go into the safety field."

He also criticized citizens as being responsible for much of the trouble.

"They're hard to wake up and get into action," he said. "Only by arousing them from their apathy can accidents and deaths be reduced."
