

Earlham College Raises $1 Million

Rising Costs Cited in Building Program

RICHMOND, July 2—President Thomas E. Jones announced today that alumni and friends of Earlham College have raised $1 million for the second century development of the Quaker college here.

Isaac E. Woodard of Indianapolis, a trustee of Earlham, is national chairman of the second century committee. Indianapolis persons interested in Earlham have raised $182,612 under the leadership of Elmer W. Stout.

Since the $1 million building program goal was decided three years ago, costs have risen 50 per cent. Dr. Jones pointed out.

For this reason, he announced, an additional $500,000 will be sought as a "cap sheet" to offset the additional expense.

The Earlham drive is the only successful one for $1 million in the knowledge of authorities in which no subscription as large as $50,000 was received. The largest, a $40,000 gift, came from the late Orville Wright, honorary chairman of the second century committee.

Four building projects on the Quaker campus are to be financed by the fund. The first, a $150,000 heating plant, has been erected.

9 Arrested in 4 Gambling Raids

Crackdown on Joints Renewed by Police

In a renewal of the two-month-old "crackdown" on gambling, police vice squads arrested nine more men in four raids yesterday and last night.

Will Rogers, 26, of 47, E. Le-Grande Ave. and Ed May, 42, of 315 Bickling St., were held on lottery charges last night in a raid on a tavern at 951 S. Delaware St.

In a raid on a poolroom at 2114 Roosevelt Ave., police arrested Andrew Maple, 42, of 2419 Langley Ave., on a charge of operating a lottery.

Feeney Charges Area Rent Board Is Out of Balance

Too Many Landlord Members, Mayor Says; Control Director Promises Adjustment

Charges that the new area rent board is "out of balance" were made today by Mayor Al Feeney.

He recently nominated two tenant and five public interest members who were then appointed by the federal housing expediter. But he pointed out today that too many landlord members still remain.

Albert J. Lynch, area rent control director, agreed that the board is "off balance" and said anticipated resignations of two landlord members had not developed. He added that the balance must be changed to conform with the new rent control law.

Bans Bardin's Trip To Prison by Plane

Special Treatment for Ex-Brewer Rejected

U. S. Marshal Julius J. Wichser can understand how a man might want to vary the experience of going to prison by plane.

But, he also holds to the belief that prisoners are prisoners and all should be treated alike.

For this reason, Indianapolis businessman Lawrence P. Bardin will not fly to the Federal Reformatory at Ashland, Ky., when he begins a sentence there next week for short-weighting beer.

He is a former general manager of the Indianapolis Brewing Co., Inc.

Has Long Record

Marshal Wichser politely listened to Bardin's enthusiasm for flying and his offer to pay his own way to prison. Then, he looked at his criminal record covering 23 years and walked away.

Bardin has been arrested for transporting liquor, automobile theft, forgery, concealing mortgaged property, as a counterfeiting suspect, obtaining property under false pretenses, and obtaining merchandise by confidence game. He has served terms in both Minnesota and Wisconsin state penitentiaries.
