British Air Crash Kills 2 U.S. Men, 37 Others

Planes Collide Midair in Rain Near London

Explosion Blows Both Into Bits

LONDON, July 5 (UP)—The cause of Britain's worst civil aviation disaster, the collision of two four-engine transports which killed 39 persons, apparently was lost today in the shredded wreckage.

Two Americans were listed among the victims of the crash of a Swedish DC-6 and a Royal Air Force York transport in a rainstorm over Northolt Airport outside London.

None survived, and investigators despaired of finding the answer to their questions in the tangled, flame-scattered remnants of the planes and mutilated bodies.

Apparently exploding when they collided, the two planes wheeled crazily to earth a quarter of a mile apart on either side of a narrow valley. The wreckage was scattered over a wide area, and both it and the nearby vegetation were swept by flames.

Sir Edward Gent, British High Commissioner for Malaya, was flying in on the York by way of Malta for consultation over Communist incitement in the Malay peninsula. Six crewmen died with him.

A spokesman for the Scandinavian Air Lines said 25 passengers and seven crewmen were aboard the Swedish liner, inbound from Stockholm and Copenhagen.

The spokesman said the two Americans boarded the plane in Copenhagen. They were named as Gustav Richard Boerger and Frank Wederhalt.

A Danish newspaper identified Mr. Boerger as manager of a New York steel concern with Scandinavian branches. Mr. Wederhalt was registered in care of the Jay Madden Corp., a paper concern at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

Hopes to Prolong Holy Land Truce

UN Stakes All Upon Extension

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 5 (UP)—The United Nations stated all hope for peace in Palestine today on the possibility of prolonging the dying one-month truce in the Holy Land.

Apparent rejection of Count Folke Bernadotte's peace proposals by both Arabs and Jews left the United Nations Security Council no alternative but to seek an extension of the present cease-fire agreement before it expires Friday.

The Bernadotte plan was made public only yesterday. But it already had been turned down, according to reliable reports, by both sides.

Revises Plan

It called for a revision of the United Nations Palestine partition plan which would give the Arab half of Palestine to King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, together with Jerusalem, and join Trans-Jordan and an independent state of Israel in economic and semi-political union.

Despite the angry reaction it brought from Arabs and Jews, United Nations diplomats did not consign Count Bernadotte's plan to the scrap heap. They noted that it called for a settlement almost identical to that which many important British and American officials have been known to favor in Palestine.

Methodists Of 9 States to Convene Here

360 Delegates To Choose 4 Bishops

By EMMA RIVERS MILNER

Times Church Editor

Methodists of the nine North Central Jurisdictional states will open their quadrennial conference here tomorrow night with a reception and a festive dinner in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The 360 official delegates, equally divided between clerical and lay persons, and representing 2 million church members, will hold their business and popular sessions, Monday through Saturday, in the historic Roberts Park Methodist Church. It is called the "Cathedral Church of Hoosier Methodism."

The outstanding events of the conference will be the election and consecration of four new bishops. Bishop Titus Lowe of the Indianapolis Methodist Area will retire during the conference and another will be elected to fill the vacancy his retirement will create.

Bishop Lowe to Preside

Bishop Lowe will preside at various sessions, officiate at Holy Communion, give the Episcopal address at the conference sessions in the church and conduct the consecration ceremonies in the Murat Theater Sunday afternoon. He is the author of the liturgy which will be said with the laying on of hands at the consecration.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York will discuss the denomination's program for the next four years at the popular meeting Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the church. A main goal of the conference will be to adopt ways to implement the plans the church has outlined.

Worship of unusual quality has been scheduled with Dr. Roy H. Short of Nashville, Tenn., editor of the internationally-read booklet, The Upper Room, in charge of the evangelistic hour each afternoon. Morning watch also will be held daily at 7:55 a. m. with the Rev. Amos L. Boren, host pastor, conducting Thursday morning.

The prayers, Scripture reading and devotional talks will be given in a hallowed setting in the Roberts Park Church. Much of the rich, brown wood which adorns the interior was cut from the trees which stood on the Delaware St. site of the church long ago.

Women's Night

A women's night will be observed Thursday and separate groups will meet in various churches of the city in the daytime to do the great bulk of work forecast for the conference delegates. A daily Christian Advocate, similar in format to the Congressional Record, will explain session happenings.

Bishops to be replaced in addition to Bishop Lowe are Bishop Raymond J. Wade of Detroit, and Bishop H. Lester Smith of Columbus, Ga., both of whom have reached the retirement age of 70. The other is the late Bishop Schuyler E. Garth of Madison, Wis., who was killed in an airplane crash over China.

Guests will be invited to fill local pulpits Sunday. Dr. Sumner L. Martin, district superintendent, will be a host to the guests and Dr. John G. Benson, general chairman of arrangements.
