

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—Every studio in town has its checkbook ready for a down payment on the film rights to Eisenhower's forthcoming book, "Crusade in Europe." It's due for publication in September. Eisenhower, meanwhile, figures in the biggest film laugh of the year.

It's that scene in "A Foreign Affair," Paramount's secret weapon to get people back into the theaters, when there's a knock on the door of the room in which Army Captain John Lund is romancing Nazi superwoman Marlene Dietrich.

"I wonder who that is?" whispers Dietrich.

"With my luck," bellows Lund, "it's probably Eisenhower."

Barbara Lawrence, who just divorced Johnny Fontaine, is fighting with Fox over playing too many second-fiddle roles. She expects to be suspended for turning down "Mother Was a Freshman." . . . Greg Juarez, the Hollywood press agent who looks like Buddy Rogers, will marry Duane Snyder, daughter of Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, in October. They met in Washington during the war.

Story behind the story of Jean Peters' "suspension" at Fox. She's taking six months off, with the studio's blessing, to have her teeth straightened.

VIRGINIA GREY'S switch to sophisticated comedienne roles, after all those years of being the demure ingenue, is the talk of the town. She's back in the star running with two breezy roles in "So This Is New York" and "Mexican Hayride."

BRIAN DONLEVY figures his skirt-chasing lawyer role in "The Lucky Stiff" is another "Great McIntyre." The picture, based on the "Murder and Mr. Malone" series, just went before the cameras for Jack Benny's Amusement Enterprises, Inc.

Claire Trevor plays Brian's secretary and Dottie Lamour is the other woman and the best-looking ghost I've seen this year. Yes, a ghost. Brian fakes her electrocution for murder with the help of the district attorney and brings her back as a ghost to track down the real killers.

Claire, meanwhile, is tracking down Brian romantically and Dottie is doing the same. But the payoff finds her leaving both of them for a pretty new blond client, former Petty girl Ruth Lewis. "It won't win an Oscar," says Benny's associate, "but it should make a lot of money."

Love June Haver's blurb for sister Gypsy Rose Lee, whom she describes as "the gal who has done more for the G-string than anyone since Bach."

Offers to 'Prove' Satan and Hell Are Both Fiction

SHADYSIDE, Md., Aug. 4 (UP).—Alexander Andrews will dispose of the devil in 10 minutes, he says.

Mr. Andrews is a Shadyside hotelkeeper who thinks preachers ought to stop frightening "hair socks" with tales of the devil and hell.

Both are fiction, he says. Furthermore, he adds, he can prove it in 10 minutes.

And to prove that, he has arranged a radio debate over station WASH and Annapolis Friday night. Three ministers have accepted his challenge.

THE REV. ROBERT SMOOT, Baltimore, and the Rev. James H. H. Atkinson, Pa., will endeavor to persuade listeners, and maybe Mr. Andrews, that Satan is all some people say he is.

The radio debate was arranged after Mr. Andrews ran an advertisement in an Annapolis paper offering to prove there's no devil, no hell, no fire and brimstone.
