

U. S. Ordered Out Of Army Cemetery

Belgian Land Owners Demand Grounds

220888LS, Sept. 10 (UP)—U. S. war graves authorities at Liege have received a legal summons to evacuate the military cemetery of Neuville-en-Condroz, 15 miles south of Liege, where about 10,000 American soldiers killed in the Battle of the Bulge are buried.

The owners of the ground, it was disclosed officially today, served notice on the War Graves Registration Command "to leave the cemetery, lock, stock, and barrel, within eight days of delivery of the present summons."

The summons demanded that American authorities turn over the ground "as they originally found it," and said that, failing this, measures would be taken without further warning to "have the ground put back in its primitive state."

It was reported reliably that the companies owning the land took this drastic action because the Belgian government had failed to pay certain indemnities due for nearly four years.

Why Not Try This? Family Scrapbook

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Fall-time Jewelry

Of course you can buy costume jewelry in any department store, but it's really much more fun to make your own. And the autumn months provide all sorts of interesting material from which youngsters and grownups, too, can work out interesting ideas for homemade jewelry.

Seed pods of many kinds, picked up in the woods or even from nearby overgrown lots, small cones from hemlock or spruce, seeds from watermelon or pumpkin furnish the raw material. The white pumpkin seeds can be dyed and combined into striking necklaces. Smaller seeds may be formed into realistic-looking flowers. Ambroid cement or colorless model airplane glue, will hold them firmly together.

Small safety pins, cemented tightly to the back of your seed-flowers or whatever else your imagination leads you to make, will turn the production into a fine lapel pin.

Milk Increase Denied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (UP)—The Agriculture Department today denied farmers in the St. Louis area an emergency increase in the price of fluid milk.
