

Dewey Toils Over Drafts Of Foreign Policy Speech

By CHARLES F. LUCEY, Scripps-Howard Staff Writer
ABOARD THE DEWEY TRAIN, Sept. 30—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's first major foreign policy speech of the presidential campaign, at Salt Lake City tonight, is shaping up as an affirmative plea for national unity and not a point-by-point attack on Truman-Roosevelt foreign policy.

That is the expectation of his closest advisers. Mr. Dewey's speech still has not been completed and he has been working on it for several days. But unless there is a last-minute shift, those advising with him foresee a perhaps caustic but no "rip-em-apart" denunciation of administration handling of overseas relations.

The extreme tension of the present international situation is cushioning the Republican candidate's approach to foreign affairs in 1948 as in 1944. Mr. Dewey wishes Russia and the world to know that despite differences at home, U. S. parties and people are united as they look out from American shores.

"What Would I Say?" Already Mr. Dewey seems to be asking himself. "What would I say if I were President?"

As his friends see it, he does not wish to go beyond this for any political gain—does not wish to say anything now on foreign affairs which he would regret if he becomes President in January—and this, of course, is the expectation of most people on this campaign train.

Mr. Dewey and his advisers are aware that a Republican administration in 1948 will need Democratic support for bipartisan foreign policy just as the Democrats needed Republican support in the postwar years.

This reflects the thinking also of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R, Mich.), whose leadership did so much to forge this policy.

Gov. Dewey and his advisers have kept in touch with Sen. Vandenberg during this campaign swing even through remote areas of the west.

May Attack Later Allen Dulles, a Dewey adviser and brother of John Foster Dulles, who today represents the Republican candidate's views at the United Nations session in Paris, talked with Mr. Vandenberg by telephone in the last few days.

The Dewey party also has been in touch with Mr. Dulles in Paris—the last time on Tuesday. There is the possibility—it may be more than that—that Gov. Dewey will make a more telling attack if international tension eases before the campaign ends.

Mr. Dewey on this trip has referred to the administration's "wobbly, lily-livered" foreign policy stance—a stance which he said made it uncertain at times whether we were playing for or against the totalitarians. But he hasn't taken administration foreign policy apart piece by piece, and his advisers believe he is unlikely to tonight.

Ship Movements

By United Press
New York Arrivals—Queen Mary, Southampton; Santa Lucia, Bremen; Santa Lucia, Bremen; Santa Lucia, Bremen.

New York Departures—Alouette, Hamburg; American Eagle, Rotterdam; Black Eagle, Antwerp; Black Eagle, Antwerp.

Gov. Dewey and his advisers

Why Not Try This? Family Scrapbook

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

A Recipe for Neatness

Recently I heard of a simple but unusual idea that solved the problem of neatness in one family. Sue's mother was quite disturbed about the way Sue kept her room. Clothes were always scattered about and, in general, things looked like the proverbial mare's nest. Nagging only added unpleasantness to the situation and didn't get results.

Finally Sue's mother had a brilliant idea. "I'll tell you, Sue," she said, "I'll keep your room straightened up and you take care of mine." The results were most gratifying. Sue dug in and really gave her mother's room a thorough going-over. With a grin, she said, "There, Mom, that's the way you ought to keep your room."

Such a plan may not work in your household but it did in this case. For quite a while, Sue and her mother made the trade. There was friendly competition between them. The mother later realized that there were a number of things she could do to make her room more attractive and, after a while, Sue decided that she would like to work on her own room.

Truman Held Perfect Type Of Old-Time Stump Speaker

By EARL RICHERT, Scripps-Howard Staff Writer

ABOARD THE TRUMAN TRAIN, Sept. 30—President Truman is being the perfect model of the old-school Democratic politician as he goes about the country seeking votes.

"Vote the Democratic ticket straight from President to constable," he admonishes one audience after another. "Vote the Democratic ticket straight and the country will be safe for another four years—and I won't have to move out of the White House."

The President has taken a far left-of-center position in his campaign. But he doesn't let his own political creed stand in the way of endorsing Democratic nominees and incumbents whom he knows, on the basis of their records, would vote against most of his proposals.

It was only 10 years ago that President Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to purge conservative Democratic Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa.

Backs Gillette (Mr. Gillette was defeated in 1944. This campaign trip has seen Mr. Roosevelt's successor travel across the entire state of Iowa, urging Iowans to send Mr. Gillette back to the Senate for the good of the country.

The same situation prevailed in Colorado where the President called for the re-election of Democratic Senator Edwin C. Johnson, who votes with the Republicans in the Senate as much as votes with his own party.

The President didn't let the fact that Rep. Lyndon Johnson of Texas voted to override his veto of the Taft-Hartley Act keep him from urging that Mr. Johnson be sent to the Senate.

"If Lyndon Johnson and Bob Kerr (the Oklahoma Democratic Senate nominee) get to the Senate, we'll certainly make those Republicans dance in the next session," the President told a

Loan OK Expected For Bankrupt Firm

Ruling Due Today on Pay for Employees

Judge Walter Pritchard today was expected to approve a $2000 loan in Superior Court to the Paul H. Kraus Laundry Co., which went into voluntary receivership yesterday, so that it can pay its employees.

The laundry was declared bankrupt at the request of Fred C. Kraus, president and son of the firm's founder. He told the court several unsuccessful efforts had been made to sell the laundry which was in danger of insolvency.

Receiver Named Clarence T. Drayer, local resident and former Bloomington stone company operator, was named receiver.

Judge Pritchard said he would hear the loan petition today after he was told that the firm could not meet its weekly payroll Saturday. He added that he would permit completion of the work now at the laundry.

Man in Bath Believed Electrocuted by Dog

WESTERVILLE, O., Sept. 30 (UP)—A family dog was believed today to have been responsible for the electrocution of Robert Hunt, 24, while he was taking a bath in his home here late yesterday.

Sheriff's deputies said the dog apparently knocked a floor lamp into the tub while Mr. Hunt was bathing. The light was still burning although the bulb was completely submerged.

Mr. Hunt's body was found by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Hunt, shortly after midnight when she returned from work in Columbus.

L. S. Ayres & Co. FRanklin 4411

OUR MOST OUTSTANDING COAT VALUE IN YEARS!

The "Casual-Ayre" 35.00

Just take a look at it—and you won't believe the price!

Beautifully tailored of 100% wool covert, made with a specially constructed, smooth fitting collar, and gently rippling back. It's ours alone—and we think it's tops—for college, for career, for any casual wear.

- 100% Wool Covert
- Matching Iridescent Rayon Lining
- Quilted Inner Lining
- Self Covered Buttons
- Hand Finished Buttonholes
- Five Beautiful Fall Fashion Colors

Dark Green New Wine
Dark Brown Medium Gray
Black

Sizes, 7, 9, 11, 13, 15

SHOP TUESDAY THRU SATURDAY 8:00 to 5:25 CLOSED MONDAYS

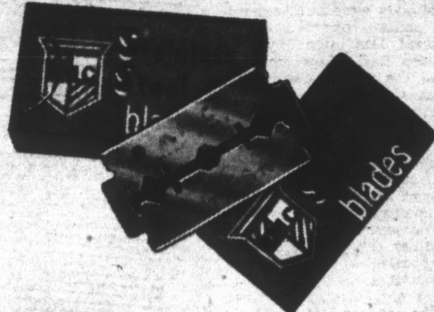

COLLEGIENNE SHOP, SECOND FLOOR

L. S. Ayres & Co. FRanklin 4411

SHOP TUESDAY THRU SATURDAY 8:00 to 5:25 CLOSED MONDAYS

AMC stainless steel razor blades

10 for 49c

Keen, double-edge blades of strong, rust resistant stainless steel for better shaving, longer.

9+9 vitamins and minerals

Box of 100

1.89

Box of 200

3.59

A dietary supplement containing 9 important vitamins and 9 minerals condensed into 2 capsules to be taken daily.

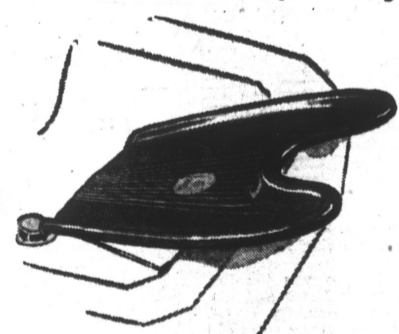

Vitalator . . . the little masseuse

14.95

The exhilarating tingle . . . the glorious rested feeling . . . all the benefits of a Swedish massage are at your fingertips in the Vitalator. Use it to relieve aching muscles and whenever massaging is desired.

Beco home shampoo tray 1.98

A lightweight, sturdy plastic tray that grips the basin for faster, more comfortable shampooing. Red or yellow.

Empire dual tissue

10 Rolls for 1.89

Every roll contains 500 double sheets made from soft, high grade facial tissue.

Toiletries and Drugs, Street Floor

Feel Council Petition State Bo

Wicker Chair Will Trim

By LOUIS ARMSTRONG
Mayor Al Feen Controller Phillip
pared today to petition Board of Tax Comm

an appeal from the cut handed the city ty Tax Adjustment
The officials were file the petition un tion passed last Council. Six Democ
voted for the meas Republicans voted a third minority me sent.

Both Democratic an members of the urged to support th Councilman Joseph ocratic chairman o
Finance committee among other things if not appealed, w ships to widows ar
the police and fire funds. The reduced provide enough cas pensions, he said.

Cut Pension
The tax cut rec levy of the firemen'
from 9 cents to 8.6
policemen's pension
from 4.6 cents to 4

The resolution s peals the pension eral fund levy cut 96.3 cents, the hea fund levy cut from cents and the san ment levy cut fro to 17.8 cents.

"We have been f same tragic situat faced when we to first of the year," er. "We have a budget, but not en proportioned to meet thing will happen happened this. Cred to sue the City and to sell bonds to me

IU Prize W Quits Russ

(Continued From who instigated the or purges, as a "ch Lysenko induced academy to repudi ciples of genetics b dogma the inherit characteristics.

No Reply re
"These disgraced clearly that the academy are no lo themselves as scie misusing their po stroy science for n purposes, even as those who posed a Germany under the the Nazis."

The air mail let tion was sent to th emy last week. I he had received n
ment from that bo
The professor is the National Aca entists of America of the American man Genetics. H member of the IU years.

STRAUS SAYS: