Hoosier Attorney Joins DP Commission in Germany

Dwight Shouse Tours Camps for U. S.

A Hoosier attorney is at work in Germany today in his new post as a selector with the United States Displaced Persons Commission.

Dwight Shouse, 213 Buckingham Dr., has arrived in Frankfurt, Germany, to begin a tour of DP camps in Germany and Austria to assist in admission of DP's to the United States.

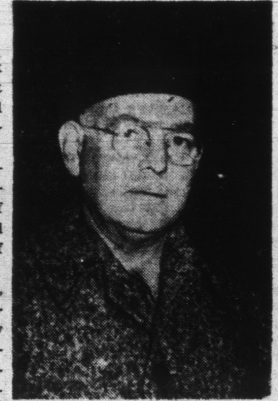

Mr. Shouse, native of Indiana, was a practicing attorney in Europe and the Philippines for many years and was a Japanese prisoner during the war. He was selected for the DP commission because of his linguistic ability and knowledge both of Europe and of United States industrial needs. He will assist in selection trades needed in the States.

Attended DePauw
He is the brother of Mrs. Russell C. Fish, 213 Buckingham Dr., and Mrs. Charles R. Farmer, 3362 Washington Blvd.

Mr. Shouse resided in Greencastle, attended DePauw University and graduated from the University of Arizona. He served in the Army during World War I and after the war served with the diplomatic service in Europe. Re-entering law work, he practiced in Paris for several years and moved to the Philippine Islands 15 years ago.

He was a practicing attorney in the Philippines at the time of the Japanese invasion and was imprisoned for three years at Manila. After his release by United States liberation forces he returned to Indianapolis to reside with his sister, Mrs. Fish, while convalescing from his imprisonment.

He resided here until he was appointed to the DP commission several months ago.

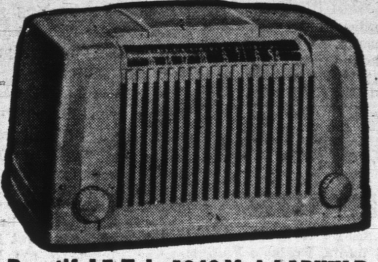

HOOSIER LAUNCHES MISSION — Dwight Shouse, 213 Buckingham Drive, Indianapolis, recently appointed a selector on the U. S. Displaced Persons Commission, is shown on his arrival in Frankfurt's Rhein Main Airport with Fraulein Brigitte Rodatz, American Overseas Airlines terminal hostess.
