

Local Man, Father of Four, Killed in Hunting Accident

Top of Skull Blown Off by Charge From
Ov... Shotgun in Season's First Mishap

Four Indianapolis children were made fatherless yesterday when a death marred the first day of the state's hunting season.

The victim, Howard Ray Jent, 37, of 1417 English Ave., died when a charge from his own 12-gauge shotgun blasted away the top of his skull.

Mr. Jent was hunting with two friends, William H. Woods, R. R. 16, Box 439, and Ira Carter, 1418 Spann Ave., near Woods' farm off U. S. 31, three miles south of Carmel, just over the Marion-Hamilton County line.

Charles M. Coaltrin, Hamilton County coroner, who conducted the investigation with Hamilton County Sheriff Carey M. Davis, said an official verdict would be withheld pending further investigation. The death, he said, apparently was accidental.

Examination of Mr. Jent's weapon showed one discharged shell in the chamber. About four and six feet from where the body lay, Mr. Coaltrin said, two other spent shells were found.

Heard Three Shots
Mr. Jent's companions told the coroner they had just flushed a covey of birds and were some distance away from him when they heard three shots.

Mr. Jent came here about a year ago from Kentucky and was employed as a press operator at the Richardson Rubber Company. His son, Howard D. Jent, was employed as a Times carrier until he was stricken several months ago with rheumatic fever.

Besides the son, Mr. Jent is survived by the wife, Mrs. Alva Mae Jent; three daughters, Peggy Jewell, Delores Fay and Gail Jent; a sister, Mrs. Edward Hinton; three brothers, Lloyd Jent, Indianapolis, and William and James Jent, Trammel, Ky., and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Jent, Trammel.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at Trammel. Burial will be in Beech Grove Cemetery, Trammel.

Breeze Quits News As Business Manager

Joseph F. Breeze, business manager and advertising director of the Indianapolis News, announced his resignation today. He will join the Omaha World-Herald as business manager on Nov. 29.

Mr. Breeze had been with the News 21 years, his career extending from advertising salesman to business head of the property. He lives at 4415 Broadway with his wife and two sons.

Shotgun Blast Hits Housewife in Hand

A 43-year-old housewife was accidentally shot in the left hand when a shotgun was discharged in her home last night.

Mrs. Emma Marshall, 2027 Bluff Rd., was released from Methodist Hospital after treatment for the wound.

Police said Mr. Marshall and a prospective trader were examining the gun before making a trade. When the other man attempted to unload the gun it fired.

Telephone Company Studying Rate Change

No action for telephone rate increase is in immediate prospect, although Indiana Bell officials are giving serious consideration to an elevated rate structure, a company spokesman said this morning.

The telephone company has neither decided how much of an increase should be sought or when to file the application with the Public Service Commission, the spokesman said.
