Assembly Democrats Show First Signs of Rebellion

By LOUIS' ARMSTRONG
The Democrat administration today moved to put down the first outright rebellion among members in the 86th General Assembly.

Most observers have been wondering just how long the House and Senate Democrats would hang together under the comparatively loose rein held by Governor Schriener.

Yesterday they found out. A number of Democrat Senators jumped the traces on the teachers pay support bill and voted with the Republicans to increase the state support to 100 per cent of minimum salaries.

Outright Break

Only the day before the Governor had told the General Assembly not to increase the teachers pay support unless they could provide additional revenue to finance the boost.

It was termed an outright break for the Democrats to support the pay increase yesterday.

Butler's Band At Ice-O-Rama

Invited to Play After 1948 Hit

By ART WRIGHT
The 100-piece Butler University band will entertain early arrivals at The Times Ice-O-Rama in the Fairgrounds Coliseum Feb. 24.

The collegians under the direction of Charles Henzel will play from 7 p. m. until the start of the show promptly at 8 p. m. The Coliseum doors will open at 7 o'clock.

The Butler band has been invited to again play the pre-show concert because of the "hit" the group made with the Ice-O-Rama crowd last year.

600 Skaters Entered

Music for the show will be played by a 15-piece professional orchestra under the direction of Ed Resener, veteran showman.

Some 600 skaters will present solo and pair routines and take part in huge production numbers during the two-hour show. All of them will be dressed in gay costumes and will perform under brilliant spotlights.

Net proceeds from the low, popular admission prices will be turned over by The Times to the Infantile Paralysis Fund.

Plenty of reserved seat tickets still are available at the special booth in L. Strauss & Co. Prices are: Box and parquet chairs, $2.20; side mezzanine, 85 cents; east end mezzanine, 60 cents. Prices include tax. Seats are re-served, except the east end mezzanine.

Club to Hear Safety Director

Allen L. Cobb, safety director of Kodak Parts Works, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y., will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Industrial Safety Club Tuesday night at Buckley's Restaurant, Cumberland.

Mr. Cobb, past general chairman of the chemical section of the National Safety Council, will discuss "Safety at Kodak Park" and will show a film on the company's safety program.

Joint committee reports by members of the executive committee will be made as follows: Charles E. Sumner and George C. Brown, education and training; Robert E. Lee and James P. Tretton Jr., constitution and by-laws; Adrian E. Minnick and Harry A. Tilson, program planning, and Donald W. Trusty and G. R. Cummings, membership and reception.

Informs on Lottery; Charged With Gaming

It takes two to gamble, police decided yesterday, as they heard the story of Herbert Marvin Skaggs, 40, of 3761 Kervachan Dr., who reported he bought $13 worth of pick and win tickets in the Brown Keg Tavern, 3737 E. 30th St.

Skaggs signed an affidavit charging Ralph Shinkle, 906 N. Emerson, with operating a lottery and gift enterprise and police in turn charged Skaggs with gaming.

Fought Against Germans

The beginning of World War II found him as general manager of a British-American mining company in Yugoslavia.

He enlisted in the Yugoslav army and fought against the Germans until he was captured.

After his escape from a Nazi concentration camp in 1942, he worked with the anti-Communist underground in Germany, Poland and immediately set out to fight communists.

Boys Kill 14 Sheep

NORTH BERGEN, N. J., Feb. 10 (UPI)—Four youths from Jersey City, all between the ages of 12 and 16, were held today on charges of malicious mischief for breaking into a slaughterhouse and using live sheep for knife throwing targets. Fourteen sheep were killed and 50 wounded.

Underground Leader Sees Overthrow of Red Regime

Predicts Democracy Within Generation

By JOHN WILSON

Overthrow of Soviet communism and the institution of a democratic workingman's government in Russia is foreseen within the next generation by Constantin W. Boldyreff, a leader of the underground behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Boldyreff, member of the anti-Communist resistance since 1930 and son of a White Russian general, will speak tomorrow at the Indianapolis Town Hall series in the Murat Theater. His subject will be "The Challenge of Russia's Underground."

"Today in Russia," he said, "the great sentiment of the people is against the Soviet government. Through the underground, psychology is being shaped for the revolution to establish a democratic regime."

"I am sure I will see the end of the Soviet government in my time," he said with finality.

Can't Estimate Time

Just how long it would be he could not say. "If the people of Indiana had had modern farm equipment in the state's beginning, it would have developed more rapidly, would it not? We are plowing with whatever means we have."

In the beginning of the fight against communism, it was necessary to produce a substitute philosophy to that of the Marxian theory of class struggle. Thus was formulated the principle of solidarity, the intense, 40-year-old man said.

The belief is that all progress and evolution of humanity results from co-operation, understanding and solidarity between human beings. The duty and right of everyone is to work—whether it be by the hands, brains or by performance. Mr. Boldyreff explained.

See Two-House Legislature

The belief also supports the striving for a democratic regime in which the people are given the best opportunity for expression of their will, he said. The philosophy was especially created for a country where capitalism is absent.

Under the principle of solidarity, a two-house legislative government is foreseen. In one house members would be elected through party competition. The other house would be directly representative of the vertical organization of a business, including employer and employee.

However, the final aim he pointed out, is to reach above party and class society.

Mr. Boldyreff was born in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), the son of a general of the Imperial Russian army. After serving several years with the Russian cadet corps, he was graduated from Belgrade University in 1930 and immediately set out to fight communists.

Franklin Pastor Gets Local Call

Irvington Church Makes It Unanimous

By EMMA RIVERS MILNER

Times Church Editor

Dr. Howard Stone of Franklin, Ind., today holds a unanimous call to become the pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian Church.

Dr. John B. Ferguson, present pastor, announced the call today following a congregational meeting last night in the Irvington Church. Dr. Ferguson said a call without one dissenting vote is most unusual in church circles.

No one official could say that

Dr. Stone will accept, but he is about 40 years old, is
