Congress— Asserts T-H Act Caused Family Rows

Herzog Explains Trouble Causes With Counsel in Note to Senator

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (UP)—Chairman Paul M. Herzog of the National Labor Relations Board told the Senate Labor Committee today that the Taft-Hartley law had promoted family quarrels between the board and its counsel.

Mr. Herzog explained the causes of those quarrels in a letter answering a query from Sen. Wayne L. Morse (R. Ore.).

Mr. Herzog recalled that the board had expressed fear two years ago that splitting its prosecuting and judicial functions would cause "friction, delay, uncertainty and unnecessary litigation." That fear has been realized, he said, under the Taft-Hartley law.

He cited a current disagreement on the extent of the board's jurisdiction. Until an understanding can be reached, he said, cases will be started by Robert N. Denham, who handles the prosecuting functions, only to be dismissed by the board months later.

Social Security

The two Congressmen whose committees have jurisdiction over Social Security legislation were non-committal today about President Truman's proposed expansion of the present law.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton (D. N. C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee introduced, at Mr. Truman's request, a bill to increase Social Security payroll taxes to $4.5 billion annually and to boost benefit payments. But he refused to endorse the bill as is.

Mr. Doughton told newsmen he would use Mr. Truman's measure as a basis for committee consideration of changes in the present Social Security system.

Chairman Walter F. George (D. Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee refused to comment on the proposed legislation because, he said, "I don't know what's in it."

Taft

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R. O.) launched his campaign for reelection in 1950 by telling 2000 Republicans in Cleveland, O., that President Truman "is trying to socialize the country and regiment the people." He also predicted that the Democratic Congress would not repeal the Taft-Hartley law but would only modify "meager" portions of it.

Communications

Rep. Henry D. Larcade (D. La.) wants the House to install some kind of a communications system so that Congressmen can stay in their offices and still keep track of what's going on in the House floor.

Bulgaria

Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor (D. Md.) said today at his request Secretary of State Dean Acheson has asked Bulgaria to permit an official U. S. observer at the forthcoming treason trials of 15 prominent Protestant church leaders.

Wallgren

Sen. William F. Knowland (R. Cal.) said he may ask the Senate Armed Services Committee to subpoena John Caughlan, an alleged Communist who was appointed to the Washington State Social Security Board by former Gov. Mon Wallgren. Mr. Wallgren has been nominated to head the National Security Resources Board. Sen. Harry P. Cain (R. Wash.), opposing the nomination, charged that Mr. Wallgren allowed Communists to dominate his administration and cited Mr. Caughlan as an example.

Trade

Sen. Eugene B. Millikin (R. Colo.) charged today that the administration is allowing domestic producers to be injured under the reciprocal trade program.

President Truman has asked extension of the program until 1951 without the restrictions written in by the last Congress.

Sen. Millikin, ranking Republican member of the Senate Finance Committee considering the extension, said Mr. Truman has no policy of protecting U. S. interests and wants the privilege of going below "peril points" in tariffs without consulting Congress.

1 KILLED IN LANDSLIDE

PONTE DEL GADO, Portugal, Feb. 22 (UP)—Two women were killed today when an avalanche of rain-soaked earth destroyed several homes in the nearby village of Maia. Hundreds of villagers were forced to flee.

New Measure Would Limit State Bonus

Disabled Veterans, Survivors of Servicemen Included

By IRVING LEIBOWITZ

A proposal to pay an Indiana soldiers' bonus only to disabled veterans and survivors of deceased servicemen was advanced today.

Sen. Herman C. Evans, a Democratic member of the all-important Senate Military and Veterans Affairs committee, said he would push for the new "casualty bonus" plan by amending the Democrat bonus.

He estimated the state would pay less than $20 million for his version of the bonus, a saving of more than $130 million.

"If the legislature could hold a secret ballot," the young Bloomington senator said, "there would be no bonus paid."

The senator, a Navy veteran of World War II, explained that only "fall" bonus immediately is one which would "compensate only those materially affected by the war."

He told a public session of the Senate Military and Veterans Affairs committee last night that veterans themselves don't want a bonus with tax "strings" attached.

Other Needs Great
"Indiana needs the money a bonus would require to support and rebuild our financially pressed state mental institutions and schools," Sen. Evans asserted.

"I'm sure," the senator added, "that right-thinking veterans would rather help spend the money for schools and hospitals."

Sen. Wesley Malone (R. Clinton) refused to go on record as openly supporting the "casualty bonus" plan, but said: "Everybody wants a bonus with no tax."

Representatives of veterans groups, business groups and a farm organization expressed themselves on various methods of paying the bonus at last night's meeting.

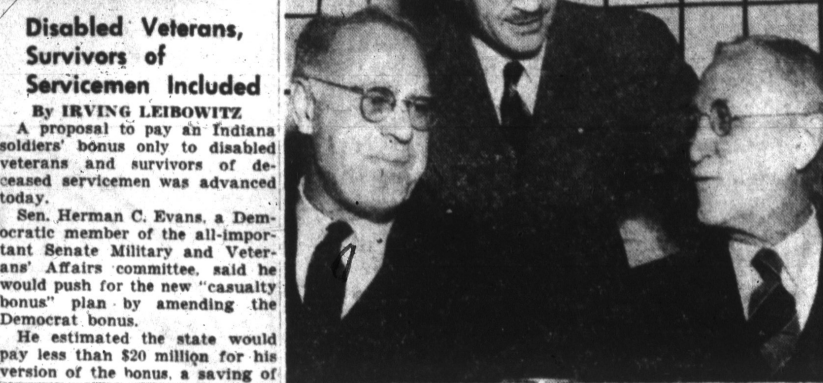

Legion Head Speaks
Joseph Lutes, commander of the Indiana Department of American Legion, told the committee the Legion membership wants an "equitable and generous" bonus.

He quoted the American Veterans Committee's motto "Citizens first, veterans second," in explaining the Legion's stand on the bonus. "After all," he said, "the veterans will have to pay part of the bonus."

The Legion, Mr. Lutes added, would accept and support a bonus that required five years or less to pay. He said they would even go along on a "priority payment" plan whereby casualty veterans would be paid first.

As the Democratic bonus plan stands now, as passed by the House, it calls for a top payment of $400 and a minimum payment of $30, based on service.

Proposes Tax Hike
It was introduced by Reps. Joseph Klein (D. Gary) and Walter H. Maehling (D. Terre Haute), House majority leader. The plans.

YMCA Directors Here Vote To Admit Women Members

Whiteland Girl First To Join After Change in Policy Is Approved

Miss Mary Wood, 1146 W. 34th St., will become the first woman member of the Indianapolis YMCA, it was announced today, after Y directors voted to admit women to membership.

An official membership status will be conferred on some 50 to 100 women now making use of the YMCA, the directors announced. The new members will pay a $5 fee for social privileges.

The new move, which stems from a request of the Y's coed committee a month ago, will make the women more responsible toward the organization, directors said.

Women will be admitted to the pool and gym in groups under the new policy. Organization of volleyball classes is planned. Other social privileges will include membership in golf, archery and rifle classes.

Women have been taking part in YMCA activities since the war when some 300 to 400 served as caddies and hostesses at the USO center. The YWCA has admitted women to membership for three years.

Action of the directors came after the first report meeting at the opening of the YMCA membership campaign last night. The signing of 985 members and collection of $5700 toward the goal of 1700 members and $12,000 was announced by Judge Floyd Claycombe, co-chairman of the drive.

G. V. Carrier, president of the YMCA, was in charge of the dinner meeting. Dr. Thomas W. Graham of Oberlin College was principal speaker.

The second report meeting will measure proposals an additional one-fourth of 1 per cent of the gross income tax be paid to finance the bonus.

A growing sentiment against paying a huge bonus is evident in the Senate, even among Republicans who officially favor a sales tax.

Sen. Evans has indicated he will even "lobby" himself to push the "casualty bonus plan" if a deadlock occurs between the Republican and Democratic bonus plans.

Firm Promotes Gordon Rindfish

Gordon L. Rindfish, branch manager for Universal C. I. T. Credit Corp., has been named assistant vice-president of the organization and head of the Indianapolis division office in the Circle Tower Building.

With the exception of two years during the war, Mr. Rindfish has been associated with the company since 1927. He succeeds N. W. Pope, head of the Indianapolis division since June, 1947, who recently resigned.

Brazil Clamps Ban On 'All Gambling'

BRAZIL, Feb. 22 (UP)—Brazil police chief Fred Williams today announced a ban on "all forms of gambling and games of chance in the city."

Chief Williams said punch boards and pin ball machines had begun to appear in the city and in Clay County and that they would be confiscated.

Churches Here Back Measure On Segregation

Urge State Senators Support Passage Of Measure

The Church Federation of Indianapolis today asked Indiana Senators to give favorable consideration to the bill to outlaw segregation in the Indiana public schools.

The group was joined in urging passage of House Bill 242 by the Indianapolis Community Relations Council. The council asked State Senators to "right a terrible wrong being committed against a large segment of our population" by approving the measure.

List of Participants
Participating in the executive board session which adopted the resolution last night were C. Oliver Holmes, acting council president, Robert E. Frymanson and the Rev. R. H. Peoples, vice president; Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt, Indianapolis Hebrew congregation.

Others were Martin Lerner, regional chairman, American Veterans Committee; Mrs. Montgomery Lewis, Council of Social Agencies; Willard B. Ransom, state president, NAACP; the Rev. I. Albert Moore, Jones Tabernacle; Elmer Norris, Miss Anna P. Stout, co-chairmen, Race Relations Committee, Indianapolis Church Federation.

YOUR FAVORITE ARROW WHITE BROADCLOTH SHIRTS

They have all the virtues that you see in Arrow advertising.

(We were particularly intrigued with the Arrow advertisement in the current issue of Life Magazine with its quartet of gorgeous girls—(not one of whom arrived with this shipment of Shirts).)

The advertisement calls attention to the "Superb styling which goes into every Arrow collar"—it refers to the Arrow experience in making 4 billion collars.

The advertisement spreads the good word about MITOGA, the body tapered fit—and the anchored-in-buttons—the SANFORIZED label which insures that fabric shrinkage will be less than 1%—
