MONUMENT TO AMERICAN GENIUS

FOR almost five years now a great editorial staff and a contributing and consulting board of eminent scholars have labored to compile, edit, write and rewrite, and to illustrate this huge compendium of knowledge. The departments of our own and foreign governments, schools and colleges, museums and libraries, zoological and botanical gardens, observatories and research laboratories, industries and institutions of every kind—world-famous experts and specialists everywhere—all have contributed their efforts to erect this great monument to American genius—The New Funk & Wagnalls Encyclopedia.

While based on the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Encyclopedia, of which hundreds of thousands of copies are in American homes, only a small fraction of that older set could be salvaged for this new work. These volumes are new from cover to cover. They are completely reset in brand-new type, with thousands of wonderful new pictures, maps, and diagrams, hundreds of them in brilliant full color, with larger page size, larger volumes, and a luxurious new format.

NOTED AUTHORITIES IN EVERY FIELD

JUST read below a partial list of the consulting and contributing board who helped bring this great work into being. New critical authority, new sources of information were needed, and these men lent their help. Some of their names you will recognize, for they are famous even to the layman—Nobel Prize winners, famous scientists, educators, scholars, and research specialists. Look up the others in Who's Who, and at your nearest library. You will find they are all—all of them—noted authorities in fields as diverse as the atom bomb and 16th century painting, electronics and the Neanderthal man. No one could buy the services of these men. They genuinely gave of their skill and knowledge for YOU—to make of this work the most accurate, up-to-date, and authoritative possible.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA FOR EVERYONE

JUST imagine owning such an encyclopedia! Consider what it will mean to you and your family—a tremendous reference library, so huge as to dwarf description—and yet so clean and compact, so simply and skillfully written and arranged, that even a child can use it with profit. Whatever encyclopedia you own today, you owe it to yourself to see this one. We know of few encyclopedias in its class, at any price, and fewer still that will yield their facts so readily.

Get Volume I—which costs you only the ten-cent mailing charge—and try it out. For the busy worker in every professional field it will be a joy to use, so handy, accurately phrased, and concise. For teacher and scholar it can be of vital assistance on every likely topic, so comprehensive is its coverage of the fields of knowledge. For everyone else it can furnish evenings of fascinating and improving reading—try dipping into it and see how hard it is to lay down—and a ready reference for answering with authority every likely question.

Here is an encyclopedia not forbidding, not lifeless or inert, but alive, interesting, modern—intended to attract constant use. Read at the right how you get the first volume for only 10¢, and how you can have the rest of the volumes—if you want them—at a fraction of their real worth!
