A hayride and theater party are on the agenda for the members of the Tri Zeta Sub Deb Club.

Sub Debs Prefer Redecorating to Plain Housecleaning; Like to Cook

By JEAN MANEY

IN THE SPRING a teenager's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but mothers' thoughts turn to housecleaning. The boys are non-committal about the whole thing—they find that being a member of the baseball or track team helps them avoid housemaid's knees and dishpan hands.

Teen-age lassies aren't as fortunate. On spring afternoons and Saturday mornings they are usually trapped by determined mammas and end up with a mop in one hand and a dust cloth in the other.

Selecting drapes and carpets fascinates the sub debs, however, and if they can redecorate while they clean they're much happier.

Lucinda Robn, a junior at Shortridge High School, says that her mother hasn't started the annual project as yet.

"I'm afraid she's waiting for summer vacation so that I'll be free all day to help her. We're painting our house upstairs and outside now, so housecleaning is impossible. I don't mind housework, though, if I have time for other things, too. Baking chocolate cakes is my favorite form of helping at home, but I don't mind washing dishes or dusting, either," Lucinda states.

Running the vacuum sweeper is her pet peeve—she hates the noise. She reports that she likes to cook if the recipes aren't too involved. Lucinda is very interested in interior decorating and thinks that tuft-weave rugs are most attractive in modern homes. She's also a strong advocate for painted walls and prefers soft, muted pastel colors.

A member of the Student Board at Shortridge, Lucinda is secretary of the junior class and a feature writer for the "Echo." She belongs to the Sub Deb, ARROW and DAFFY Clubs. Lucinda hopes to study education at DePauw University and be a high school teacher. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Robn, 5335 Boulevard Place.

"WE JUST moved into a brand new house about two months ago, so I hope that we'll escape housecleaning this year," Maggie Bosiak says. She is a senior at Washington High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bosiak, 3536 W. 12th St.

The Bosiak family is decorating its home and Maggie and her two older sisters are up to their necks in discussions of rugs versus carpets, draperies and slipcovers. Maggie is an exponent of wall-to-wall carpeting and she also favors soft colors for walls. "The recreation room in the basement is taking up most of our time right now. We want to panel the walls and fix it up for table tennis and informal parties," Maggie says.

She votes dishes as her most hated chore and thinks that if you have to work at home ironing is fun.

Maggie is another beginning cook and reports that lemon pie is her specialty. She's a member of the Honor Society, the Spanish Club and the Booster Club at Washington and works on the art staff of the yearbook. Maggie is also in the cast of the senior play, "Spring Is Here," to be presented on May 20.

Interested in art and Spanish, Maggie plans to attend Indiana University. She wants to be a commercial artist or a high school teacher. She is a member of the PAT Sub Deb Club.

Dragon Club To Visit Lake

The week of July 24 is circled on the calendar for the members of the DRAGON Sub Deb Club. The girls are planning a week at Lake Shaver.

On Friday night the sub debs are planning an initiation for their pledges.
