Soft-Spoken Bandit Robs Doctor of $58

Two Others Slugged By Hitchhiking Hoodlums Here

An Indianapolis physician was held up by a "gentleman" hitchhiker and two business partners were slugged and robbed when they gave a pair of pedestrians a "lift" early today.

Dr. John W. Geller, 42, of 6130 Kingsley Dr., told police he saw a man thumbing a ride when he stopped at a signal light at 38th St. and Central Ave. and gave the man a lift.

He had driven two blocks when the well-dressed soft-spoken hitchhiker pulled a gun and took $58 from the doctor's billfold. He then forced Dr. Geller to drive to Westfield Boulevard and the Canal where he left the car and fled on foot.

Thrown From Car

Victims of the slugging-robbery were Paul A. Maxwell, 33, of 14 S. Butler Ave. and Frank Gardner, 1037 W. 34th St., business partners.

Mr. Maxwell came to the police station shortly after 11 a. m. to report he had been held up and slugged by two men who had thumbed a ride at Capitol Ave. near Indiana Ave.

Mr. Maxwell said he offered to drive the men to the vicinity of General Hospital, where they said they lived. Near that point one of the men slugged Mr. Maxwell, taking $55 and a ring and wrist watch.

They threw him from the car and drove away with Mr. Gardner, who had been asleep in the back seat.

Police found the car later, abandoned at 10th and Brook Sts. Mr. Gardner had been struck over the head and was unconscious with $27 missing.

Local Men Purchase Stanworth Tool Co.

The Stanworth Tool Manufacturing Co. at Lebanon has been purchased from Mrs. Elizabeth Stanworth by Fred G. Phillips and Walter Susemichel, both of Engineering Metal Products Corp., and J. Edward Marston, also of Indianapolis.

The Stanworth Co., manufactures a line of high speed cutting tools and has been operated by Mrs. Stanworth since the death of her husband two years ago.

The new owners said there are to be no changes in operating personnel.

Mother Held in Slaying Of Two Children

MADEIRA, Minn., May 3 (UP)—A mother who disappeared with her three children last week was charged with murdering two of them.

A murder warrant was served on Mrs. James Teigland, 33, after a coroner's jury found yesterday that the children died of monoxide poisoning in the family car.

Tangled Mass Of Steel That Was A Car Marks First Speedway Crash Of Year

The car . . . This tangled mass of steel, rubber and metal alloys is all that is left of a race car in which Byron Horne, 34, Scenery Hill, Pa., crashed against the southwest wall of Indianapolis Motor Speedway yesterday afternoon.

The victim . . . Byron Horne, driver of the speedster, was completing the drivers' tests required of all novices at the brick and asphalt oval when he lost control of his mount and crashed.

Probe 'Nepotism' In Railways Deal

school ticket counters which had a tendency to break up when used.

In testimony on dealings with the firm of Harry Reid Jr., Inc., Mr. Dale said that Railways revenues from car card advertising had multiplied many times under the present arrangement. The Harry Reid Jr. firm leases car card space from the utility and in turn sells it to advertising agencies.

Only $9000 in '41

In the last year before the younger Mr. Reid took over the advertising contract, the utility received only $9000 from car card advertising, Mr. Dale said. That was in 1941.

In 1948, he testified, Harry Reid Jr., Inc., produced $60,000 of car card revenue for the utility. He added that under a new advertising contract the utility was to receive 42.5 per cent of advertising gross receipts instead of only 40 per cent under the old contract.

Next Mr. Steckler sought to learn whether any attempt had been made by the company to cut its bond interest payments by refinancing, thus providing dividends to stockholders.

He indicated he would attempt to show that the stockholders also are the principal bond holders and that they would regard any refinancing as a disadvantage.

Mr. Steckler has pointed out that the 5 per cent interest on bonds is a guaranteed return whereas stock dividends would be subject to rate fluctuations and other controls imposed by the PSC.

Yesterday Mr. Steckler failed to make headway in the supply company dealings when Indianapolis Railways Treasurer Charles O. Pinkerton avoided detailed replies to questions. He told the councilor other witnesses could answer his questions about the connection of Harry Reid Jr. with the supply firm.

Pay No Rent

He did testify, in response to questions, that Transportation Service and Supply Corp. paid no rent directly to Railways for space occupied in the Traction Terminal building. He said the supply firm's rent was paid by Harry Reid Jr., Inc., which handles car card advertising under contract with the transit company.

Also in yesterday's cross-examination of the company treasurer, Mr. Steckler brought out salaries and expenses paid to ranking transit officials.

$30,000 a Year

Mr. Pinkerton testified the elder Reid receives $30,000 a year salary as president and received $7168.30 additional in expenses in 1948. He said Mr. Reid is furnished a car by Railways and that expense of operating the car was not included in the expense account item but is charged by the company to "operating expense."

James P. Tretton Sr., vice president and general manager of Indianapolis Railways, receives $15,000 a year salary and his expenses last year were $1181.90. Mr. Pinkerton testified. Executive Vice President W. Marshall Dale receives a salary of $12,000 a year and Mr. Pinkerton, himself, $8000, the treasurer said.

Fish More Hair From Creek But Find no Evidence of Body

Police Continue Dragging Stream After Anglers Report Snagging Grisly 'Catch'

More human hair was snagged on grappling hooks police used in dragging Fall Creek in the 3200 block today, but no body had so far been found in the stream.

Sgt. Ed Higgins, of Emergency Squad 5, dragging the creek, said he thought the hair might have been washed from some beauty shop in the neighborhood to the stream through one of the sewers which empty into the water in that area.

Lt. Fae Davis, chief of Homicide Division, said that the hair found by police would be tested in the laboratory to determine if it was similar to that found yesterday and if it all had come from the same person.

Continue Dragging

Police were ordered to continue dragging the creek, which they have been searching since early this morning. They have reported no difficulty in seeing the bottom of the stream, which has a gravel bed in that area.

The investigation was touched off last night when Mrs. Nina McDaniel, 22, of 2240 N. Dearborn St., snagged a lock of blond hair while fishing in Fall Creek with her husband, Robert McDaniel, 25, and William Buchanan, 1249 Roosevelt Ave., her brother-in-law.

The fishermen were about three blocks north of 30th St. on the east bank of the creek, near a dirt road. Four times they cast their line and pulled in hair identified in the police laboratory as human.

Its length, five to six inches long, led police to believe the hair came from the head of a woman.

Officers said the hair was similar to that of a woman reported missing from her N. Temple St. home about five weeks ago.

Institute to Discuss New Legislative Change

Recent legislative changes in corporation, partnership and divorce laws will be discussed at the Ninth District Legal Institute May 11 at Seymour under the auspices of the Indiana State Bar Association.

Roger D. Branigin of Lafayette will speak at a banquet in the evening. Thomas C. Bigley of Columbus is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Due to Set Hearing On Sutherland Motion

GREENCASTLE, May 3.—Special Judge Horace Hanna of Danville was scheduled to come to Greencastle today to set a date for hearing of a motion to quash a grand jury accusation against Sheriff John T. Sutherland of Putnam County.

The motion to quash, filed yesterday by the sheriff's attorneys, contends the grand jury's accusation does not include allegations which would be grounds for removal from office.

The grand jury accused Sheriff Sutherland of wilful misconduct in office by encouraging the placing of slot machines in certain clubs.

46 Now in Lineup For Spelling Bee

First Semi-Final Booked Tonight

By ART WRIGHT

The lineup of best spellers for the semi-finals of The Times Spelling Bee tonight has been increased to 46.

Latest to complete preliminary spellings was Warren Township. Winnie in the Warren Township round yesterday were Barbara Bryant, 13, and Betty Ellen Romans, 13, both of Warren Central Grade School.

They will be in the lineup when the first semi-final starts at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the World War Memorial Auditorium. Contestants are to report at 7 o'clock.

The contestants tonight will be two representatives from each of 16 districts in the city and two from each of seven townships in the Marion County school system.

Officials Selected

The pronouncer tonight will be Gaylord Allen, of Arsenal Technical High School. Judges will be Miss Susannah Miller, Miss Jean Wells and Miss Marysue Gray, also of Arsenal Technical High School.

The public will be invited free of charge to see the spellings this week.

Those surviving tonight's round will return to the World War Memorial tomorrow night for the second semi-final. The pronouncer tomorrow night will be Daniel Welch, of Shortridge High School. Judges will be Miss Ruth Louise Armstrong, Mrs. Virginia Graham and Miss Hazel Whittenand, also of Shortridge.

The finals to select the champion to represent this area in the National Spelling Bee in Washington late this month will be held Thursday night at the War Memorial.

Cancer Fund Drive Extended Until May 15

With $35,000 remaining to be raised to meet the $60,000 quota, the Marion County Cancer Society yesterday extended its campaign until May 15.

Paul Starrett, chairman of the fund-raising campaign, told workers at a luncheon in the Indianapolis Athletic Club:

"Actually, I am greatly encouraged by the report made here. With Easter falling late in the season, we have been slow in getting under way, but we now are in full swing and will meet our quota."

Finds Fossil Dog

BERKELEY, Cal. (UP)—A graduate student of psychology at the University of California reports finding a new species of "fossil dog" which died about 7 million years ago.

Youth Serving Assault Term to Get New Trial

James D. Hatcher, 18, of 1007 River Ave., now serving a two-to-21-year term at Indiana Reformatory on a charge of statutory rape, was granted a new trial today.

In Criminal Court 2, Judge Saul I. Rabb, in granting the motion for a new trial, said he considered in the youth's plea the complaint that "his constitutional rights had been violated" in that his attorney failed to secure a trial by jury.

Hatcher was convicted and sentenced Jan. 12 after he entered a plea of not guilty. Hatcher and another man were arrested on the complaint of a 13-year-old girl's parents who charged the men took her to an isolated spot near Beech Grove where the alleged criminal assault took place.

AIR TRANSPORT REPORT

The air transport system of the United States and Canada operated in 1948 over 86,000 route miles with 28 scheduled air lines connecting 1000 airport cities and 22,000 off-airports throughout the country, reports Railway Express.
