

World Report—

Reds Capture Key Rail Hub Into Shanghai

Fifth Columnists Help Invaders Take Over Hangchow

SHANGHAI, May 4 (UPI)—Communist troops have captured Hangchow and have launched a powerful drive up the railroad toward Shanghai's southwest defenses. Nationalist garrison headquarters admitted today.

Hangchow, seaport and rail hub guarding the back door to Shanghai, fell yesterday when an advance guard of 4000 Communist troops marched in and took over with the help of a local Communist fifth column.

At the same time the Communists threw 30,000 troops into a frontal assault on Kashih, last major Nationalist bastion on the rail line between Hangchow and Shanghai.

Great Britain

THE Labor government will permit its chief critic, Winston Churchill, to serve on the British delegation to the Council of Europe, it was disclosed in London today.

Labor leaders at first wanted to have an all-Labor delegation. But they backed down under Mr. Churchill's implicit threats to make a fuss if he were omitted.

Irish Protest

A 10-power foreign ministers conference met again today to complete details of the Council. It was expected to finish its work by tomorrow.

Meanwhile the Irish Anti-Participation Association protested vigorously against the action of Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride.

Mr. MacBride was among the delegates of the 10-nation Council of Europe, now meeting here, who were invited to a "sherry party" at the palace.

Greece

THE Communist-dominated "free Greece" movement pressed a new campaign today to make peace with the Greek government in Athens, according to Prague reports.

The new campaign was launched by Miltiades Porphyrogenes, minister of justice in the "free Greek" government who yesterday offered new peace terms for settling the civil war in Greece.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Belgium

SELF-EXILED King Leopold of Belgium indicated today he had no intention of abdicating the Belgian throne.

In a letter to his brother, Prince Regent Charles, Leopold said: "I am convinced that you share my views on the necessity to return to the constitutional norm."

The letter was designed to define his stand following recent talks in Bern, Switzerland, among Leopold, Charles, Premier Paul-Henri Spaak and Minister of Justice Henri Moreau De Melen.

Police Drag Wabash For Fisherman's Body

MARKLE, May 4—Police were dragging the Wabash River near here today, searching for the body of one of two men drowned when their fishing boat overturned last night.

The body of Weber Hyde, 65, R. R. 2, Muncie, was recovered shortly after the boat overturned, but the Huntington County sheriff, Huntington police and state police still were looking for the body of Mr. Hyde's son, Roy Hyde, 35.

May 24 Hearing Set On Sutherlin Motion

GREENCASTLE, May 4—Special Judge Horace Hanna of Danville has set May 24 at 1 p. m. for hearing of a motion to quash grand jury accusations against Sheriff John T. Sutherlin of Putnam County.

The jury accused the sheriff of wilful misconduct in office in connection with gambling operations in the county.

Auxiliary to Meet

Prospect Auxiliary, OES, will have its regular meeting at 2 p. m. Friday in the lodge hall, Prospect and State Sts. A rated dinner will be served at noon. Mrs. Maria Kokemiller will preside.

Progress Laundry

Tech Teachers Check Words in Times Contest

Judges in The Times' Spelling Bee semifinals last night check a word . . . they are (left to right), Mrs. Mary Sue Gray, Miss Jean Wells and Miss Susannah Milner, all instructors at Arsenal Technical High School.

Hoffman Urges Bolstering Europe

Only Way to Halt Red Drive, He Warns

(Continued from Page One)

in main to the force of an idea that is one of the few that can fundamentally alter the course of history. This, he said, is the Marshall Plan.

The mistake must not be made of viewing the Marshall Plan solely as a weapon in the so-called "cold war" with the Kremlin.

Asserting that every effort of the ECA to help Europe recover economically has been "beamed to the basic Marshall idea," he said that it was his considered opinion that "our way of life will be secure if Europe is strong and free in 1952. It will be in great jeopardy if the recovery program fails."

"I believe, furthermore, that if recovery is an accomplished fact in 1952, it is more than probable that the Kremlin will have depended on a policy of 'live and let live'; if the recovery program fails the Kremlin will make an all-out effort to communize western Europe."

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's Herbert Evatt, president of the United Nations General Assembly, offering to fly to Lake Success, N. Y., to arrange peace negotiations with the Athens government.

Mr. Porphyrogenes told newsmen he had sent a telegram to Australia's