

Sororities— Group Sends Local Child To Camp

Award Provides
2-Week Outing

The Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter, Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, is sending a child from the Crossroads Rehabilitation Center to camp this summer.

Mrs. O. J. Breidenbaugh, camp chairman, announces that the national organization of the sorority has awarded a camp scholarship to the local unit. The youngster from Crossroads will spend two weeks in camp and will also attend the Crossroads Day Camp.

The sorority provides tuition and clothing for the camper. Gamma Phi Beta maintains four summer camps for underprivileged children. More than 5000 girls spend their vacations at the camps.

Luncheon Set

A founders day luncheon is planned for the members of Alpha Omicron Alpha Sorority. The event will be at 1 p. m. Saturday in the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

Miss Edwina MacDougall of the Indiana State Nurses Association is to be the guest speaker. Each year the sorority awards a scholarship to a student in an accredited school of nursing.

There will be a musical program presented by Mrs. Russell E. Bielek and Mrs. Edna Long. Mrs. Caroline Senteny, grand president and organizer, and Mrs. Russell Furr, national president, will attend the luncheon.

Mrs. Mayer Is Chairman

Mrs. Alvin C. Mayer is general chairman, assisted by Mesdames Edgar Haught, C. E. Pluess, J. A. Wacker, Victor Eichburg, J. D. Reddington and J. R. Robertson.

The sorority has established a memorial fund at the Little Red Door this year. Members of the group are working as volunteers at the center.

Mrs. Walter R. Askren, 8. Michigan Road, will be hostess to the members of Alpha Upsilon Chapter, Delta Sigma Kappa Sorority, at 5 p. m. tomorrow. A movie, "Wings to Hawaii," will be shown.

For Women

Our Lovely Lady of Tomorrow

CATHERINE ANN (CATHY) MADDEN likes to splash in a swimming pool and be pushed around on her little tricycle. The 19-month-old platinum blond has "big" boy friends from the kindergarten crowd and is fascinated with sand box construction work. My Day— Teach Children to Swim Early; It Will Pay Big Dividends

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 1.—There was a fascinating picture in the papers recently of a little 1-year-old jumping off a 10-foot diving board, feet first, in Dallas, Tex. He has been leaping from a low board for three months.

It is interesting that a boy only 9-months-old could be trained by his father to jump as he does into the water. It certainly is a good idea, and I think we are proving it here in our local pool.

With the example of our older children and the supervision of an expert swimmer, very small boys and girls can lose their fear of the water and learn to keep themselves afloat. Before most of us realize it, they become really excellent swimmers.

There is no doubt that every mother is worried over the increase in the number of polio cases, and what concerns me is that there are certain areas of our country that seem more prone to have a very high percentage of polio every year. It is extraordinary that we cannot find out the reason why this disease appears more virulent in some places than in others.

One thing we do know, however, and I think it must allay some of our fears. More doctors are alert today to the signs that point to the possibility of a child's having polio. Therefore, they recognize it more quickly and probably our statistics are becoming more reliable every year.

I also think more is known about the way in which one can try to keep one's children in good condition, thereby lessening the chances of their falling prey to the polio bug.

I am so glad that the Yale de France received a gala welcome when she arrived in New York harbor. Having this slip back in commission will sympathize for the French a step accomplished in their recovery program.

Tonight a motion picture theater, which is opposite the Memorial Library here at Hyde Park and which will be run by a local group of theater people, is going to open for the first time. The evening is sponsored by the Hyde Park Lions Club and the proceeds are for the benefit of the Hyde Park Community Chest.

The couple will live at 708 S. Keystone Ave.

Black Chiffon Back

Sheer black rayon chiffons are back for summer daytime wear. Cut simply to emphasize the beauty of fabric, these dresses come tucked, shirred, polka dotted, printed and plain. Wear them over a black slip or, for variety, over a slip of pretty pastel, to give a glint of color shining through the dark chiffon.

Chorus Sings Verdi Works

Times Music Service

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Aug. 1.—For the second successive year the Indiana University Chorus will present Verdi's "Requiem" at Chicago's Grant Park Summer Series.

In addition to the Requiem, the IU chorus of 180 voices will also present Verdi's "Te Deum" at performances scheduled for 8 p. m. next Saturday and Sunday at Grant Park. Antal Dorati, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, will conduct the chorus in both performances.

The IU Chorus presentation of the "Requiem" at Grant Park last year was hailed by music critics as one of the outstanding performances on Chicago's summer schedule of outdoor musical entertainment.

Painters' 'Holiday' Transforms Camp Delight

Four Camp Fire Girls and Mayor Feeney watch one of the painters at work at Camp Delight.

SOME 50 PAINTERS spent a busman's holiday yesterday at Camp Delight.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the men, members of Painters' Union, AFL Local 47, donned their work clothes, got out their brushes and started on the 20 buildings of the Camp Fire Girls Camp, Camp Delight, which the Red Feather Agency has used for established camp since 1935, is located on 118th St. between State Roads 37 and 431.

Campers "oh'd" and "ah'd" at the transformation of the units as the white and grass green trim paint went on under the swabbing of the experts. It kept them running to see that all furniture was cleared from the lodge porch and that nothing was in the way of the painters' onslaught.

The paint was donated by 13 paint dealers in Indianapolis. Arrangements for the painters was made through John Lemon, president of the local, and William E. Julian, business representative of the local.

Mayor Feeney came out to try his prowess and Miss Irene C. Boughton, Camp Fire Girls council president, Paul Mazingo, camp chairman, and Frank Langsenkamp, a member of the camp committee, were on hand to lend moral support. The painters stopped only once. That was when the bell rang for dinner, which the girls served to them.

Like most housewives expecting the painters, campers had been busy getting ready for the big event all last week. Four cabins in the junior high unit were moved into a semi-circle facing White River and the five cabins in the younger unit were placed in a circular arrangement.

American Styles Finding Place In Many French Wardrobes

By PAUL GHALI

PARIS, Aug. 1.—In these hot summer days Paris' Place de L'Opera looks like a twin sister of Broadway or Fifth Ave., and St. Germain Des Pres, like Greenwich Village.

This is not entirely because of the influx of American tourists with papa and mama showing Paris to junior. It is due partly to the sudden popularity among the French of American styles. A sudden yen for light suits in linen or shantung has developed, and two-color coats are in increasing evidence among the young males about town.

The intellectual set in Montparnasse and St. Germain des Pres have gone all-out for Wild West shirts. Pink is the predominating color here, however. The fashion of wearing shirts over pants which Americans find convenient for golf or tennis has been adopted—but for street wear, even at night.

A few years back, the young French would be intellectual, wore his hair long on the neck and high off the forehead. This style was called the "zazou." The American crew-cut has replaced it. One old coachman who drives one of Paris' few remaining fiacres—the fare is three times as high as a taxi's—has dressed himself up as a Mexican cowboy to attract American tourists.

The "right" beach wear for men is tight pants coming just below the knee—inspired by Katherine. Dunham's Carib dancers. Men's swimming suits are cross-lined wool reminiscent of fishermen's nets. So much for masculine fashions.

American influence in women's clothes as seen in France today is responsible for shorter coats in tailored costumes, skirts with numerous pleats, wide comfort.

The American continent or of the Pacific islands is just the thing to wear in Paris this summer.

Gauguin, the greatest French painter of the last 50 years—who spent his last years in Tahiti, the French possession in the Pacific—is to some extent responsible for the vogue of bright colors and Pacific styles.

The latest creations of the top Paris couturiers have been greatly influenced by the bright-colored sarongs worn by Gauguin's Tahitian beauties.
