

Wife of Judge At Fair Killed

Among 3 Traffic Accident Victims

An Indiana University law student, the wife of a State Fair judge and a LaSalle resident were killed and two others were critically injured in three separate highway accidents last night.

The victims were:

Charles Wilbur Hay, 25, New Albany.

Mrs. Leona Tomson, 23, Wabash.

Donald E. McCoy, 25, LaSalle.

Mr. Hay was fatally injured when the car in which he was riding went out of control during an attempt to pass another vehicle on Ind. 62 four miles south of Charlestown in Clark County last midnight. He was thrown out and under the car as it rolled over.

Companion Hurt

A companion, Robert Henry, 25, of New Albany, was injured and was taken to the Clark County Hospital in Jeffersonville.

Mrs. Tomson was killed and her husband, Arthur, seriously injured in a head-on collision on Ind. 31 near Noblesville. They were driving to their home in Wabash from the Indiana State Fair, where he served as swine judge. The northbound car collided with one driven by Emmett R. Garner, 33, Indianapolis, who also was injured.

Mr. Garner was in Hamilton County Hospital, Noblesville, with a fractured knee and internal injuries. His condition was critical.

Mr. Tomson, removed to a Wabash hospital today, was suffering from a fractured hip, broken nose and severe shock.

Mr. McCoy died instantly from a broken neck when his motorcycle failed to make a curve and went out of control on Ind. 234, three miles west of Jamestown at 10:50 p.m.

A passenger on the cycle, Arnold Yeager, 33, also of LaSalle, was not injured.
