

Can Ramping Tribe Achieve a Miracle?

Only 1½ Out After Beating Colonels As Saints Skid; Hens Here Tonight

Jack Douglas and Johnny Barrett singled, sending Douglas to third. But Riddle disposed of Mel Hoderlein on a fly to Dom Dalesandro in center.

The Indians tied the score at 2-1 in the sixth. Ted Beard led off with a single and made it to third on Jack Cassini's single.

Beard scored as Nanny Fernandez forced Cassini at second. Fernandez stole second but Fleming and Dalesandro were unable to bring him in.

In the seventh, Jerry Seala opened the Tribe half by lining a single to right. He moved to second on a wild pitch and remained there until after two down. Then Lint lined a single to right center and Seala scored.

Beard's 16th Triple
Beard stepped up and belted a triple his 16th of the season, scoring Lint. The Indians added another run in the eighth on singles by Nanny Fernandez and Fleming and a scoring fly by Dalesandro.

The Indians won on nine hits. The Colonels collected seven, four of which were singles. Lint fanned four and walked two in his six innings on the mound. The Tribe lathered struck out two in the ninth, getting Barrett for the last out.

Tom Wright, Louisville's left fielder and leading hitter, was recalled by the parent Boston Red Sox yesterday and departed for the big show before last night's game.

The Indians now have won four in a row as they cling to a chance for the pennant. They were six games behind several days ago.

Last night's contest with Louisville was the 22nd and last clash between the traditional rivals this year. The Tribesmen won 14 out of the 22, nine here, five in Louisville.

Scherbarth Homers
In the top of the second, after one down, Bob Scherbarth, Louisville catcher, hit a home run over the left field wall. Riddle fanned Hector (Skinny) Brown, walked

'We're Two Games Closer to Where We Got To Go,' Asserts Homesman Yankee Pilot

By CARL LUNQUIST, United Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 10—After all of the smoke and commotion, it looked to most folks today as if the American League pennant race was right back where it was before the Yankees and Red Sox split two vital games—but it didn't look the same to Casey Stengel.

"Sure we win one and then they win one," said the homespun millionaire who pilots the Yankees. "But remember that we're two games closer to where we've got to go and they ain't any closer to catching us."

Which seemed logical at that. For the Yankees emerged from the big series with their game-and-a-half lead still intact and with only 23 more to play. And the Red Sox remained four games behind in the losing column with only 18 left in which to make them up, giving the Yankees a greater winning potential. Stengel stressed that winning potential.

"If We're Lucky"
"Yeah, if we're lucky, some day when they have an off day and we play we go two games up by winning and we have a chance to do even better than that."

However, a few things worried Stengel about yesterday's 7-to-1 defeat in which Ellis Kinder pitched four-hit ball and struck out eight in winning his 19th game.

Stengel also was concerned over three errors that showed in the score and a few more dropped balls on incomplete double plays—bobbles that didn't show up in the final official count of the game.

"Big One to Win"
The Red Sox, pounding Ed Lopat for homers by Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr and taking advantage of the miscues, had no difficulty at any time.

"It was a big one to win," said Manager Joe McCarthy. "We've been down pretty badly if we had lost it."

The Cards still lead the Dodgers by one game in the National League race. The situation remained the same after both dropped games yesterday.

The New York Giants, exploding for six runs in the seventh inning at the expense of Freacher Roe and Ralph Branca, whipped the Dodgers, 10 to 1.

Henry Thompson and Bobby Thomson homered for the Giants, while Roy Campanella homered for the Dodgers to deprive Lefty Daves Kosko of a shutout.

Reds Rout Cards
That gave the Cards a chance to gain, but they muffed it by losing to the Reds, 6 to 1, in a Cincinnati night game. Johnny Vander Meer allowed the Cards only five hits, beating them for the third time this year.

The Reds, who had lost to the Cards 11 straight times, rose up with three runs in the fourth and three in the fifth against Al Brazier and Ted Wilks.

Walt Dubiel pitched the Chicago Cubs to an 8 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, missing a shutout when Ralph Kiner rambled his 44th homer in the ninth inning. It was the 12th loss in 13 games for Pittsburgh. The Cubs scored seven runs in the

IU Must Reckon on Another Season of Football Famine

Coach Clyde Smith Hopes to Improve Record but Has Sights Fixed on 1950

By FRANCIS J. POWERS, Times Special Writer
BLOOMINGTON, Sept. 10—Indiana University must reckon on another season of football famine.

Coach Clyde Smith, naturally, hopes to improve on the two victories-seven defeats record of last season but his sights are firmly fixed on 1950 and thereafter.

The Hoosiers are predominantly a sophomore squad. At least 20 will make the traveling squad and five may start in the opening game, against Notre Dame, Sept. 24.

Those sophomores are a talented lot; need only experience in Big Ten warfare to be the base of future star teams.

Promising Backs
No conference squad has more promising sophomore backs. Two of them will start against the Irish, four others are slated for early action. On the line there are sophomores for all positions.

There's a blistering duel to be the starting left half between two negro boys, Milford Marshall and Bobby Robertson, who won national renown at a high school level in South Bend. Marshall is the faster; Robertson the better passer and kicker and maybe another George Taliferro in the making. Also in the running is Charles Fisher, good runner and passer, an all state from Evansville.

Sophomores are pushing Ernie Huggert, junior wingback, in to uncertain fashion. Stan Wilkins, another negro, is a trackman and unlike many sprinters is an elusive weaver in the open. George Byers, who teamed with Fisher at Evansville, is a swift runner and sturdy on defense.

Strong at Ends
A scholastic junior without varsity competition, Arnold Bowman is taking the fullback berth away from Milford Sellers.

Indiana will be strong on the flanks with three sophs collaborating with three juniors and a senior. Hugh Craton, who had a frosh term at Butler University, and Harry Talon are newcomers on the Hoosier scene, while Cliff Anderson is another scholastic junior with full competition remaining. Anderson has showed so well he may replace junior Sam Winston at left end against Notre Dame.

With Wilfred Raul, a senior and only seasoned right tackle, the six-five Don Luft shifted from end, is being groomed for considerable play. At left tackle it's a race between Steve Georgakis, a junior, who played only 83 minutes last season, and Andy Washington, a 6 foot 4 inch soph.

When Walt Bartkiewicz, a senior, was injured while riding a bucking motorcycle, Joe Balaban took over left guard and now the kid veteran, even "Slur" Witulski, one of the Big Ten's better guards, has competition from Don Soukup, who played every line position in high school. There's the same ruckus at center where tall, shifty Jack Dolan is pressing Bob Stebbins.

Broad Ripple Works It'll Fight for Title

31 To 0 Trimming of Howe Shows They're Ready to Defend Crown

By JIMMIE ANGELOPOULOS

Apparently Broad Ripple's defending city prep grid champions are going to be one team in these parts that'll play "interesting" football this year and still win a good percentage of its games.

The Rockets 31-to-0 trimming of Howe in the season's inaugural game for both teams at Ripple last night was a stinging affair for the Hornets.

For the Rockets' opposition-to-be, whose several coaches gave the city champions the once-over from the crowd of approximately 6000, the demonstration was convincing enough to warn others that it'll take at least four quarters to dislodge the city crown from Ripple this year.

The Rockets, who lost the late Coach Ed Diederich and a complete first-string line in last year's second semester, removed any doubts about the showing the North-Siders will be making under Coach Walter Jurkiewicz, a gent who was given much credit for molding last year's line that yielded only two touchdowns.

More rooming was the streamlining of the Rocket offensive and defensive system into units that contained some Detroit Lions elements, a touch of prewar cockeyed T-formation of Bo McMillin's Indians, teams, and the Notre Dame shift into a box.

But more enlightening to the Rockets was the fourth-quarter performance of a team that contained no seniors in the lineup.

Yet, statistically, the Rockets were not too impressive on the ground against the big but sluggish Howe line, gaining 137 yards while the Hornets picked up 106. Broad Ripple piled up 12 first-downs while Howe managed eight with the aerial first-downs standing at four to one.

Aerial deployment was the difference. The Rockets made 161 yards through the air, three of which ended in touchdowns. Ripple hit five for 10 and the Hornets only one of six, losing one on an interception.

Opening of Howe defenses aerially made the Hornets more vulnerable on the ground. Three of the TDs came through the air. One came on a fine 28-yard pass play from Jim Alltop to John Plun into the end zone in the first quarter.

Today's Schedule

Brownson at Speedway, 2 p. m.
second period with four minutes gone.

The other came in the third, a 10-yard play to Bill Jesse from Alltop, who lobbed it five yards.

With four minutes to go in the game, Jack Hanna flipped an 18-yarder to Jack Phillips on fourth down, but Hanna's place-kick was blocked by Dwyer.

The fleet-footed Jesse, who received a pulled leg muscle early in the game, racked up one of the TDs from the ground with a 14-yard jaunt around the left flank in the third period. Then in the fourth, Cliff Bush high-tailed it around right end for seven yards and a touchdown. Dickie Campbell made only one of four drop kicks.

Howe's ball toters, Leo Ahearn and Earl Lewis, looked promising and End Wilbur Zobbe stood out in defeat. The Hornets aerialists, however, hit their only pass for 33 yards, a completion to Zobbe in the second.

Howe lost all three fumbles and failed to make a serious penetration into Rocket territory, guarded well by the secondary and line-backers. Ripple was penalized 35 yards while Howe lost only five through an infraction.

Manual Wins, 26-0, in Dedication Game
Manual Redskins' inaugural dedication of night football lit up the South Siders' grid hopes for 1949 with a 26-to-0 triumph over a letterman-studded Beech Grove eleven at Delavan Smith Athletic Field, last night.

A near-capacity crowd of at least 5000 watched Manual romp to the one-sided triumph with little Frank Mascari off to a fast start. The pint-sized half-back tallied three of his team's touchdowns for 162 yards in the 22 yards gained rushing by the Red and White eleven. Beech Grove gained 66 yards.

Sixty-five yards, penalty set back the Redskins who made only six first downs to the Hornets' five, the Beech Grove team being penalized only 10 yards.

Mascari's first touchdown went for 70 yards following an interception of Ron Henson's pass but Jim Nyers failed to convert. Dick Hinkley scored on a 13-yard dash through the middle at the outset of the second quarter, capping a drive that began late in the first session. In the same period, Mascari went for a six-yard touchdown around right end, then scored a final TD in the fourth from the 13-yard line on a Statue of Liberty play involving Jim Nyers. Nyers kicked his second conversion.

Beech Grove saw little action in Manual territory with Ralph Cingo and Oran Spall looking a 42-yard dash around the right third. Don Korpeter, one of the Manual's top tuggers, failed to gain on two conversion plunges and Hall missed on the final one.

Walt Burran, the Warriors
