TRY IT THREAD PRETTY FEATHERS ON A STRING

Q-30 START A COLLECTION OF FEATHERS HERB. SWEET.

THREAD PRETTY FEATHERS ON A STRING—There are many ways that you can start a feather collection for they are found in many places in most homes. Mother often has an old hat or two, or a fan that is beyond using again which have feathers that are still good. Often little fluffy goose feathers poke their way out of the corners of pillows and will represent a special type of feather.

Dad often takes hunting trips in the fall and can obtain duck feathers, or a friend of his can save a few for you. If you know what kind of birds your feathers come from it would be interesting to tie little tags to them with any information you have about them. Many times on trips to the country a walk around the chicken yard will give you many different colors, shapes, and sizes of feathers.

Best of all, if you are fortunate enough to get to take walks in the woods, either alone or with your family, you may find feathers of wild birds. Stick a feather in your cap until you can thread it on a string.
