Culver Military Academy Opens Its Winter School

CLASSES ARE WELL under way for the cadet corps up at Culver Military Academy. Nine Indianapolis boys are in the winter school.

Among the first classmen is Lawrence J. Ittenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Ittenbach, 3310 N. Meridian St. Larry, who has been prepping four years at the military school, is playing guard on the varsity football team. His parents and his aunt, Mrs. Carl Ittenbach, went up for the first game of the season yesterday—Culver vs. Shattuck.

The Ittenbachs expect to take in most of the home games—Culver vs. St. Leo High School, Nov. 15; Culver vs. St. John's Military Academy, Oct. 29; Culver vs. Green Brier, Nov. 12, and Culver vs. Baylor School, Nov. 24.

Other first classmen at the school include Cadet Capt. Forest R. Guilmont, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Guilmont, 4312 Winthrop Ave., and Leroy O. Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, Marott Hotel.

Visit at Culver

Jack W. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Thompson, 4711 Graceland Ave., is another fourth classman. Going into his second year at the winter school is John E. Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Schmitz, 3627 Drexel Ave.

John is tackle on the second starting football team. The Schmitz with their daughter, Margo, 7, were at yesterday's game.

Edwin C. Robertson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray B. Robertson, 7605 E. Washington St., St. is a third classman. He has gone out for soccer and expects to go out for track in the spring.

Ed has spent five years in the summer camp and holds the junior medal in track.

George F. Hilgemeyer Jr. is the only second classman from Indianapolis. His mother is up at Maxinkuckee today visiting him. George, who "goes in for everything," holds his letter in golf. The Hilgemeyers live at 3650 Washington Blvd.

Fathers Meet

Starting out their careers in the winter school are John W. Clark and James C. Tappan. Both boys are veterans of the summer school. John has two seasons in Woodcraft and one in the Naval Academy. He played the trombone in the navy band and is now in the infantry band.

John's father, C. W. Clark, 5365 Washington Blvd., is vice president of the Father's Association at the school. The association's officers and the advisory committee met last week-end up at Culver. E. J. Seymour of Monroe, La., is president of the association.
