

Religious Training Wife Keeps Vigil After Policeman Is Wounded In W. 28th St. Battle

Budget Increased

Seek $71,000 for Week-Day Instruction

The Indianapolis Board of Week-Day Religious Education will canvass the Protestant churches and individual persons to raise a budget of $71,163 for the religious education of public school pupils.

Children attend the classes sponsored by the board and financed by churches while on release time from the public schools. All classes meet on church property and not in the public schools.

Indianapolis pastors will attend a luncheon meeting sponsored by Charles Lynn and the Week-Day Religious Education Board Friday noon in the Indianapolis Athletic Club. They will hear the budget outlined and discuss its details. Charles Boswell, chief probation officer of the Marion County Juvenile Court, will speak.

Mr. Boswell will indicate the relation of religion to juvenile delinquency, in his talk.

Dr. Florizel A. Pfeifer, director of the week-day classes in Marion County and the city, said the budget exceeds the one for last year by $5,800. Doyle Zaring, chairman of finance, will lead the budget discussion at the luncheon meeting.

Protestant churches of the city will mark Annual Week-Day Religious Education Sunday the coming Sunday. A four-page insert will be attached to the church bulletins giving information regarding the week-day program. Special speakers, sermons and other features will stress the religious instruction of public school pupils in the services Sunday.

In addition to the discussion of the budget, other plans for the week-day classes will be talked over in the meeting Friday. James A. Stuart, editor of the Indianapolis Star, will preside. Speakers will include the class instructors Mrs. Georgia Faden, Mrs. Dorothy Universaw and Mrs. Oberia Patton.

Patrolman Lester Warrenburg, seriously wounded in a gun battle, is examined by General Hospital Dr. W. Vernon Lee.

'49 Law Test Looms Over New Ditch Fund

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 13 — Approval of a $5,000 appropriation for the ditch repair fund by the Henry County Council may result in a court test of a 1949 state law.

The Council instructed Franklyn George, county attorney, to bring an action for a declaratory judgment testing the 1949 ditch law should the state tax board decline to approve the appropriation.

The state Attorney General has ruled that money for ditch repairs could not be appropriated from the general fund and would have to be raised by a separate tax levy.

FOR MOTHERS-TO-BE

PAGE BOY'S GLORIFIED SHIRTWAIST dress in rayon gabardine takes to a tea or town with equal aplomb. Tasteful accents . . . the mandarin tie, tiny self-covered buttons and pocket diversion. Green, black, brown or royal. Sizes 10-18. $17.95

16 W. MARKET ST. RI. 4162

DELIGHTS APPETITES

*Curried Sardines with Eggs and Rice

NEPTUNE SARDINES
SAVES DOLLARS

In Soy Bean Oil or Mustard Sauce. Regular 3 1/4 oz. can.

For main dishes that will please your family and reduce your food costs, get Neptune Sardines, top quality Maine Sardines. Extra flavorful, nutritious and useful because slightly larger, fuller fleshed. Money-saving because you don't have to pay for import duty. Get a dozen cans of Neptune Sardines today.

*FREE. For this and 57 other delicious and economical ways to serve sardines, send for free booklet. SEABOARD PACKING COMPANY, LUBEC, MAINE

EASY DOES IT WITH FLAKORN CORN MUFFIN MIX

Corn muffins made with Flakorn are always delicious and always easy to make. Ingredients of finest quality, precision-mixed for sure results. Try Flakorn.

Joseph Dodson sits in his cell after capture in the shooting in which he held off 14 squads of police last night.

Policeman, Wounded in Gun Battle Here, Fights for Life

(Continued From Page One) masks to enter the house and search for the gun which was found in a kitchen range drawer.

Patrolman Warrenburg, who joined the force in July last year, lives at 2031 Fernway St. The couple have three sons, Tommy, 7; Ronnie, 3, and Mike, 7 months.

The children were cared for by neighbors while Mrs. Warrenburg stood vigil in the emergency ward, praying her husband would not die and being comforted by his mother, Mrs. Mont

Foley.

Everything seemed quiet as we walked up," Patrolman Reynolds said. "There was a light in the front window and a man pulled back the shade to look at us. But he didn't answer our knock, so we tried another door."

James Biven admitted the officers to the living room and warned them he thought Dodson, who lives in the front room, had a gun.

"I pushed open the double door into his room. Lee was standing next to me. Then the shot was fired and he fell back into my arms crying, 'Oh my God. I've been shot,'" Patrolman Reynolds said.

Radios for Help

He assisted Mr. Warrenburg to the front yard as an accident prevention car arrived and radioed for help. Besides city police, which included Chief Rous and Inspector Ralph Bader, three state police cars and a deputy sheriff squad answered the summons.

As screaming sirens told of approaching aid, Patrolman Reynolds returned to the house and exchanged shots with Dodson after calling for him to drop his gun and come out. He also fired two shotgun blasts into the room but failed to hit the cornered man.

With the house surrounded, Mr. Biven asked police for safe exit for his wife and six children and the wife and baby of Dodson. While they climbed from a window, Dodson again opened fire on the police, shooting wildly and spasmodically.

At least 75 shots were aimed into the house besides tear gas shells and bombs by police. A call to headquarters brought machine guns to the scene but they went unused.

Shoot Out Street Lights

As the battle raged, police shot out street lights to lessen the chance of being clear targets. After the 20-minute siege Dodson yelled:

"Don't shoot. I'll come out."

He made his exit through the rear door where he was captured by Deputy Sheriff Robert Robbins.

Once outside, he tried to break loose and it took five men to subdue him. In his pockets were several cartridges for a 38-caliber revolver.

Chief Rous and Inspector Bader donned fire department gas

Archeologists Call Off Excavation for Winter

CODY, Wyo., Oct. 13 (UPI)—Excavation work which may uncover traces of a 12,000-year-old civilization was called off today for the winter.

Dr. Glenn Jepson of Princeton University, in charge of the project at nearby Sage Creek, said digging will be resumed next summer at the site where the Yuma Man is believed to have lived some 5,000 to 12,000 years ago.

The work is being carried on jointly by Princeton and the University of Wyoming.

Mrs. Warrenburg waited through the night at General Hospital. She is comforted by Patrolman Roy Troutman.

Services for William H. (Big Jack) Jackson, former publisher and political figure, will be at 11 p.m. tomorrow in the Bethel AME Church. He was 84.

Nicknamed for his six-foot, 200-pound stature, Mr. Jackson devoted much of his life to Republican politics. He lived seven years at 2450 Paris Ave., before he entered a nursing home two years ago, where he died Tuesday.

A native of Bottetot County, Va., Mr. Jackson settled in Indianapolis in 1881 after traveling with a vaudeville show. While publishing the Indianapolis Ledger, he used his vaudeville-developed voice for platform oratory. He closed the Ledger in 1924, after 20 years operation.

After serving as deputy Center Township assessor, he was employed by the Red Ball Transport, Richard A. Chavers, Howard Ostrom, A. N. Bobbitt, former U.S. Sen. Arthur R. Robinson.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs.

Cora Jackson, and two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Stevens of New York and Miss Ray Jackson of Los Angeles.

The Rev. David C. Venable will officiate at services. Active pall-bearers include Clarence Stewart, Henry A. Fleming, former Sen. Robert Lee Brokenburr, Fred N. Moore, Clarence Suggs and See

H. Ferguson.

Honorary pallbearers include:

Frank R. Beckwith, John C.

Bankett, Denver D. Ferguson,

Charles J. Brown Jr., R. B. Shelton, Richard A. Chavers, Howard

R. Hooper, W. S. Henry, Henry E.

Ostrom, A. N. Bobbitt, former

U.S. Sen. Arthur R. Robinson.

W. E. Jones, L. M. Sweeney,

John Browder, M. W. Beene,

George M. Robinson Jr., James T.

Tanner, George A. Henry, Judge

Walter Pritchard, Rufus C. Kuykendall, Carey B. Jacobs and Marcus C. Stewart.

DEDICATORY SACRIFICE

Twenty thousand human victims were slaughtered at the Az-

tecas as part of a religious festival

dedicating a great pyramid in

Tenochtitlan, according to the

Encyclopedia Britannica.

THURSDAY, OCT. 13, 1949
Indiana Elect Of

Max Mar-

Named
Max Mar-

serve as presi-

William Breed

His vice pres-diana Baptist

Mr. Markey,

and the Rev. B.

and the Rev. B.

is vice pres-

dent of the Calv-

Dr. J. M. Ho-

is executive sevention, report-of Indiana wards a nation-

of $6,175,000 f-

Demone

The conven-

of the com-

church and sta-

by the conven-

of a represent-

dent to the

denied. And t

creased effort

settling DP's in

the United Na-

closed civil rig

The tradition

of the com-

church and sta-

by the conven-

of a represent-

dent to the

denied. And t

creased effort

settling DP's in

the United Na-

closed civil rig

Twenty thousand human victims were slaughtered at the Az-

tecas as part of a religious festival

dedicating a great pyramid in

Tenochtitlan, according to the

Encyclopedia Britannica.

WE WA

PIANOS

STORE

WE WA

PIANOS

STORE