Club Hears Mr. Hinds

"Parent delinquency is the major contributing factor for the children who find themselves in serious trouble," Lawrence W. Hinds of the Marion County Juvenile Court said today.

Mr. Hinds discussed "Juvenile Problems" at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Rotary Club in the Hotel Washington.

"There is a lack of love, care and affection in homes. Too often there is no spiritual or moral training given to the children so they have something to go by," he declared.

Mrs. Lenora Bailey introduced the speaker and Miss Doris Holmes presided.

Canasta— Experts on Canasta Seek to Adopt Rules

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

OVER 20 years ago, when I first started to write about bridge, each community had its own variations on rules.

Soon the bridge players of the nation found it desirable to adopt standard rules, and now the experts on Canasta are working along the same lines.

The other day I met with John R. Crawford of Philadelphia, Pa., the outstanding Canasta player, whom I interview each week, and Oswald Jacoby, the recognized authority on the laws of Canasta.

We discussed some of the most controversial problems that have come up in the game, and I plan to give you their interpretation of the laws on these points in this and succeeding articles.

What to Do

Question: The other night we were playing two-handed Canasta (in which a player must have two canastas). My opponent had one canasta down on the table, also a number of melds. He had nine cards left in his hand, three kings, three queens and three jacks. He put them all down on the table and said, "I am out."

I saw that he had only one canasta. We did not know what to do.

Answer: There are no penalty cards in two-handed Canasta, for the reason that in showing your hand to your opponent, you do him no damage, but rather, you harm your own cause. Therefore, the player may pick up any or all of the nine cards he laid down on that particular play. He may meld practically as good as black treys to throw on top of the discard pile.

Extra Five Spots

This is not because of any rule, but because if you have melded a canasta of six or seven five-spots, let us say, and you have an extra five-spot in your hand, you may discard it with little fear that your opponent will be able to pick up the pack.

Mr. Jacoby and Mr. Crawford pointed out that if you could not take a discard that hits your canasta, it would reduce the excitement of the game and your opportunity to get a pack to which you are entitled.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Herbert Sweets Back From N. Y. Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Sweet of Noblesville have returned from a four-day conference on public relations sponsored by the American Camping Association. The conference was in Bear Mountain Park, N. Y.

They then visited the national offices of the Girl and Boy Scout organizations, New York. Mrs. Sweet will leave Thursday to attend the Industrial Recreation Conference in St. Louis. Industrial sponsorship of camps for the children of employees will be discussed.

Local Smith College Club To Convene

Public Relations
Director To Speak

The Smith College Club of Indianapolis will meet tomorrow in the home of Mrs. William A. Atkins, Golden Hill. Miss Frances Rich, director of public relations at the college, will speak at the afternoon session.

Miss Rich was a regimental commander of the WAVES during the war and later served as special assistant to Capt. Mildred McAfee Horton. She studied sculpture under Carl Milles and executed the Army-Navy Nurse monument in the Arlington National Cemetery and the bas-reliefs for the Union Building, Fairview University. Following the talk tea will be served. Mrs. Frank L. Truitt is in charge of the tea assisted by Mrs. Frederick C. Winkler Jr., Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. Carl S. Hulen and Miss Anna Spann.

Speaker Named

Mrs. C. H. Norris, Tucson, Ariz., will address the Story-a-Month Club at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Rauh Memorial Library. She will speak on "Voices of Writers in Tucson."

Mrs. Norris was formerly of Indianapolis and is a member of the club. She is the author of historical sketches and a play, "The Club House of the Styz." Her play will be presented next month on the stage and radio in Tucson by the A.A.U.W.

There will also be a contest for members and the reading of an agent's criticism. Miss Gretchen Leich, chairman, will preside.

Party Planned

The Fairwood Home Economics Club will meet at 8 p. m. next Monday in the home of Mrs. Leonard Krebs, 5827 S. Hardegan St.

It will be a "come as you are party." Mrs. B. L. Kauffman will assist the hostess. Mrs. John Hughes will speak on Christmas decorations.

The Warren Township Woman's Republican Club will meet at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday for luncheon in Buckley's Restaurant. Mrs. Julius Rockebeer will speak on Americanism. There will be a round table discussion.

Miss Wolfe Is Married

Wed to R. M. Epsteen
At North Webster

NORTH WEBSTER, Nov. 14.—Miss Dolores Marilyn Wolfe and Richard Marriott Epsteen were married at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the Methodist Church here.

The Rev. James Rhine officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe Sr., Larwill, and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Epsteen, 5240 Kenwood Ave., Indianapolis, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Tony Strombeck of this city was the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Bonnie Spry, Lowell, and Miss Barbara Epsteen, Indianapolis. They wore wine and gold velvet.

The white satin bridal gown had a beaded yoke, molded bodice and full skirt that fell into a long train. A seed pearl tiara held the imported illusion veil. The bride carried white flowers.

James D. Bartlett, Indianapolis, was the best man, and the ushers were Wendell V. Jordan and Richard Q. Hollings, both of Indianapolis.

After a reception in the Yellow Banks Hotel, the couple left on a trip to Texas. They will be at home in Champaign, Ill.

The bride attended Purdue University, and the bridegroom attended Purdue and Butler Universities.

News in Linen

Famous for casual separates, De De Johnson has now brought out a casual costume in linen. Finely tailored of pure Irish linen, the costume has a slim skirt with a Norfolk back semi-box jacket. It has man-tailored lapels and high slash pockets adapted from the jaunty pea-jacket. It is lined with tri-colored striped crepe (dyed to De De's order) which matches the long-sleeved De De Johnson shirt. It's an outfit wearable at home or resort, in town or country.

Teen Problems— Teener Gains by Family Dates

AJLA Officers Are Named

New York Woman
Is Administrator

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Lee L. Cornell of this city is the new administrator of the Association of Junior Leagues of America.

Miss Dorothy Rackemann, Boston, is the president of the association. Other officers are Mrs. Robert E. Harwell, Nashville, Tenn., vice president; Mrs. J. Archibald Hildson, Montreal, secretary, and Mrs. James N. Frazer, Atlanta, Ga.

Regional directors include Mrs. Robert J. Whipple, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. DeLeslie Allen, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. James M. Skinner Jr., Philadelphia; Mrs. James McEvoy Jr., Detroit; Mrs. Micoe F. Browne, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Robert I. Schwartz, Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Robert L. Foote, Chicago.

Mrs. Vernett Slater, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Joseph E. Gandy, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. J. Ramsay Harris, Denver; Mrs. Charles Runyon III, Washington, and Mrs. Lawrence Redden, Halifax, Nova Scotia, are also regional directors.

EVER HAVE dates with your family? It's a sure-fire way of winning friendship and influencing parents.

From the grown-up's standpoint it's good tactics. According to one another, limited dating makes teen-agers irritable. They're so restless.

"But," she adds, "one evening with us helps to tire them out."

For the teen-ager himself, movies or a sports event with the family can be a welcome addition to his social activities. Extra amusement—at no cost to you, fellow.

AND THE mutual benefits are obvious. Seeing a good picture or game makes folks forget the little pricks and irritations of daily life. They view each other as partners in pleasures—not as antagonists in the battle of the generations.

Maybe Sonny didn't realize what a knowledgeable fan Pop was. And Sister never appreciated Mom's interest in things outside the household.

Parents get a glimpse of their offsprings' manners in public, too. Actually, teen-age behavior is much, much better than poppa and momma feared.

Yes, appearing in public together draws a family closer. If you approach it in the right spirit, it can be fun, too. So get going, chum, and make a date with your parents.
