Five Lead in Bar Poll for Judiciary

The Indianapolis Bar Association announced today the names of five men receiving the largest number of votes in a poll among attorneys on candidates for Southern Indiana District Federal Court Judge.

Among the men listed as "eminently qualified for the post" which will be vacant after the retirement of Judge Robert C. Baltzell, was U. S. District Attorney B. Howard Caughran. Previously, Mr. Caughran was named the most desirable choice of lawyers for the Southern Indiana District in a straw vote conducted by The Times.

Twenty-nine lawyers received votes in the Bar Association poll. The five named as eminently qualified for the post in alphabetical order were: E. Howard Caughran, Willett H. Parr Jr., William E. Steckler, A. J. Stevenson and Joseph G. Wood. Number of votes received by each was not disclosed.

Herbert E. Wilson, president of the Indianapolis Bar Association, said he would forward to President Truman the names of the men and the exact number of votes each received.
